BUREAU CHIEF IS DISMISSED

Mayor Weaver Forces Resignation of Head of Highways Department.

ORDER IS ISSUED

POLICE FORCE INVESTIGATED

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Press Building.
PHILADELPHIA, PA., June 5.

Mayor Weaver took another organization scalp today. He directed the resignation or dismissal of William H. Brooks, chief of the bureau of highways. Director of Public Works Acker submitted the mayor's ultimatum and Brooks presented his resignation. The position paid $4,000 a year. It is said several if not all of the assistant highway commissioners will go next. They are paid $3,000 per annum.

Another development of interest was the mayor's order relative to political assessments and the relationship of city employes to political clubs. Directors Potter and Acker today sent to the various sub-heads of public safety and public works the following order:

Sir—The attention of this department has been called to the fact that there exist, in the several wards of this city, political clubs which employes of the city have been compelled to join. These clubs have, in many instances, levied and collected burdensome assessments, and have in some instances undertaken to secure positions in the city departments, exacting therefor large pecuniary considerations. In many of them liquor is sold and gambling carried on. I therefore direct that you inform all those under your supervision that membership in such clubs will not hereafter be considered as a cause for appointment, preferment or promotion; that the director of the department of public safety considers membership in such clubs as detrimental to the maintenance of proper discipline in his department, and as burdensome to its employes.

The Mayor's Instructions.

Mayor Weaver's instructions to the directors were in part as follows:

I wish you would promulgate an order immediately, so that every employe in the bureaus in your department can receive it, that there is no necessity for them becoming members of any club, and no necessity for them paying assessments or contributions of any kind or for any purpose; and to report to you immediately any effort by anyone to get them either to become members of clubs or contribute or pay anything under the threat of losing their position, so that we may take appropriate action in regard thereto.

This order not only means that city employes must cut loose from their ward clubs, but that they must not, under pain of dismissal, contribute to Republican campaign funds, general or local. Dozens of large clubs will feel the effect of this new move. Many of them are almost entirely supported by the dues and patronage of municipal employes.

Republican leaders say they do not think the administration's fight against clubs and assessments will injure the organization. They take the position that the elimination of the city employes from politics will prevent Mayor Weaver from building up a rival machine such as his backers desire him to create.

A Policeman's Record.

The dismissal from the force of Sub-Patrolman Edward Boyle today developed a surprising case of official negligence. While probing into the personnel of the police department, Director Potter came across a few events in Boyle's past career as a citizen that the director thought barred him from further posing as a preserver of the law. Boyle's record, according to data which Director Potter says he obtained, is as follows:

Arrested in 1892, charged with stealing lead pipe. Arrested in March, 1893, charged with highway robbery, and in April, one month later, charged with breach of the peace. Arrested three days later for making threats and again disturbing the peace. Arrested one week later charged again with breach of the peace. Arrested a week later and sent to the house of correction for a short term as an habitual drunkard. Sentenced to two years in the penitentiary a few days after being released from the house of correction, charged this time with assault and battery, with intent to kill. Arrested twice as an habitual drunkard and another time on a charge of assault and battery.

Without taking time to make a complete investigation of Boyle's exploits, Director Potter decided that he was warranted in dismissing him as "unfit to be on the police force."

Another piece of badly-tangled police work that has set Director Potter thinking occurred in the Fourth district Saturday, when, although the police were warned in advance that a robbery was to take place at Weaver & Sons' cigar factory, 155 North Fifth street, and two special policemen were detailed to look after the case, the factory was entered and 9,000 cigars were carted away.

These and several other minor occurrences have warned Director Potter that he is not presiding over a Sunday school in his capacity of director of public safety, and the order he sent out on entering the office against slackness in methods in the department has been emphasized. Director Potter says that he will have discipline and efficient service from the present police force, or he will soon have new men who will come up to the standard he has set.

The committee of nine held a meeting today and adopted a resolution to aid the mayor and the committee of 70 in their work of purging the city by contributing from the funds in its hands.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BU
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 5.

Boldly defining the limits of the rights of belligerents in neutral ports, President Roosevelt today directed that the three Russian cruisers under Rear Admiral Enquist, which have sought refuge in Manila bay, be denied permission to make repairs, but that they be given the alternative of leaving port within 24 hours or interning there until the end of the war. As the ships are totally unseaworthy, it is deemed certain Rear Admiral Enquist will decide, and probably be ordered by his government, to intern his ships.

In making this decision the president sought the advice of Secretary Taft and Secretary Morton. It establishes a precedent in the treatment of warships which seek refuge in neutral ports. Hitherto the international law has been that ships might enter a port and be given enough coal and supplies to reach their nearest home port, or enough repairs to make them seaworthy, or should be allowed to intern until the end of hostilities.

The president, upon the advice of Secretary Taft, has decided as a neutral government the United States has no right to allow the Russian ships shelter long enough for them to repair the damages sustained in battle. That would be making an American port a base of naval operations for Russia, which is totally at variance with the laws of neutrality. If the ships had limped into Manila under stress of weather and damages by storm it would be another thing. Repairs then might be permitted.

Rear Admiral Train will have charge of the arrangements for internment should that course be adopted by the Russian commander. Undoubtedly the Russian ships will be taken to Cavite, the officers and men will give their collective and individual parole to Rear Admiral Train and to Gov. Wright. Their wounded will be cared for in the American naval hospital.

Once interned, the ships will be allowed to make what repairs are necessary for them to be habitable. But under no circumstances short of an understanding with Japan will they be allowed to depart from Manila or the officers or men to leave the limits of the parole district without special permission from Rear Admiral Train.

BIG STEAMER AGROUND ON LONG ISLAND SHORE

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, June 5.—What is believed to be a big passenger steamship is ashore off Jones' inlet, not far from Freeport, L. I. A high sea is running and the ship is thought to be in a perilous position.

Since 9 o'clock last night whistle blasts have been heard, and from the deck of the ship red lights have been burning. Attempts to enter into communication have failed.

Attempts were made to reach the distressed ship by means of wireless telegraph, but there were no results.

Reports from Freeport at 2 o'clock this (Tuesday) morning show the sea to be increasing in violence, and the belief is expressed that the ship is hard and fast aground and pounding on the sandbar which parallels the shore.

RETIRING DIRECTORS.

T. JEFFERSON COOLIDGE.
MELVILLE E. INGALLS.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, June 5.—Plans to establish harmony in the affairs of the Equitable Life Assurance Society were further complicated today by the resignation of three more directors, making six in all who have recently retired from the board. A dispatch from Boston announced that T. Jefferson Coolidge had tendered his resignation, to take effect immediately, and that was followed by the resignation of Jacob H. Schiff, head of the banking house of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., who has been a member of the board of directors for 12 years. In addition, announcement came from Cincinnati that Melville E. Ingalls had forwarded his resignation.

Mr. Schiff's resignation was conveyed in the following letter to President Alexander:

Many Malicious Statements.

In view of the proceedings at the meeting of the board of directors of the Equitable Life Assurance society, held last Friday, I feel constrained, after mature reflection, to tender my resignation as a director of the society, to take effect at once.

Throughout the recent controversy I have studiously refrained from any action which might add to the complications with which the society has been struggling; I have even remained silent in the face of many malicious and baseless statements regarding the business transactions between my firm and the society, which have been dominated through your agents; notwithstanding your failure to publicly disavow and deny these statements (instead of sending me (as you have recently done) private messages expressive of regret for the indiscreet and overzealous actions of your friends).

The meeting of the directors last Friday offered it seemed to me, a supreme opportunity for rescuing the society from the evil situation into which it had been cast, by factional disputes and by the conduct of its officers. If you and Mr. Hyde had been able at the critical moment to rise to the occasion, and had supported my motion for the appointment of a committee of directors consisting of men of national reputation for high character and independent judgment, with authority to select a chairman of the board with plenary powers, a just and effective reorganization of the management of the society and the restoration of public confidence might have been possible, but you and Mr. Hyde permitted the psychological moment to slip by, and recognized the mistake only after the disintegration of the board of directors had begun and it was too late to repair the damage which had been done.

Independent Action Unlikely.

In view of the present situation it does not seem likely that there will be an opportunity for independent action in the board, and I have reluctantly come to the conclusion that I can no longer be of service to the society by remaining on its board of directors, of which I have been a member for 12 years.

James A. Stewart, one of the committee of seven appointed by the directors at their last meeting to nominate a chairman of the board, said today that he would not decide on what course he would adopt until the special meeting of the directors called for Wednesday. D. O. Mills, another member of the committee, said that in all probability he would resign, but would not decide positively until the board meeting.

It is understood that August Belmont has decided to serve on the nominating committee, regarding this as his duty to

LIBEL CASES ARE UP

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM WALTER A. CHRISTY, Staff Correspondent.

BUTLER, PA., June 5.—Judge James M. Galbreath will tomorrow morning decide whether or not the informations made for criminal libel against Pittsburgh editors by "Hay Philips" or "Philips" will be stricken from the record. A petition praying for this action was presented by counsel for the defense based on the ground that there is not a legal prosecutor in the case. So far there has been nothing to show that the man who swears to the sixteen informations exists.

The June terms of court opened here today. Before the grand jury was sworn Former Judge John M. Greer and James N. Moore, counsel for William R. Scott, Henry J. Ford and William S. Scott, editors of The Pittsburgh Gazette, who are charged with criminal libel by the man who signs himself as "Philips" or "Phillip," presented a petition to Judge Galbreath praying for the quashing of the commitment and the discharge of the defendants. Lev. McQuistion, counsel for Theodore and Joseph Nevin, editors of the Pittsburgh Leader, joined in the proceeding in behalf of his clients. Judge Galbreath announced that he would withhold the informations from the grand jury until after he had gone into a hearing on the petition. He fixed tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock for the hearing.

"Philips" Still Missing.

The aliased libel suits are based on articles printed in connection with the trials of Allegheny officials on criminal charges in the Allegheny county courts. "Philips" made the information on information received. He is unknown to the publishers of the papers, and there is nothing in the publication complaining of which affects him in any way. The Gazette has made great effort to find the prosecutor, even offering a reward for information which would aid in the service of a subpoena on him. No trace of the man could be gotten. District Attorney Walker says he has never seen Philips, and private attorneys for the prosecution refuse to reveal the whereabouts of the man who is seeking to place thousands of dollars in costs on the taxpayers of Butler county.

The petition presented to the court this morning is signed by W. S. Scott, and the ground covered in it is applicable to all of the other cases. The petition follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania vs. William S. Scott. In the court of quarter session of the peace in and for Butler county, Pennsylvania, No. —, June session, 1905.

Libel. Petition of William S. Scott, defendant, for an order of court directing that the indictment be withheld from the grand jury.

To the Honorable James M. Galbreath, Presiding Judge:

The petition of William S. Scott, the defendant in the above-stated case, respectfully represents that he was arrested and held under bail in one thousand dollars to appear and answer the charge of criminal libel, and he is informed that the justice of the peace issuing the warrant has returned the proceedings to the clerk of the quarter sessions court of Butler county, and that the district attorney has prepared a bill of indictment thereon and intends presenting the same to the grand jury in session this week.

Prosecutor Cannot Be Found.

Your petitioner further represents that the alleged information which "sets the machinery of law in motion" is signed "Hay Philip," a man or person with whom the defendant is not acquainted and of whom he never heard until another information of alleged information had been made against him prior to this one; that he has no knowledge of such a person nor information as to his residence or whereabouts; that no such person appeared at the hearing before the justice of the peace on May 8, 1905, neither did any person appear as prosecutor or complainant; that, at the hearing aforesaid, the justice was asked for a subpoena for "Hay Philip" to appear at a subsequent hearing before the justice at Butler, Pa., on May 15, 1905, which subpoena was issued and placed in the hands of an officer directed to make service of the same upon him, and a true copy of the same was published on May 10, 1905, in The Pittsburgh Gazette, a daily newspaper, published in the city of Pittsburgh, with a large circulation in Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio; in addition to this a reward of fifty dollars for information which would enable the service of said subpoena, yet the officer has not been able to find such person or serve the subpoena upon him. At the second hearing on May 15, 1905, the said "Hay Philip" failed to appear and no information was given by private counsel for the commonwealth as to his whereabouts.

Your petitioner believes that there is no person whose name is "Hay Philip;" that the same is assumed, fictitious and counterfeited by some person unwilling or afraid to appear and sign his own name as prosecutor, but, with a malicious and designing intent, has used the false name "Hay Philip." The Pittsburgh Gazette, in which the alleged libelous matter appeared, is published and circulated in Pittsburgh, Allegheny county, Pennsylvania, where an information might have been made by a person not an imposter, for the information and 15 others, charging the same offense, were made in Butler county before a justice of the peace by a man, a perfect stranger, whom the justice of the peace showed at the hearing he did not know except from the representations of the informant that he was "Hay Philip," the person signing the information.

Information Not Legal.

Your petitioner believing that there is no legal information made against him, and that he, under the law, is not required to answer any indictment for any offense whatsoever unless the prosecutor's name is indorsed thereon. That he believes the name "Hay Philip" is not the true name of any person, or a false, fictitious and assumed one, and made maliciously and fraudulently by an imposter in the interest of or at the instigation of malicious and malevolent persons who have [illegible]

SUBMARINES TO DEFEND UNITED STATES COAST

General Staff of Army Will Recommend to Next Congress the Creation of a New Corps. Estimated Cost Is $4,000,000.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The general staff of the army has recommended the creation of a new corps to establish a system of submarine defenses for the coast. The plan has been approved by Lieut.-Gen. Chaffee and by him will be submitted to the next congress. This is one of the definite results of the war in the far east, where torpedoes and submarine mines played such an important part.

The army has had this matter under consideration for a long time, but it was not until news was received from Port Arthur and the straits of Korea that it was determined to ask congress to provide this new arrangement in the military establishment.

The fact that the Japanese government, after the battle in the straits of Korea, admitted that nearly all of its naval losses before Port Arthur were the result of exploding mines, convinced the strategists of the war department that it is highly important that attention be paid to this feature of modern warfare.

The new corps will embrace 5,000 officers and men, who will be trained in the specialized work of submarine defense. It is proposed that the members of this corps shall not only have charge of the torpedo outfits and the shore batteries that will protect the mine fields, but that they shall be charged with the care and operation of power plants, searchlights and other accessories.

The estimated cost of equipping the proposed submarine defense is $4,000,000. This will provide for a fleet of submarine torpedo boats for all the principal harbors, searchlight equipment, wireless telegraph outfits and fixed and floating mines. It is expected the navy will offer objection to the plan that a fleet of submarines be constructed for operation by the army.

BUREAU CHIEF IS DISMISSED

ORDER IS ISSUED

POLICE FORCE INVESTIGATED

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Press Building,
PHILADELPHIA, PA., June 5.

Mayor Weaver took another organization scalp today. He directed the resignation or dismissal of William H. Brooks, chief of the bureau of highways. Director of Public Works Acker submitted the mayor's ultimatum and Brooks presented his resignation. The position paid $4,000 a year. It is said several if not all of the assistant highway commissioners will go next. They are paid $3,000 per annum.

Another development of interest was the mayor's order relative to political assessments and the relationship of city employes to political clubs. Directors Potter and Acker today sent to the various sub-heads of public safety and public works the following order:

Sir—The attention of this department has been called to the fact that there exist, in the several wards of this city, political clubs which employes of the city have been compelled to join. These clubs have, in many instances, levied and collected burdensome assessments, and have in some instances undertaken to secure positions in the city departments, exacting therefor large pecuniary considerations. In many of them liquor is sold and gambling carried on. I therefore direct that you inform all those under your supervision that membership in such clubs will not hereafter be considered as a cause for appointment, preferment or promotion; that the director of the department of public safety considers membership in such clubs as detrimental to the maintenance of proper discipline in his department, and as burdensome to its employes.

The Mayor's Instructions.

Mayor Weaver's instructions to the directors were in part as follows:

I wish you would promulgate an order immediately, so that every employe in the bureaus in your department can receive it, that there is no necessity for them becoming members of any club, and no necessity for them paying assessments or contributions of any kind or for any purpose; and to report to you immediately any effort by anyone to get them either to become members of clubs or contribute or pay anything under the threat of losing their position, so that we may take appropriate action in regard thereto.

This order not only means that city employes must cut loose from their ward clubs, but that they must not, under pain of dismissal, contribute to Republican campaign funds, general or local. Dozens of large clubs will feel the effect of this new move. Many of them are almost entirely supported by the dues and patronage of municipal employes.

Republican leaders say they do not think the administration's fight against clubs and assessments will injure the organization. They take the position that the elimination of the city employes from politics will prevent Mayor Weaver from building up a rival machine such as his backers desire him to create.

A Policeman's Record.

The dismissal from the force of Sub-Patrolman Edward Boyle today developed a surprising case of official negligence. While probing into the personnel of the police department, Director Potter came across a few events in Boyle's past career as a citizen that the director thought barred him from further posing as a preserver of the law. Boyle's record, according to data which Director Potter says he obtained, is as follows:

Arrested in 1892, charged with stealing lead pipe. Arrested in March, 1893, charged with highway robbery, and in April, one month later, charged with breach of the peace. Arrested three days later for making threats and again disturbing the peace. Arrested one week later charged again with breach of the peace. Arrested a week later and sent to the house of correction for a short term as an habitual drunkard. Sentenced to two years in the penitentiary a few days after being released from the house of correction, charged this time with assault and battery, with intent to kill. Arrested twice as an habitual drunkard and another time on a charge of assault and battery.

Without taking time to make a complete investigation of Boyle's exploits, Director Potter decided that he was warranted in dismissing him as "unfit to be on the police force."

Another piece of badly-tangled police work that has set Director Potter thinking occurred in the Fourth district Saturday, when, although the police were warned in advance that a robbery was to take place at Weaver & Sons' cigar factory, 155 North Fifth street, and two special policemen were detailed to look after the case, the factory was entered and 9,000 cigars were carted away.

These and several other minor occurrences have warned Director Potter that he is not presiding over a Sunday school in his capacity of director of public safety, and the order he sent out on entering the office against slackness in methods in the department has been emphasized. Director Potter says that he will have discipline and efficient service from the present police force, or he will soon have new men who will come up to the standard he has set.

The committee of nine held a meeting today and adopted a resolution to aid the mayor and the committee of 70 in their work of purging the city by contributing from the funds in its hands.

MUST INTERN HIS DAMAGED SHIPS

NO REPAIRS ARE PERMITTED

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 5.

Boldly defining the limits of the rights of belligerents in neutral ports, President Roosevelt today directed that the three Russian cruisers under Rear Admiral Enquist, which have sought refuge in Manila bay, be denied permission to make repairs, but that they be given the alternative of leaving port within 24 hours or interning there until the end of the war. As the ships are totally unseaworthy, it is deemed certain Rear Admiral Enquist will decide, and probably be ordered by his government, to intern his ships.

In making this decision the president sought the advice of Secretary Taft and Secretary Morton. It establishes a precedent in the treatment of warships which seek refuge in neutral ports. Hitherto the international law has been that ships might enter a port and be given enough coal and supplies to reach their nearest home port, or enough repairs to make them seaworthy, or should be allowed to intern until the end of hostilities.

The president, upon the advice of Secretary Taft, has decided as a neutral government the United States has no right to allow the Russian ships shelter long enough for them to repair the damages sustained in battle. That would be making an American port a base of naval operations for Russia, which is totally at variance with the laws of neutrality. If the ships had limped into Manila under stress of weather and damages by storm it would be another thing. Repairs then might be permitted.

Rear Admiral Train will have charge of the arrangements for internment should that course be adopted by the Russian commander. Undoubtedly the Russian ships will be taken to Cavite, the officers and men will give their collective and individual parole to Rear Admiral Train and to Gov. Wright. Their wounded will be cared for in the American naval hospital.

Once interned, the ships will be allowed to make what repairs are necessary for them to be habitable. But under no circumstances short of an understanding with Japan will they be allowed to depart from Manila or the officers or men to leave the limits of the parole district without special permission from Rear Admiral Train.

BIG STEAMER AGROUND ON LONG ISLAND SHORE

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, June 5.—What is believed to be a big passenger steamship is ashore off Jones' inlet, not far from Freeport, L. I. A high sea is running and the ship is thought to be in a perilous position.

Since 9 o'clock last night whistle blasts have been heard, and from the deck of the ship red lights have been burning. Attempts to enter into communication have failed.

Attempts were made to reach the distressed ship by means of wireless telegraph, but there were no results.

Reports from Freeport at 2 o'clock this (Tuesday) morning show the sea to be increasing in violence, and the belief is expressed that the ship is hard and fast aground and pounding on the sandbar which parallels the shore.

PRINCE AND DUCHESS GUESTS AT THE OPERA

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

BERLIN, June 5.—The crown prince and the Duchess Cecilia, who are to be married tomorrow, attended the performance at the Royal Opera house tonight. The emperor and empress were present and 70 princes and princesses sat at either side of the imperial family. The display of jewels was an extraordinary one. The royal party during a half-hour interval between the playing of the wedding march from "Lohengrin" and the third act of "Die Meistersinger" took supper in the rooms adjoining the imperial box.

The crown prince and the duchess today received deputations which have come to Berlin from the Prussian provinces and cities to congratulate them on their marriage. The designs of the silver service to be given to the bride and groom by 100 cities were presented. The service itself, consisting of more than 1,000 pieces, will not be ready for two or three years. Prince and Princess Arisugawa, representing the emperor and empress of Japan, personally presented the gift of Japan today. It consisted of two silver flower bowls of antique and artistic workmanship.

The king of Saxony has given four Meissner vases, the French government two Sevres vases and some Beauvais tapestry, the sultan of Turkey rare rugs and porcelains, the Austrian emperor a carriage and two horses, and the province of Posen a state carriage. Beyond these the presents have not been announced.

JOHNSTOWN, June 5.—(Special.)—Early in the spring of 1906 the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will pierce the hills south of Conemaugh with a five-track tunnel. The road between Conemaugh and South Fork will be made almost a bee line, it is stated, and a mile or two will be cut from the distance.

FROM NEW YORK TO CHICAGO IN 17 HOURS

CHICAGO, June 5.—A Pennsylvania railroad train broke all records for fast traveling between New York and Chicago by making the run in 17 hours flat. The feat was accomplished by two special trains, one running from New York to Pittsburgh in 8 hours and 30 minutes, and the other making the run from Pittsburgh to Chicago in 8 hours and 10 minutes. The runs were to demonstrate the ability of the road to give an 18-hour service.

HYDE RESIGNS FROM PITTSBURGH BANKS

Vice-President of Equitable Leaves Mellon National and Union Trust Boards.

James Hazen Hyde is no longer a director of the Frick banks of this city. His resignation was received yesterday and was accepted by the boards.

The resignations came alike to the Mellon National bank and the Union Trust Company, the great Frick-Mellon banking institutions, on whose boards he had served for some time past. The boards at their meetings yesterday, acted upon the resignation in each case, and it was accepted very promptly.

This action follows up the declaration by H. C. Frick that he would not again sit on a board of which Mr. Hyde is a member. As the Frick interests overwhelmingly control both the national bank and the trust company, the finish of Mr. Hyde as a director of these two institutions was at once in sight, and was forecasted in The Gazette.

It was stated last evening that no one had been chosen to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Hyde's resignation. It is expected that these will be filled in the near future.

THREE DESERT THE EQUITABLE

GIVE PARTING SHOTS

Alexander and Hyde Fail to Rise to the Occasion at Critical Moment.

D. O. MILLS MAY ALSO QUIT

RETIRING DIRECTORS.
JOSEPH H. SCHIFF.
T. JEFFERSON COOLIDGE.
MELVILLE E. INGALLS.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, June 5.—Plans to establish harmony in the affairs of the Equitable Life Assurance Society were further complicated today by the resignation of three more directors, making six in all who have recently retired from the board. A dispatch from Boston announced that T. Jefferson Coolidge had tendered his resignation, to take effect immediately, and that was followed by the resignation of Jacob H. Schiff, head of the banking house of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., who has been a member of the board of directors for 12 years. In addition, announcement came from Cincinnati that Melville E. Ingalls had forwarded his resignation.

Mr. Schiff's resignation was conveyed in the following letter to President Alexander:

Many Malicious Statements.

In view of the proceedings at the meeting of the board of directors of the Equitable Life Assurance society, held last Friday, I feel constrained, after mature reflection, to tender my resignation as a director of the society, to take effect at once.

Throughout the recent controversy I have studiously refrained from any action which might add to the complications with which the society has been struggling. I have even remained silent in the face of many malicious and baseless statements regarding the business transactions between my firm and the society, which have been disseminated through your agents, notwithstanding your failure to publicly disavow and deny these statements instead of sending me (as you have recently done) private messages expressive of regret for the indiscreet and overzealous actions of your friends.

The meeting of the directors last Friday offered, it seemed to me, a supreme opportunity for rescuing the society from the evil situation into which it had been cast by factional disputes and by the conduct of its officers. If you and Mr. Hyde had been willing at the critical moment to rise to the occasion, and had supported my motion for the appointment of a committee of directors consisting of men of national reputation for high character and independent judgment, with authority to select a chairman of the board with plenary powers, a just and effective reorganization of the management of the society and the restoration of public confidence might have been possible, but you and Mr. Hyde permitted the psychological moment to slip by, and recognized the mistake only after the disintegration of the board of directors had begun and it was too late to repair the damage which had been done.

Independent Action Unlikely.

In view of the present situation it does not seem likely that there will be an opportunity for independent action in the board, and I have reluctantly come to the conclusion that I can no longer be of service to the society by remaining on its board of directors, of which I have been a member for 12 years.

James A. Stewart, one of the committee of seven appointed by the directors at their last meeting to nominate a chairman of the board, said today that he would not decide on what course he would adopt until the special meeting of the directors called for Wednesday. D. O. Mills, another member of the committee, said that in all probability he would resign, but would not decide positively until the board meeting.

It is understood that August Belmont has decided to serve on the nominating committee, regarding this as his duty to

BELIEVE NAME IS FICTITIOUS

LIBEL CASES ARE UP

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM
WALTER J. CHRISTY, Staff Correspondent.

BUTLER, PA., June 5.—Judge James M. Galbreath will tomorrow morning decide whether or not the informations made for criminal libel against Pittsburgh editors by "Hay Philips" or "Phillips" will be stricken from the record. A petition praying for this action was presented by counsel for the defense based on the ground that there is not a bona fide prosecutor in the case. So far there has been nothing to show that the man who swears to the sixteen informations exists.

The June term of court opened here today. Before the grand jury was sworn Former Judge John M. Greer and Judge N. Moore, counsel for William R. Howe, Henry J. Ford and William H. Scott, editors of The Pittsburgh Gazette, who are charged with criminal libel by the man who signs himself as "Phillips" or "Phillip," presented a petition to Judge Galbreath praying for the quashing of the commitment and the discharge of the defendants. Lew. McQuistion, counsel for Theodore and Joseph Nevin, editors of the Pittsburgh Leader, joined in the proceeding in behalf of his clients. Judge Galbreath announced that he would withhold the informations from the grand jury until after he had gone into a hearing on the petition. He fixed tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock for the hearing.

"Phillips" Still Missing.

The all-out libel suits are based on articles printed in connection with the trials of Allegheny officials on criminal charges in the Allegheny county courts. "Phillips" made the informations on information received. He is unknown to the publishers of the papers, and there is nothing in the publication complained of which affects him in any way. The Gazette has made great effort to find the prosecutor, even offering a reward for information which would aid in the service of a subpoena on him. No trace of the man could be gotten. District Attorney Walker says he has never seen Phillips, and private attorneys for the prosecution refuse to reveal the whereabouts of the man who is seeking to place thousands of dollars in costs on the taxpayers of Butler county.

The petition presented to the court this morning is signed by W. S. Scott, and the ground covered in it is applicable to all of the other cases. The petition follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, vs. William S. Scott. In the court of quarter session of the peace in and for Butler county, Pennsylvania, No. —, June session, 1905.

Libel. Petition of William S. Scott, defendant, for an order of court directing that the indictment be withheld from the grand jury.

To the Honorable James M. Galbreath, President Judge:

The petition of William S. Scott, the defendant in the above stated case, respectfully represents that he was arrested and held under bail in the thousand dollars to appear and answer the charge of criminal libel, and he is informed that the justice of the peace issuing the warrant has returned the proceedings to the clerk of the quarter sessions court of Butler county, and that the district attorney has prepared a bill of indictment thereon and intends presenting the same to the grand jury in session this week.

Prosecutor Cannot Be Found.

Your petitioner further represents that the aliased information which "puts the machinery of law in motion" is signed "Hay Phillip," a man or person with whom the defendant is not acquainted and of whom he never heard until another information or alleged information had been made against him prior to this one; that he has no knowledge of such a person nor information as to his residence or whereabouts, that no such person appeared at the hearing before the justice of the peace on May 8, 1905, neither did any person appear as prosecutor or complainant; that, at the hearing aforesaid, the justice was asked for a subpoena for "Hay Phillip" to appear at a subsequent hearing before the justice at Butler, Pa., on May 15, 1905, which subpoena was issued and placed in the hands of an officer directed to make service of the same upon him, and a fac-simile of the same was published on May 16, 1905, in The Pittsburgh Gazette, a daily newspaper, published in the city of Pittsburgh, with a large circulation in Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio; in addition to this a reward of fifty dollars for information which would enable the service of said subpoena, yet the officer has not been able to find such person or serve the subpoena upon him. At the second hearing on May 15, 1905, the said "Hay Phillip" failed to appear and no information was given by private counsel for the commonwealth as to his whereabouts.

Your petitioner believes that there is no person whose name is "Hay Phillip." That the same is assumed, fictitious and counterfeited by some person unwilling or afraid to appear and sign his own name as prosecutor, but, with a malicious and designing intent, has used the false name "Hay Phillip." The Pittsburgh Gazette, in which the alleged libelous matter appeared, is published and circulated in Pittsburgh, Allegheny county, Pennsylvania, where an information might have been made by a person not so imposed, yet the information and 15 others, charging the same offense, were made in Butler county before a justice of the peace by a man, a person unknown, whom the justice of the peace alleged at the hearing he did not know except from the representations of the informant that he was "Hay Phillip," the person signing the information.

Information Not Legal.

Your petitioner believing that there is no legal information made against him, and that he, under the law, is not required to answer any indictment for any offense whatsoever unless the prosecutor's name is indorsed thereon. That he believes the name "Hay Phillip" is not the true name of any person, but a false, fictitious and assumed one, and made maliciously and fraudulently by an imposter in the interest of or at the instigation of unknown and designing persons who have conspired to [illegible]

SUBMARINES TO DEFEND UNITED STATES COAST

General Staff of Army Will Recommend to Next Congress the Creation of a New Corps. Estimated Cost Is $4,000,000.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The general staff of the army has recommended the creation of a new corps to establish a system of submarine defenses for the coast. The plan has been approved by Lieut.-Gen. Chaffee and by him will be submitted to the next congress. This is one of the definite results of the war in the far east, where torpedoes and submarine mines played such an important part.

The army has had this matter under consideration for a long time, but it was not until news was received from Port Arthur and the straits of Korea that it was determined to ask congress to provide this new arrangement in the military establishment.

The fact that the Japanese government, after the battle in the straits of Korea, admitted that nearly all of its naval losses before Port Arthur were the result of exploding mines, convinced the strategists of the war department that it is highly important that attention be paid to this feature of modern warfare.

The new corps will embrace 5,000 officers and men, who will be trained in the specialized work of submarine defense. It is proposed that the members of this corps shall not only have charge of the torpedo outfits and the shore batteries that will protect the mine fields, but that they shall be charged with the care and operation of power plants, searchlights and other accessories.

The estimated cost of equipping the proposed submarine defense is $4,000,000. This will provide for a fleet of submarine torpedo boats for all the principal harbors, searchlight equipment, wireless telegraph outfits and fixed and floating mines. It is expected the navy will offer no objection to the plan that a fleet of submarines be constructed for operation by the army.

tions for perjury or of civil action for malicious prosecution.

Your petitioner therefore prays the court for an order directing the district attorney to withhold the bill of indictment from the consideration of the grand jury because there is no legal prosecutor, quash the commitment and discharge the defendant, and make such other order as the law under the facts may warrant, and he will ever pray.

In support of the petition, Judge Greer filed the following reasons:

Now, June 5, 1905, the defendant above named, William S. Scott, by his attorneys, comes into court and moves for his discharge from arrest based upon the alleged complaint filed May 24, 1905, in this case, to set aside the record and strike all proceedings therefrom, to set aside the alleged warrant upon which the arrest was made and release him from his recognizance for the following reasons:

Not Based on Probable Cause.

First. Because the information of complaint made before the committing magistrate being filed May 24, 1905, at the above number and upon which the warrant of arrest issued and upon which the district attorney is about to send a bill before the grand jury, is not based upon probable cause, supported by a legal oath, in that the information shows upon its face that it was made from information received, to-wit: "This information being made upon information received," and does not set forth the name of the informant from whom such information was obtained, nor the facts as communicated to the complainant, the arrest, therefore, upon such a warrant is illegal and no valid indictment can be predicated thereon.

Second. Because the warrant of arrest offends against section 8, article 1, of the declaration of rights, contained in the constitution of Pennsylvania, in that the warrant of arrest was not supported by complaint under oath, showing probable cause for arrest.

Third. Because "Hay Philip," the alleged prosecutor, as shown by the records contained in the complaint or information, omitted and refrained from expressing his belief in the existence of probable cause for the arrest of the defendant and in the absence of such probable cause supported by oath averring that he believed the same to be true, the warrant of arrest is illegal and void, and any indictment based thereon would be defective and invalid.

Information Is Defective.

Fourth. Because the record does not disclose any fact to justify the detention of the defendant, the information or complaint being wholly devoid of sufficient legal certainty to be the ground for judicial determination or investigation.

Fifth. Because the complaint failed in this case, and being part of the record of this court, does not set forth upon its face the belief of the prosecutor, "Hay Philip," nor the character or source of his information to warrant the holding over of defendant to answer the alleged crime charged.

Sixth. Because the information or complaint filed at the above number and term has no legal sponsor, in that "Hay Philip," the affiant thereto, wittully and deliberately absented himself, never appeared against any of the defendants, his identity and whereabouts unknown, the name assumed and fictitious as defendant verily believes, being designed to evade responsibility for costs, civil suits for malicious prosecution and criminal prosecution for perjury.

Seventh. That on May 5, 1905, the defendant appearing before H. W. Christie, the committing magistrate, at a hearing, as shown by the record, and demanding that he might meet the prosecutor, "Hay Philip," face to face, but he did not appear, and the defendant believes that the name of "Hay Philip" is false, fictitious and forged for a fraudulent and malicious purpose.

Defects Not Cured.

Eighth. That the alleged amendment made on the 30th day of May, 1905, being after the arrest of the defendant and after he had given bail for his appearance at the hearing, will not cure the same and the case stands as if no such amendment had been made.

S. F. Bowser, one of the private attorneys for "Philips" and the men who are hiding behind him, was in court. He said to your correspondent that he would have "Hay Philips" before the grand jury. Bowser intimated that "Hay" is the middle name of his client. 'Squire H. W. Christie, who toook the informations, is telling the same story now.

On two occasions the informations in these cases have been taken to Pittsburgh. Why this was done has not been made known yet. The handwriting of the alleged "Philips" was not the same each time the signature was written. Sometimes the name looks like "Philips" and sometimes like "Philip." Bowser insists the man exists, and if he is brought to Butler he will be a bigger curiosity than a circus parade. Countless indignant taxpayers would like to get a glimpse of the man who glides in and out of town and leaves a bill of thousands of dollars for uninterested citizens to pay.

Says He Bought Beer in Braddock.

During a hearing before Burgess J. S. Donelian of Rankin yesterday, Sander Rulof, aged 17, who was charged with delivering liquor in the borough in violation of an ordinance, testified that he had purchased 10 kegs of beer at Hecht's wholesale liquor store in Braddock. The Rankin authorities claim they will prosecute Hecht for selling liquor to a minor.

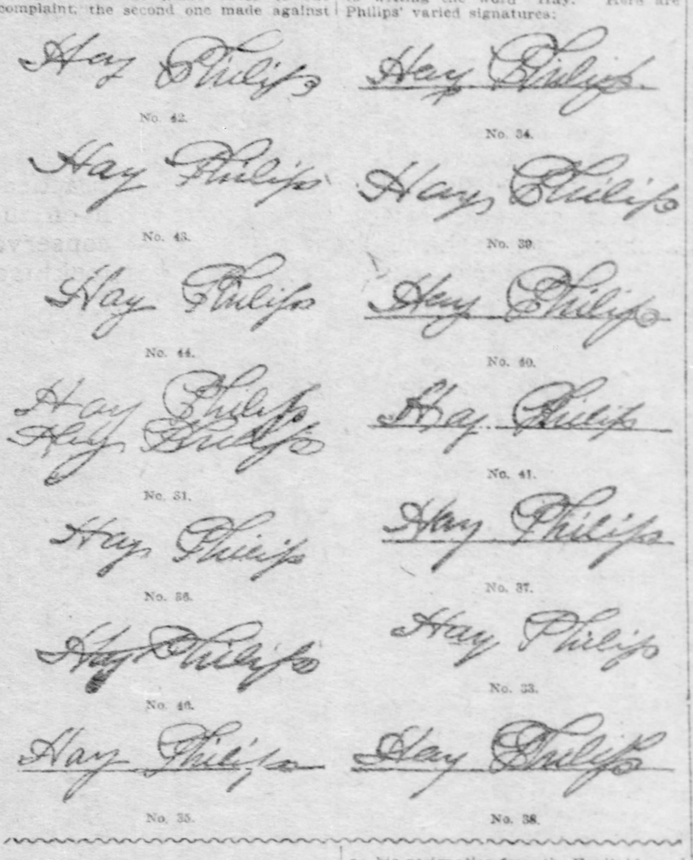
HAY PHILIPS' WRITING SHOWS STRANGE CONTRASTS

Signature of the Mysterious Person Who Has Entered Libel Suits Against Pittsburgh Editors Quite a Study for Experts in Handwriting.

The study of handwriting is interesting to many persons, and doubtless many thousands of Gazette readers will closely examine the specimens below. These are the signatures of Hay Philips put to the informations against the editors of The Gazette and Leader. Although 16 suits were entered, the signatures shown here, numbering 15, are on but 14 informations. No. 31 shows where Philips wrote his name twice to one complaint, the second one made against William S. Scott, managing editor of The Gazette. In the information as first drawn Mr. Philips forgot to say that he believed the allegations to be true. He went before Justice Christie of Butler a second time, had the words inserted, and again signed the document. The Gazette has been unable to find Hay Philips and verify believes that the name is that of a fictitious person; at least it would appear that he is not accustomed to writing the word "Hay." Here are Philips' varied signatures:



THREE DESERT EQUITABLE

the society. Mr. Belmont, however, declined to discuss the affairs of the Equitable.

The inquiry into the affairs of the society was resumed today at the Equitable offices by State Superintendent of Insurance Hendricks. Gerald R. Brown, superintendent of the bond and mortgage department of the society, was examined, and Second Vice President Tarbell was again questioned. Superintendent Hendricks said that he had already examined Jacob H. Schiff, but would not say what other directors had been before him.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt, after the meeting of the board of directors, told several friends that he had become a director at the behest of Mr. Hyde, but that he was more than displeased with the manner in which Mr. Hyde had conducted himself. Mr. Vanderbilt was not inclined to attend any more of the board meetings. He said that he had recently attended the board meetings at the solicitation of Mr. Hyde. It is doubtful whether he will attend the meeting Wednesday.

There is no question but that the directors are thoroughly alive to the responsibility of the selection of some man who is eminently qualified to accept the place of chairman of the board. The position was offered to United States Senator Chauncey M. Depew today, and it was said he was offered a salary of $500,000 a year if he would step into the breach at this time. Senator Depew refused the offer peremptorily, accompanying his declination with the explanation that his contentment in life and peace of mind at present would forbid his accepting the place.

Judge George Gray of Delaware, who figured so conspicuously in the settlement of the coal strike, probably will be thoroughly discussed, and so will George B. Cortelyou, postmaster general. Because of the resignations of men who were given places on the committee of seven, the directors realize that the selection of a chairman of the board rests with them.

Ingalls' Mind Made Up.

CINCINNATI, June 5.—The resignation of Melville E. Ingalls as a director of the Equitable Life Assurance society will be in New York in a few hours. Mr. Ingalls gave out the following statement:

I have not as yet resigned, but shall do so. I have hesitated in order to determine in my own mind what my duty was to the policy-holders, and it seems to me that, with the spirit manifested by the majority in control, no further good can be accomplished by my remaining. The control seems now to be in the hands of Alexander and Hyde, chiefly through the men employed by the Equitable and interested either in that or its subsidiary companies, and it cannot be expected that they would be in favor of any changes. The friends of the officers of the Equitable, whose resignations our report demanded, seem to think that the demand was uncalled for. The facts stated plainly and briefly, are these:

We were asked to investigate the management of the Equitable. We reported, first, that its system of insurance, in our judgment, should be modified and that this should be referred to the new management. We reported that the custom of investment in outside companies and the carrying of large balances for the apparent purpose of aiding these companies, in which the Equitable and its officers are interested, was unwise and should be stopped. We reported that the practice of officers of the Equitable purchasing securities in the market and then selling them to the Equitable through a committee of which they were practically the only members, was wrong, and that whether the company made money or lost by the transaction, it did not change the ethics of the transaction.

Need Change in Management.

We listened to the accusations of the different officials; we examined the accounts and we thought that it all showed such a disorganized condition, such extravagance and negligence, that for a company of the magnitude of the Equitable and so connected, as it is, with the community by its system of insurance, there should be a change in management; and we recommended that the directors should ask for the resignations of the higher officers and fill their places.

The majority of the directors, after hearing the report and discussing it, evidently felt that the conclusions were irresistible, but, to avoid direct condemnation of these officers, they voted to allow them to remain, but then proceeded to decide that there should be a new office created: a chairman who should have control of all the affairs of the company, and these officers, whose resignations we had asked, should be subordinate to this chairman.

In other words, it was like the judge who was asked to remove the man from control of a farm because his management was bad, and who decided that he would still let him work and put another man over him in charge of the farm. So they decided to let Alexander and Hyde to remain and work, but to put another man over them in charge of the affairs of the company. We were glad to find that the Equitable was solvent and that it had made money and increased its business in spite of its troubles and its weak management, and I think we all agree that there can be a change of management and the one-man ownership of stock eliminated, the Equitable has a great future.

BOSTON, June 5.—(Special.)—T. Jefferson Coolidge made no comment today on his resignation from the Equitable, and merely issued the following statement: "Mr. Coolidge has declined to serve on the committee of seven named to select a chairman of the board of the Equitable society. He has also resigned from the board of directors." Another and an inspired statement was made for Mr. Coolidge, as follows:

"Considering the course of affairs in the Equitable, it ought to be clear that it is no longer possible for any self-respecting man to remain on the board of directors. Mr. Coolidge favored the adoption of the Frick report, as did all the conservative members of the board, and when Mr. Hyde forced the rejection of the report through a faction of the directors, most of whom are on his own payroll, there was no other course for the conservatives except resignation."

ALBANY, N. Y., June 5.—Before leaving for the west today Gov. Higgins gave final expression to his opinions on the Equitable Life Assurance society matter. "I do not anticipate that a legislative investigation of the society's affairs will be necessary," he said. "It is possible that legislative action may seem desirable but no legislative committee could gather information relating to the Equitable which the superintendent of insurance is not able to get. Conditions will be probed to the bottom, in so far as lies within my power, and evils that exist will be corrected."

He repeated his opinion that the mutualization of the Equitable was a matter for the courts to settle, and not the legislature, adding: "I am still in doubt as to just what it is best to do."

WILL NOT ABANDON PREFERRED DIVIDENDS

LONG BRANCH, N. J., June 5.—(Special.)—"The statement that the New York Life Insurance Company will abandon deferred dividend plans is false," said John C. McCall, son of John A. McCall, tonight. "The minister probably arose from the fact that within a short time the company has decided to add an annual dividend policy to the many forms of policies now in use by it."

CYCLONE IN MICHIGAN CLEAVES DEADLY PATH

Four Persons Are Killed Outright and Seven Fatally Injured.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

DETROIT, MICH., June 5.—An electrical storm which passed through Lower Michigan late today swept a path of death and devastation half a mile wide.

The dead:

Child of Edward Philpotts, near Urban.

Three children of Edward Philpotts.

Small son of John Smith.

Mrs. Wagner.

Mrs. William Hutchinson.

William Dosser.

In addition to the above, Elsie Appleman, aged 12, was killed by lightning at Hemlock, and George Morrow was fatally injured by lightning at Central Lake.

The home of Thomas Smith, near Urban, was razed. In addition to the child who was killed outright, it is feared another is buried under the ruins. Farmer Smith, himself, had an arm broken, and one of his remaining children had an arm torn off.

The Philpotts residence was blown from its foundations, and besides the three children who are expected to die, the father was seriously injured. Near Cass City, 13 residences and 19 barns were blown down.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., June 5.—A tornado blew down a large number of houses and barns in this city tonight, but so far as reported no one was killed.

PRESIDENT SHEA IS SENT TO JAIL

HEAPS WRATH ON THE SHERIFF

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, June 5.—Cornelius P. Shea, president of the international Brotherhood of Teamsters and leader in the strike which has existed in Chicago for the last two months, was arrested and taken to jail tonight. With him went Hugh McGee, president of the Truck Drivers' union. Both men were taken into custody on capiases issued on indictments charging them with conspiracy which were voted by the grand jury that adjourned last Saturday night.

It was the understanding at the office of Sheriff Barrett that President Shea, who was aware of the indictment returned against him, would appear at his office during the day and give bonds. He failed to do so and Deputy Sheriffs Robert Wilson and Martin Honan were sent after him. He was found in the rear room of a saloon, and when he was placed under arrest his temper commenced to rise.

"Why do you come for me at this time?" he asked. "I suppose you intend to take me to jail."

"That part of it rests with Sheriff Barrett, replied Deputy Sheriff Wilson, and the two deputies with President Shea drove to the office of Sheriff in a cab.

Shea Loses His Temper.

"Hello, Shea," said the sheriff.

"I am the president of the International teamsters," said Shea with anger in his tones. "Why are you not on the square? We never treated a fellow like this in Boston."

"What do you mean by not being 'on the square'?" asked the sheriff.

"I mean that you have had these capiases since Saturday, and they have not been served upon us until now," said Shea.

"I was assured by your attorneys," said Sheriff Barrett, "that you and the rest of the indicted leaders would be brought into this office today and given up. That is why you were not served. You did not come, and we went after you."

President Shea lost his temper completely at this point, and denounced the sheriff and all his works in emphatic language. He was told by the sheriff he would be given all necessary time to procure bondsmen, but that he would be taken to jail at once unless he moderated his manner of talking.

"I would not mind going to jail," said President Shea, "if it was not for Levy Mayer. He has directed your action in this matter."

Sheriff Asserts His Authority.

"I want you to understand that not another word must come from you regarding Levy Mayer," retorted the sheriff. "I am sheriff and I am conducting this office."

President Shea finally succeeded in reaching his attorneys by telephone and one of them, Daniel Cruice, came quickly to the sheriff's office. He and President Shea commenced to argue with the sheriff about the unreasonableness of taking Mr. Shea into custody at such a late hour.

Shea again broke into violent language and the sheriff again warned him that he would be given but little time to prepare bonds if he did not cease his abusive talk.

"I don't know that even if you did say I should go to jail whether that would settle it," replied Shea.

"I'll show you whether it would settle it," said the sheriff. Turning to Deputies Honan and Wilson, he commanded them to take Shea to jail immediately.

His Bluff Was Called.

Shea saw he had gone too far, and attempted to say something to the sheriff, but the deputies took him quickly into the hall and from there to the street, where they hailed a cab and took him to jail. President McGee followed in another cab and in a few minutes the men were inside the jail. Both were searched, according to the usual custom, by Jailer Whitman, and were then taken to cells and locked up.

After being prisoners for a little more than two hours, both Shea and McGee were released, their attorneys having procured bonds which were approved by Judge Tuthill.

A notable decision affecting conspiracy proceedings was made today by Judge Petter S. Grosscup in the United States district court. He declared the jailing of the two labor leaders, Bernard Mulligan and John H. Donahue, for alleged contempt of court in refusing to answer questions possibly incriminating was an "extraordinary proceeding." Judge Grosscup's opinion, on account of its sweeping character and widespread applicability, attracted much attention.

The Right of Silence.

Mulligan and Donahue, who had been held in contempt of court by Judge Kohlsaat for refusing to answer questions before Master in Chancery Sherman, which the defendants were especially ordered by Judge Kohlsaat to answer, were released under $500 bonds by Judge Grosscup, and a supersedeas was issued staying the Kohlsaat order, following application for a writ of error by the respondents. In giving the opinion Judge Grosscup, upholding the right of silence, said:

The constitution of the United States provides that no one shall be compelled to be a witness against himself. The right of silence thus given was among the most cherished guarantees of our fundamental law. It is one of the distinctive guaranties of Anglo-Saxon civil liberty. It takes equal rank with those constitutional prohibitions in favor of the individual as against the state that forbid the impairment of contract or the taking of property without due process of law. A constitutional guaranty cannot be forfeited. In the promotion of law and order it must not be overlooked, for the promotion of law and order must not itself be lawless.

I cannot help but feel that in all probability Donahue and Mulligan, in good faith, stood in fear that the testimony taken before the master might be used against them before the grand jury, and might lead, as a link in the chain, to their criminating. Under such a preliminary showing, the case should be fully investigated by the court of appeals before the sentence is carried to execution.

UNCLE JOE CANNON USES PITCHER FOR BATHTUB

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

PORTLAND, ORE., June 5.—A good story about Speaker Cannon in connection with the opening of the exposition leaked out today. "Uncle Joe" was perspiring when, after the parade headed by Vice President Fairbanks, he entered the speakers' stand, marched to the front, poured half the pitcher of ice water into his palms and carefully swabbed his head.

Presently "Uncle Joe" grew warm again. Up to the front he marched, poured out the rest of the water, cooled his head as before, plunged his fingers into the pitcher for the scrap of ice, rubbed this on his head and neck, wiped off the ice and then quietly put it into his mouth.

This was too much for Mrs. Good, wife of the exposition's president. She sent word to Cannon that the water was not for promiscuous use. "Uncle Joe" then refused to speak. Finally, however, after much imploring and many apologies, he consented to deliver his address.

ENGLAND KNOWS JAPAN'S TERMS

BELIEVES WAR WILL CONTINUE

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, June 5.—Accounts of President Roosevelt's interviews with Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister at Washington; Count Cassini, Baron Speck von Sternburg and other ambassadors, which are alleged to have been in the nature of efforts to bring mediation, are receiving much attention here, but in diplomatic circles it is not believed that they will result in securing peace. The belief is firm in all quarters that Russia will continue the war.

Peace reports come from Paris, Berlin and St. Petersburg, as well as from Washington, but not a single definite indication of peace or even of intervention can be obtained. On the other hand, at the Russian embassy, it is declared the war will be continued, and at the Japanese embassy it is said there is no expectation of a peace offer, while the foreign office states it does not know of any movement toward peace.

As far as can be ascertained the British government has made no attempt to bring about intervention, though it undoubtedly is acquainted with the terms Japan will accept, and is in a position to take up negotiations with France, Russia's ally, immediately it is understood such a movement will not meet with a rebuff.

Among the many advocates of peace in this country, probably the most active is Sir Thomas Barclay, who was largely instrumental in bringing about the Anglo-French entente. Sir Thomas, who led a powerful effort for mediation between the combatants a few months ago, said today:

"Three months ago the Japanese would have agreed to these peace terms—First, the evacuation of Manchuria by the Russians and its return to the control of China under Japanese supervision; second, a Japanese protectorate in Korea; third, the surrender of the lease of Port Arthur, also the surrender of the Manchurian railway to international control and the dismantling of the fortifications of Vladivostok.

"Since the naval battle, however, I believe Japan has increased her demand to include territorial indemnity, comprising Vladivostok and probably the island of Sakhalin. Russia will never pay a money indemnity, nor will she sue for peace until she becomes bankrupt. So long as she possesses funds she will spend them on armaments."

TREPOFF'S APPOINTMENT CONSIDERED SIGNIFICANT

May Accomplish in Whole Russian Empire That Which He Did in St. Petersburg.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, June 5.—In government circles the appointment of Gen. Trepoff as assistant minister of the interior, widening the scope of his authority so that he may accomplish in the whole empire that which he has done in St. Petersburg since January 22, is regarded as an obvious step for the emperor to take if he is determined not to abandon the fundamental principles of Russian rule and transform the autocracy into a limited monarchy of the west European type.

It is claimed that Trepoff, since his appointment as governor-general of St. Petersburg, has maintained order here, has prevented a recrudescence of the tumults of January 22 without loss of life, and has handled the situation with needed firmness, yet without giving cause for complaint, as the late Von Plehve did by the adoption of unnecessarily stringent and arbitrary measures.

Gen. Trepoff today called on the czar and thanked him for his appointment.

JAPANESE MAY BE ABLE TO SAVE SUNKEN CRUISERS

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

TOKYO, June 5.—The Russian cruisers Admiral Nakhimoff, Vladimir Monomakh and Dmitri Donskoi having sunk in comparatively shallow water, it is possible to raise them.

A survivor of the cruiser Ural, who is a brother of the chief editor of the Russ, and apparently is well educated, said:

"The second and the third squadrons joined at the island of Koh Tron (off the coast of French Indo China). Our admiral knew that Korea strait was strongly guarded, but, should a Pacific route have been followed, a neutral port would not have been available in case of disaster, so it was determined to risk the Tsushima route. Nothing important occurred until the dawn of the morning of May 27, except the appearance occasionally of Japanese ships far out on the horizon."

The narrator and 33 other Russians drifted to the coast off the province of Nagato after 15 hours of exposure at sea.

TOKYO, June 5.—The following announcement was made today from the headquarters of the Japanese armies in Manchuria: "Early in the morning of June 3 the enemy's infantry and cavalry, to the number of some 300 men, attacked Krhslipao, seven miles northeast of Changau, but were easily repulsed.

"The same day some 20 squadrons of the enemy's horse advanced south of Tsipingchien, on the Kwangping-Chiaton road, some 30 miles northwest of Fenghwa. A portion of the same force attacked Shintsuha, nine miles northeast of Kwangping, but suffered heavy loss by our artillery posted in the vicinity. The enemy fled. Our casualties were four men slightly wounded. The enemy's loss exceeded 100 men."

MR. TAKAHIRA CALLS AGAIN

The President Has Another Night Conference With the Minister from Japan.

DISCUSS PROSPECTS OF PEACE

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 5.

President Roosevelt received at 9 o'clock tonight at the White House, Mr. Kogoro Takahira, the Japanese minister; Mr. Hirosawa, of the Japanese foreign office and seven Japanese naval officers, who are on their way to England to inspect ships being built there for the mikado's government.

For an hour the president talked with the officers about the naval siege of Port Arthur in which they participated. The president exhibited great interest in the Japanese plans and tactics. After the officers departed, Mr. Takahira remained for a talk with the president. This was the third time within a week the Japanese minister has been received at the White House in the evening, and tonight, as previously, the talk was of the prospect of peace.

It can be stated definitely that the effort of President Roosevelt is making to get the great neutral powers to concert their influence for peace, will be exercised not alone on Russia, but on Japan as well. The president has endeavored to gain from Mr. Takahira some inkling of what Japan will demand in the way of peace terms. If he has succeeded, diplomats in Washington do not know it. Thus far the minister has not been able to tell the president except in the most general and unofficial way, what Japan is likely to demand of Russia when the latter can be brought to discuss peace. Even the minister himself has no idea what Japan's indemnity may amount to.

Quite as important as the arguments for peace which have been urged upon Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, and on Mr. Takahira, by the president, is his frank and positive statement to them that, much as the United States desires the war to end, it does not propose to permit any peace treaty to infringe the doctrine of the integrity of China and the open door in the orient.

For the second time within a week M. Jusserand, the French ambassador, today called on the president, and is understood to have had something of interest and importance to communicate as how his government regarded the ideas expressed last week by President Roosevelt in regard to the advisability of the powers, at the psychological moment, uniting their influence to urge peace upon Russia. Mr. Hugh O'Beirne, charge d'affaires of the British embassy, who had a talk with the president only yesterday, was again at the White House today.

Baron Mayor des Planches, the Italian ambassador, will see President Roosevelt tomorrow and will make known to him the desire of the Roman government to assist in any possible way the international effort for peace. The celerity with which the various ambassadors here respond to the president's desire to work for peace, reflects the eagerness of their respective governments to influence an early end of hostilities.

SINGERS HONOR LOCAL COMPOSER

Unexpected Enthusiasm at Concert in the Singing of "Old Black Joe."

ROSES FOR MME. BLAUVELT

A simple, homely old ballad by a beloved Pittsburgh composer won the honors last night at the opening concert of the Pittsburgh district saengerfest. There was heard the wondrous voice of an operatic songbird, and the Pittsburgh orchestra under the able baton of a fest director of worldwide renown rendered favorite compositions of classic masters of melody, but to these the audience in Exposition hall gave only respectful attention. It was when Stephen C. Foster's immortal song, "Old Black Joe," was sung by the rich, full voices of the chorus of the Arion society of Brooklyn that the hands chafed in applause were moistened by tears.

It was explicitly set forth that encore demands would not be respected. The program was long and there seemed to be no time for the pressing of compliments. The first half of the concert had been given without any insistence upon the Iroquois rule. There was long applause following the appearance of Mme. Blauvelt and she was recalled to the fronnt of the platform to accept a gift of American beauties, but she bowed again and was allowed to leave the stage. Then the platform was cleared for the famous male chorus from the Arion society of Brooklyn. It marked the approaching climax.

"Old Black Joe" Wins All Hearts.

Under the direction of Claassen the chorus sung Zerlett's "The Grave in the Bussento" with marvelous effect. At its close the singers started to file off the stage, but they were not allowed to go. Half the audience had arisen to its feet and the demand was inexorable. They came back to the front of the platform. Claassen seemed to have an inspiration. A familiar glance passed between director and singers. He raised his baton and the sweet old melody filled the hall. It was recognized instantly and a little fluttetr of applause which broke out was quickly subdued.

Everybody in that great auditorium appreciated the compliment which the Brooklyn singers were paying Pittsburgh. Never before had that old melody rung forth in such pathetic measures—a hymn to Pittsburgh and a dirge to him whose memory Pittsburgh holds dear. When Claassen reached the last stanza he turned for an instant toward his audience, the music sheets were lowered and the melancholy refrain rang from wall to wall and found an echo of tender sentiment in every heart—"Old Black Joe."

Over 800 Singers on the Stage.

It was just such an auspicious opening as Pittsburgh, now recognized as a center of musical culture, would be expected to tender the German singers of America. The flags of the fatherland and the folds of old glory were gracefully entwined, and formed tasteful and patriotic decorations for the hall. On the stage sat over 800 singers, who compose the festival chorus, organized among the German gesang-vereins of Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio, together with the Arion society of Brooklyn, which sent a male chorus 100 strong, with practically the full strength of the Pittsburgh orchestra.

Ad. M. Foerster's "Dedication March," with its singularly appropriate themes in "A" and "C," in honor of the initials of that foremost Pittsburgher, Andrew Carnegie, and its rich harmonization of Foster's "Old Folks at Home," was admirably rendered as the overture. Equally appropriate was Mozart's "Bundeslied" by the festival chorus under the strenuous leadership of that conspicuous local light, Prof. John Dauberger. Claassen struggled with the overture from "Der Freischuetz," but the immensity of the hall stole away his tone focus, and it seemed to lack volume, although no fault of either director or players. In Dan T. Beddoe's solo, "Through the Forests," there was less demand made upon the orchestration and the rendition was admirable.

Red Roses for Blauvelt.

"Hoch Blauvelt!"

Only a full-blooded German with the proper saengerfest inspiration can pronounce the words. They said them last night and Mme. Lillian's cheeks turned scarlet when she realized how tender and affectionate was that reception which they gave her. She came back modestly and bowed with a beaming smile, but they called her again. Somebody ran down the aisle and gave her a big bouquet of velvety roses. She had just sung Handel's "Sweet Bird." Really those enthusiasts who shouted "Hoch Blauvelt!" were premature in their superlative expressions of esteem, for her "Jewel Song" from "Faust," was her most charming effort.

The concert closed with the "Pilgrim's Chorus," from "Tannhaeuser," with the combined voices of the festival chorus and the Arion society, a result which was inspiring and impressive. The exercises opened with a greeting by Charles Noss, the festival president, who received the silken flag, which was presented by C. G. Schmidt, vice president of the North American Saengerbund. H. C. Bloedel made a brief address in German, and the Rev. Dr. J. Leonard Levy delivered the English address. He said in part:

Dr. Levy Makes Address.

The American flag has at various times been interpreted to the American people from different points of view. This flag speaks to me of the services rendered by ancient peoples whose struggles have, more or less, remotely aided in the upbuilding of liberal governments and the purpose of a free nation and the ultimate good a people swayed by broad and liberal tendencies may effect. The red stripes take us back to the days of ancient Rome and remind us of the great republic which became the mother of governments controlled by law. The white stripes suggest the influence of the arts of Greece and the star, the emblem of ancient Judea, reminds us of the powerful sway religion has exerted over the human conscience. Thus, on this banner of the free, there are indicated the services of the great Mediterranean powers, Rome, Greece and Palestine. The field of blue indicates the mission of America, whose duty it becomes to spread the liberal ideals of Rome, Greece and Palestine as far as the blue sky domes the earth.

The exercises which are to be conducted during this song festival naturally permit us to recall the balmy days of ancient Greece when such musical gatherings were common experiences. And, if America is to achieve a high rank among the cultured peoples of the world, if our country is to bear evidence to the influence of aesthetic ideals, it will be largely through such meetings as this with their cultural power and with their ability to awaken within the minds and hearts of men and women the love for the beautiful and the yearning for the aesthetically charming.

SENSATION IN MIDWAY.

Little Washington County Town in Fever of Excitement Over Breach of Promise Case.

The little town of Midway, Washington county, has a genuine sensation on her hands. Miss Araminta Isabella Guckenheimer has brought an action against George Ritchie, Jr., the borough tax collector, charging breach of promise and demanding $45,000.99 as balm for her lacerated affections. Under the auspices of Eclipse conclave No. 926, Order of Heptasophs, the facts in the case will be publicly aired on Thursday evening. The fair plaintiff comes from Oakdale.

The trial has been extensively advertised and is intended for amusement only. Warrants and subpoenas have been served in regular form by County Detective W. A. Griffith. Love letters, not exactly bona fide, but teeming with the passionate outbursts of an ardent swain, will be read in court. The cast of characters will be something like this:

Presiding judge, Charles R. Ballard; district attorney, Rev. D. Percy French; attorney for defense, William T. Kerr; plaintiff—Miss Araminta Isabella Guckenheimer, F. M. Pedicord; defendant, George Ritchie, Jr.; sheriff of county, W. A. Griffith. Witnesses—For prosecution, Mrs. Jemima Guckenheimer, mother of plaintiff; C. R. Brickland; Dr. J. M. Moore, E. C. Donaldson, plaintiff. For defense—Lloyd Cummins, David Lester, Samuel Warfield, W. M. Barbour, defendant.

SCHWAB DOES NOT SEEK MORE COKE

Steelmaster Denies Pocohontas Field Rumors—Says Russia Must Buy Here.

HE BELIEVES IN U. S. STEEL

"All this report about my going to the Pocohontas coke region is entirely baseless," said Charles M. Schwab, president of the Bethlehem Steel Company, at the Union station last evening.

"I am going to Cincinnati, primarily to visit a close friend. I have been asked, incidentally, to stop off and inspect a steel plant between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati, and as the request was made by a friend, I shall do so, although I do not know why he wishes me to make an inspection. I would give the name of the plant if I were sure that he would be willing to let it be known. In any case the inspection is not important."

When Mr. Schwab was asked about his Russian trip he was interested at once. "There is an enormous amount of work to be done by Russia. Its navy must be rebuilt. The trans-Siberian railroad must be rebuilt. The railroad must also be double-tracked. Where can Russia look for the needful supplies of every kind except to America? It is inevitable that much of the work must come here."

Friend of U. S. Steel.

In regard to the accomplishments of his own trip in relation to the Bethlehem Steel Company, Mr. Schwab was silent, smilingly declining to talk on that subject. On the subject of his relations with the United States Steel Corporation since he resigned the presidency nearly two years ago, he spoke freely: "At no time have I been more interested in the success of the Steel Corporation than I am now," he said. "That does not mean financially, of course, for at one time I was more deeply interested in that manner than at present. But as a manufacturing proposition, I have always been and still remain a strong advocate of the Steel Corporation, and have always spoken in the strongest approval of the concern to my friends.

"With the Steel Corporation the relations of the Bethlehem Steel Company will always be friendly, so long as it is in my power to make them so. We will work with the corporation in every regard. There may be no 'associations' now and there are but few lines in which we make the same product, but in such cases if the Steel Corporation wishs the Bethlehem to join an association with it we will do so.

Will Make High Grade Steel.

"The statement that the Bethlehem company will devote its attention strongly to the finer grades of steel is entirely correct. Armor plate, ship plates, crucible steel, etc., form a large portion of our product. We also produce beams, plates, etc., for the general market, but not in such quantities as to be a large factor.

"On this trip, as always, I am delighted just to be in Pittsburgh. Pittsburgh! This great district great as it has become, is still only an infant when one sees the future greatness."

Mr. Schwab arrived in the city last evening from Loretto, where he spent Sunday at his mountain home. He was accompanied by several friends. His private car was awaiting him here and he occupied it immediately after arrival. It was attached to Panhandle train No. 25, leaving for Cincinnati at 9:15 p. m., and on that train he went westward. He read with but little attention a report of his becoming interested in the Pocohontas coke region in opposition to the Steel Corporation, and made a flat denial of the whole thing as absurd.

RACE TRACK GAMBLERS ARE QUICKLY CONVERTED

Flingers in Book-Making Scene in "Checkers" Strike When Cut from 50 to 25 Cents.

When the horses were led to the post in the third act of "Checkers," at the Nixon theater last night, there was impending danger that the bookmakers would become financially ruined in not being able to round their books against the wager that was ready to be placed on "Remorse," who, although he won eight times last week, including matinees, was quoted at 100 to 1 in the betting.

Just before the horses left the paddock the gang of reckless gamblers who have been nightly invading the betting ring, carelessly tossing hundreds into the bookmakers' cash boxes on horses that chased "Remorse" to the wire, went out on a strike. There were just 25 of these Riley Grannans and Pittsburgh Phils who bet hundreds against established form, at 50 cents per performance.

Last night they were informed that the "price had been rubbed" to 25 cents, and that the management of the company could secure all the men they desired to handle their money at that price. The moral influence of the announcement was more remarkable than that of the revival in Wales, and to a man the supes refused any longer to play the ponies.

It is said that rather than let the field run unbacked, the management of the company prevailed upon the stage carpenters, scene shifters, electricians and stage hands to back the favorite and second choice off the boards. It is not known definitely whether or not the stage hands had had previous rehearsals in the art, but the fact remains that they placed their money with an ease and grace to the manor born.

The strikers stated last night that they performed on last Monday night without remuneration for the sake of experience, and had attended rehearsals gratuitously, but felt that their services entitled them to 50 cents a night and put forth the claim that all companies which had visited the theater during the present season had paid the established scale of 50 cents a performance.

WILL DISCUSS BIRDS.

Col. Howard Brown Will Spend Day in Park With Sunday School.

Col. Howard Brown, the expert on bird life, who is making a tour of the country lecturing on birds at the expense of Miss Helen Gould, will arrive in Pittsburgh on Thursday and will be the guest of the Rev. Dr. R. M. Russell of the Sixth United Presbyterian church.

On Friday afternoon Dr. Brown will take the scholars of the Sixth United Presbyterian church to Highland park, where he will discuss birds from nature. On Sunday morning he will address the Sunday school, on the occasion of Children's Day, on "Birds and Bird Life." Thursday evening a social will be given in the church to the Bible class, which is the largest in the state and one of the largest in the country, numbering 178 scholars. The instructor is Samuel Young.

Principals to Inspect Factories.

Principals of the public schools in this city will hereafter act as deputy factory inspectors of the state. Yesterday at the Fifth avenue high school certificates to be filled out by them were distributed. Chief Factory Inspector J. C. Delaney of Harrisburg wants statistics in regard to children between the ages of 14 and 16 who are employed in factories and mines. The teachers of the city schools were paid yesterday.

WORTHINGTON IS IN THE CITY

New First Vice President of Local Wabash Lines Comes on His First Trip.

TABLET ERECTED IN STATION

B. A. Worthington, the newly elected first vice-president of the Wabash lines east of Toledo, with headquarters in this city, reached Pittsburgh last evening, accompanied by President F. A. Delano and a number of other officials of the lines.

The party made a leisurely trip over the road yesterday in order to see it well, and on their arrival here spent a few minutes in the Wabash station while Mr. Delano showed its beauties to the new vice president. Mr. Worthington expressed his admiration. Something of a surprise came when the party stopped to the bronze railing overlooking the handsome stairway from the grand waiting room to the lower waiting room. There, imbedded in the marble of the sidewall at the turn of the stairway, was the great tablet of bronze erected by those who participated in the first trip over the Wabash from Pittsburgh to St. Louis, early last July. Its erection was accomplished only yesterday.

Standing out in bold relief on the tablet are the names of the men who brought the Wabash into Pittsburgh—J. Ramsey, Jr., president; J. W. Patterson, vice president; C. S. Crane, general passenger agent; F. H. Tristram, assistant general passenger agent; W. D. Halliday, assistant general freight agent. These men had charge of the first train. With a look of much interest Mr. Delano read the inscription perpetuating the memory of the "victory over great natural and created difficulties."

Inspected Docks and Shops.

A party was awaiting Messrs. Delano and Worthington at the station. In the party were Col. W. D. Holliday, the head of the Wabash freight traffic interests here; George T. Barnsley, the engineer of the city division of the Wabash, and others.

In the party which arrived with Messrs. Delano and Worthington yesterday were Robert Blickensderfer, general manager; H. J. Booth, general traffic manager, Wheeling & Lake Erie; W. S. Newhall, chief engineer, Wabash; F. H. Tristram, assistant general passenger agent, Wabash system; W. H. McMaster, superintendent, Wheeling & Lake Erie; J. W. Patterson, Jr., superintendent, Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal railway, and A. C. Hezlep, engineer of maintenance of way.

The party came from Toledo arriving at Pittsburgh at 10 p. m. They looked over the terminal facilities of the road in Toledo, stopped at the shops at Irondale, visited the ore docks at Huron and stopped at the shops at Norwalk. The plans for today involve going about the terminals at Pittsburgh and over the West Side Belt line, and leaving town at 5 p. m., going west over the line via Steubenville, Warrenton, Jewett and Zanesville to Cleveland. From Cleveland the party will go by night over the Lake Shore to Buffalo, and go west on Thursday evening. The Pittsburgh members of the party will return to Pittsburgh, and Mr. Delano will go westward with some of the Wabash officials.

Problems Require New Official.

It was stated officially that Mr. Delano's thought in appointing Mr. Worthington to come to Pittsburgh, where he will make his headquarters, is not at all that of dissatisfaction with Vice President Patterson, or General Manager Blickensderfer, but entirely with the idea that the problems at Pittsburgh require such close study that he wishes to have a representative on the ground. Every effort will be made to develop the business of the Wabash road to its utmost in the next few months, and make all possible alliances with friendly connections to increase the business, both passenger and freight.

The new temporary freight station was successfully opened yesterday. Mr. Delano stated that there was no particular significance in the trip he was making except to go over the road with Mr. Worthington. Mr. Worthington is a railroad man of long experience, having served his apprenticeship with the Southern Pacific company in California in various capacities. He recently resigned the position of vice president and general manager of the Oregon Railroad and Navigation Company.

Joseph Ramsey, Jr., the retiring president of the Wabash system, spent yesterday with his numerous business and personal friends here. In a statement concerning the Little Kanawha syndicate, he reiterated the facts concerning the matter which he gave to The Gazette three weeks ago. He expects to be here a good part of today.

About 19,000 Paid Up Members Are Being Represented by 80 Delegates from 71 Lodges.

Today the delegates will be given a trolley ride through the residence sections of Pittsburgh. Tomorrow night a boat ride has been arranged for and on Thursday evening a banquet will be given in Old City hall.

At yesterday's session President Isler and Secretary Costello read their reports. They showed that all members of the union have uniform working hours—eight hours a day or 44 hours a week. DEFICIT LEFT BY THE OLD BOARD

School Levy in the Eleventh Ward Is to Be Raised to Seven Mills.

MASS MEETING IN THIRTEENTH

The manner in which the old Citizens party board of directors have been managing the school affairs of the Eleventh ward, in a recent sale of bonds and purchase of sites, has led the ward into debt, and the new school board, which organized last night at the Moorhead schoolhouse, will be forced to almost double the tax levy at the end of the year to wipe out the deficit.

Otto Wenskowsky, secretary of the board, announced last night that the school levy of the Eleventh ward would have to be raised from 4 to 7 mills to meet the deficit that has been caused by the recent transactions of the old board. The levy for the next fiscal year will be made up by the local boards in December and transmitted through the central board to the city treasurer for collection.

With a levy of 7 mills the Eleventh ward will probably have the largest levy of any ward in the city, excepting, possibly, the Thirteenth ward, which has a levy of 7 mills this year. In addition to his city levy, whatever it may be, and his water taxes, which are unusually heavy in Pittsburgh, the taxpayer of the Eleventh ward will have to add to his tax account a lev yof 7 mills on his property to maintain the schools.

Republican Candidates Win.

The new board, which was organized last night, is composed of four of the six old members who composed the old board. The two retiring members are Dr. A. M. Stevenson and James Wallace, the latter a city employe. The two new members are Dr. J. W. Phillips and George C. Ackerman, both Republicans. The old board held a brief meeting last night to finish up a few details, and when Messrs. Stevenson and Wallace withdrew the new board organized by electing Dr. Phillips president, Otto H. Wenkowsky, secretary, and Welsh Sproul, treasurer. Edward Ginniff, the Citizens candidate for president, withdrew from the contest when he saw that his opponent had a majority of the board.

The old corps of teachers, including Miss Nannie Mackrell as principal, were re-elected, and two additoonal teachers chosen. The additional teachers are Aurelia Skees and Sylvia Vankirk.

The old Eleventh ward board went out of office, leaving a deficit behind of over $4,000 on contracts already made, and not including contracts which must be made to complete the plans which the former board started. The old board realized $113,000 from the sale of bonds and collected about $3,000 on a piece of property which it sold for $10,000, although the board paid $14,000 for the property.

Appropriation Runs Out.

With less than $120,000 at its command, the board paid $29,500 for the Miller street site, let a contract for a new building on Saturday night at about $84,500, and let a contract for plumbing at $6,140 to M. Burtel when J. J. McFadden presented a bid for $7,846.

The new board is without funds to let the contract to equip the new building with heating apparatus, which is expected to cost from $22,000 to $25,000, or to pay the expense of tearing down the old Miller school building and other buildings on the new site.

Another mass meeting of the citizens and taxpayers of the Thirteenth ward to consider the proposition to spend $300,000 on a new building has been called for next Monday night at the school house at Morgan street and Center avenue. The former meeting was captured by the citizens of the ward from the school board of the Minersville sub-district, and a committee will make its report on Monday and it will be adverse to spending $300,000 for a new school building.

The school board of the Ralston subdistrict of the Ninth and Tenth wards organized last night by electing William Sullivan president, John Call secretary and Morris Coffey treasurer. All the teachers were re-elected except Miss Delia Fay, who is succeeded by Miss Mary Kirby.

Bane's Successor Not Chosen.

The new Twenty-seventh ward school board organized last night by electing F. M. Caldwell president; Joseph Huber, secretary, and Dr. J. E. Gould, treasurer. The election of principal and teachers was postponed until the next meeting. There are 15 or 20 candidates for the principalship, vacated by the resignation of Prof. J. K. Bane, who has been teaching school for nearly half a century.

The Fourth ward board elected P. S. McCombs president; John N. Morrison, secretary, and T. W. Welsh, treasurer.

The Thirty-third ward board elected Albert Ward president; B. W. Stauffer, secretary, and John Wallace, treasurer.

The Thirty-fifth ward board elected W. H. McKinney president; W. P. Snooth, secretary, and the West End Savings Bank and Trust Company as treasurer.

Will Lay Y. M. C. A. Cornerstone.

An interesting program has been arranged for the cornerstone laying of the Railroad Y. M. C. A. of McKees Rocks, which will take place on the site of the new building, at Island avenue and John street, on Saturday afternoon. The new building is being erected and furnished at a cost of $38,000. Among the speakers will be Col. J. M. Schoonmaker, A. M. Schoyer, J. B. Yohe, E. B. Buckalew, A. D. Smith and T. J. Gillespie.

Summer Weather Is Here—What Do You Need?

We judge it has come to stay. And if that is the case you will naturally be on the lookout for summery things. We wish you would make a mental note that we have everything in the way of comfortable wear, both outerwear and underwear, for everybody.

In the Furnishing Store men can find every sort of thin undergarments, from the real gauze weight to the more thickly woven goods which some men think necessary to their comfort; in the Clothing Store men will find the comfortable two-piece suit and the light weight three-piece suit; in the Hat Store there are all fashions in straw hats; women will find in the Woven Underwear Department the very best of summer knit underwear; in the Suit Department they can choose their wash suits from a practically inexhaustible collection; their summer hats are ready for them on the third floor; the low-deck shoes, either the brilliant russet or the conservative black, are to be found in the shoe department; the thinnest stockings are shown at the stocking counter—in a word we are as ready to supply your summer wearing apparel as you are anxious to don it. And everything on the small profit basis.

Among the New Books.

A new book by the author of "The Open Question," is an important addition to our book stock. She writes daringly of English society, which she knows thoroughly. Like her other books this is "different" and absorbingly interesting.

A DARK LANTERN,

By Elizabeth Robbins.

Our Art Needlework Department.

This department, lately removed to the third floor, West, caters to women in two different ways—on the one hand it has the finished product; on the other, it has articles outlined which are to be finished.

Of the two we should say that women are more interested in the article which they themselves will finish—fancy work being women's perennial pastime.

However, there is a continual demand for the finished article and today opportunity is presented to buy all sorts of fancy things for Summer homes (that's not saying they are not all right for the city home), such as work baskets, scrap baskets, hair receivers, handkerchief and glove boxes, work rolls, etc., all made of dainty colored art cretonne and trimmed with silk cord and ribbon. The low prices begin at 50c and run up to $1.50.

In this same department today we will hold a special sale of Laundry Bags, made of scrim, lined throughout with pink, blue or yellow muslin, trimmed with three rows of washable ribbon, cord and tassel to match linings, $1.50 values for, each..... $1.00

Special sale of imported novelties, Fancy Pin Cushions, Hairpin Holders, etc., all hand-made, and in such shapes as slippers, shoes, baskets, horns, wheelbarrows, etc.—made of willow and trimmed with velvet and ribbon, for little prices of 25c and 50c each.

Kleinert's Dress Shields.

We are making a demonstration today of Kleinert Dress Shields, and it will be continued throughout the week. More than a dozen styles are to be seen, all of which are guaranteed in every respect by this old reliable house. Some of the numbers exhibited are:

The Double Gem Shield in sizes from No. 1 to 10, prices 19c to 55c pair.

The On-and-Off Shirtwaist Shield, sizes 2 to 5, prices 22c to 34c pair.

The Crescent, for sheer waists, sizes 2 to 4, prices 14c to 18c pair.

More than nine other styles, all possessing equal merit and at prices that will be found quite satisfactory.

$3.00 Boys' Breeches, $1.25 Pair.

These are knee breeches and they are sold for $1.50, $1.75, $2.00 and $2.50.

Materials are fancy worsteds, cheviots and homespuns.

These trousers for boys are made extra strong, and they will give the boy ample wear. All sizes.

Sparkelene Silver Polish.

In the House Furnishing Department, West Basement, we are showing the effectiveness of this polish, conceded to be the best made. It contains no grit, does not wear away the plating, and that is the first thing to be considered in cleaning silver.

It is used daily by hundreds of Pittsburg homes. We expect your neighbor uses it—turn to her for evidence of its ability.

25c and 50c a bottle.

How to Eat Canned Salmon.

That's the title of a very handsomely printed book which we are giving away in our Housefurnishing Department, West Basement. It contains a lot of choice recipes which will be found very convenient to have where you can lay your hands upon them.

While we do not sell canned salmon, yet at the same time we are demonstrating the virtues of this way of serving the fish, and while there we invite you to partake of some of the dishes set before you.

Don't forget to ask for the book.

Hammock Weather and Swing Weather Is Here.

As complete a variety of Hammocks as you could wish to choose from in the Basement of East Store.

Hammocks for as little as $1.00 and for as much at $6.50. In between different grades at different prices.

For the lawn there is the big Eagle Swing, all the parts, with the exception of seats, made of steel. The Eagle Swing holds four people. It will last for many years. Price is $12.50.

Then there is the Boyer Gliding Settee—a sort of a self-propelling arrangement that is equally admirable for porch or lawn. It is quite inexpensive.

Our June Sale of Muslin Underwear begins today and it is an occasion wherein women can purchase all necessary undergarments for, according to the grade of goods, a fourth, a third or a half of regular prices.

Next to our low prices the thing to consider is that each of these undergarments, even those at the very lowest prices, are made full, and there is not the least suspicion of any garments being skimped. Following are evidences of our less prices.

Long Petticoats—

At 50c—Of muslin, with tucked and hemstitched muslin ruffle; or of muslin, the ruffle hemstitched, trimmed with lace.

At 75c—Of muslin, with lawn flounce and embroidered ruffle.

At $1.00—Of cambric, deep flounce with three rows of torchon lace and deep edge; or trimmed with embroidery.

At $1.50—Of cambric, deep tucked flounce and ruffle of embroidery.

At $1.75—Of cambric, deep lawn flounce trimmed with lace insertion and deep edge.

At $2.00—Of cambric, deep flounce trimmed with bands of lawn and insertion, finished with deep edge.

At $3.00—Of cambric, deep flounce of fine embroidery.

The foregoing is only a specimen of our collection of long petticoats, and we desire to say that women can indulge their taste for something elegant even to the very finest petticoats which we bring over from Paris. In all cases the prices will be found substantially lower than our everyday quotations.

Drawers—

At 25c—Of cambric, deep ruffle with insertion and deep edge; or with deep hemstitched cambric ruffle.

Tuesday, June 6, 1905.

For the third time Pittsburgh is honored by the German singing societies of the country with their national Saengerfest. The previous meetings here were entirely successful, and there is no good reason why that which opened last night should not surpass them in attendance, if not in artistic merit. Pittsburgh has advanced musically since the Saengerfest was last here.

Berlin and Washington have been busy during the past few days trying to bring about peace in the far east. Success should attend their efforts, but the attitude of the czar is not encouraging. News is arriving, however, that Tokyo is busier than the other capitals, producing reasons why Russia should capitulate. Its reasons are of the most active kind, and are probably now about ready to impress themselves upon the Russian mind in the form of overwhelming battalions of intrepid, thoroughly-equipped soldiers.

The supreme court decision sustaining New York's franchise tax law has been followed by a rush to pay back taxes. More than half of the money has already been paid and the controller expects that most of the balance will be in before July 1. In the meantime the city is not anxious about the matter since it draws seven per cent on the amounts which have been withheld, and pays half that interest on the bonds issued in anticipation of the court's decision. Supreme court decisions take time, but when they come there are no more delays through litigation.

Slight progress was made by the special revenue committee yesterday toward the collection of sums alleged to be due from the public service corporations. The committee authorized proceedings on two claims, but this action must be indorsed by the finance committee and councils. The more important matter of attempting to collect a percentage of gross receipts has gone over for further legal advice. Until actual results are shown the public may be excused for not becoming too hopeful, considering the past record of the administration in dealing with the subject of compensation for franchises.

An interesting term of criminal court has begun and three judges will sit to expedite business. There is a large calendar, including several murder cases and the Allegheny graft suits. These latter will cause no delay in disposing of the general criminal business and they are not the least important cases on the docket. Conditions in Allegheny, as depicted by ministers of the gospel, are intolerable and it is hoped the pending suits may assist in clearing the moral atmosphere over there. If the defendants are guilty as charged the court will have no more important business than their conviction and punishment.

The Japanese official account of the battle of the Sea of Japan will be eagerly scanned to ascertain the respective shares of guns and torpedoes in destroying the Russian fleet. The matter is of vital importance to every naval power and will materially affect plans of navy building. While in a vague way much has been said of the work done by torpedo boats and submarines, specifications are lacking. Russian officers on the vessels which took refuge at Manila tell of "an overwhelming attack by submarine boats," but our naval officers on the investigating board which surveyed the vessels found that all the damage was caused by shells. There is no proof as yet that either torpedoes or submarines produced any decisive effect.

Robert Lincoln's refusal to allow his name to be considered in connection with the new chairmanship of the Equitable board of directors is an intimation of what is likely to happen all along the line in the search for a respectable figurehead. Meanwhile the committee of seven charged with the selection of a new chairman is itself going to pieces. T. Jefferson Coolidge of that committee has resigned his position as a director, and D. O. Mills, also on the committee, says he will probably follow suit. A Cincinnati dispatch quotes Melville E. Ingalls as saying that "for Hyde to continue at the head will mean the ruination of the Equitable." As long as he retains his stock control Hyde will be the real head no matter who may be employed to pose in that position.

The Masked Accuser.

The members of The Gazette staff who are being proceeded against in Butler county on charges of criminal libel have yet to enjoy their constitutional privilege of meeting their accuser face to face. His name is given in the information as Hay Philip, but when a hearing was demanded he was not present, and nothing has been learned as to his identity or his whereabouts, although a reward of fifty dollars has been offered and search has been made by detectives. Yesterday the court term of Butler county began and the grand jury met, but Hay Philip was still missing. The only conclusion that can be reached in regard to this mysterious personage is that if he really exists he is better known under some alias than by the name given by him in bringing these charges.

It is certainly remarkable that a person whose identity is so secret that no subpoena can reach him, and who thus evades all personal responsibility can use Butler county processes to take up the time of Butler county courts and juries to inquire into matters concerning Allegheny county affairs. The articles upon which these charges are based relate to the Allegheny city graft cases, and do not mention any citizen of Butler county. The mysterious Hay Philip himself claims to be a citizen of Allegheny city, although his name does not appear in the directory, but he has assumed the right to lay upon Butler county the trouble and expense of entertaining his charges while he keeps in hiding himself. This presents a question which the Butler county grand jury will doubtless consider. If such proceedings are permissable it opens an interminable prospect of court business for every county in the state growing out of the politics of the large cities whose papers circulate throughout the state.

The Same Old Crowd.

Advantage is being taken of the situation growing out of the gas lease war in Philadelphia to build up a movement against the Republican party organization in the state. There is no visible connection between the warring elements in the Quaker city and the state organization, but it is not difficult to identify the promoters of the movement against the Republican party as the same who have supported every effort made within two decades to villify the Republican state leaders and assist the Democracy to get a hold on the state government.

This element is for rule or ruin. It has been known by half-a-dozen aliases. Sometimes it has fought within party lines, and when defeated there has gone outside and formed fusion with the Democrats. It was beaten repeatedly by the regular organization under the matchless leadership of former Senator Quay, and now that he has passed beyond its power to annoy it seizes the first opportunity to attack those who have succeeded to his responsibilities.

Pennsylvania Democracy has suffered inestimably from contact with this disgruntled faction that finds its chief delight in slandering the commonwealth. Yet there are Democratic organs and Democratic politicians who are noisily welcoming another alliance with the malcontents. Since the first fusion with this faction the Democratic vote in the state has been dwindling until it is almost a negligible quanitty. It is no wonder. Self-respecting Democrats cannot be expected to line up with these renegades year after year to bolster their grievances against the Republican party organization. Their pretense that they want better government is too flimsy to deceive. Their fiercest attacks are against Republican policies for the benefit of the whole people. Their organ in this city and their organ in Philadelphia never crow so loudly as when a Republican mistake has been made. The Gazette has no particular interest in Philadelphia affairs and is willing to let that city fight out its own battles, but when the Republican party of Pennsylvania is attacked it is a different matter. Philadelphia municipal issues do not afford a proper basis for a state movement, and the people of that city should be allowed to fight out their own battles without outside interference.

Sympathy and Sense.

There are not a few good people who believe that the public treatment of the ex-chorus girl, whose notorious life was so fully exposed in a recent murder trial, has been unfair and cruel. In the towns in Pennsylvania where the woman has appeared under the guise of an actress in a play and with a company manifestly thrown together for no other reason than to exploit the evil reputation of its chief figure, the public has indignantly and sometimes violently resented the attempt. Personal violence, or intimidation that amounts to a threat against the personal safety or freedom of this girl, should be heartily condemned. She has been legally acquitted of the crime of murder and should be given the full freedom that the law accords her on this point. But that public sentiment should mawkishly accept her as an actress and approve of her public appearance in that guise is quite another thing. It is only the proper and reasonable instincts of self preservation that incites moral sentiment to resent the woman's attempt to advertise herself as an actress and charge money for an alleged dramatic performance when the only claim she has upon public attention is the shame of her unhappy life. Nan Patterson is not a Magdalen. She has shown no sense of shame and repentance for her acts, and even refused to hide for a reasonable length of time her record from public gaze. These things being so the refusal of the public to accept her as an actress was neither unfair nor cruel. It was simply treating a possible moral plague with the only defensive weapon at hand.

That the girl has given up the attempt to appear on the stage and has gone home is by far the most commendable exhibition of good sense and womanliness that she has displayed since her liberation. There are many ways in which she may extricate herself from financial difficulties, and to right-thinking people her relinquishment of the stage will, if calmly persisted in, be surer ground on which to base public sympathy and aid than any mere appeal that is neither good sympathy nor good sense.

Where the Orphans Belong.

Anent the meeting of the Orphans committee today a sycophantic contemporary declared yesterday that it is "beyond belief" that union of that element with the old ring is contemplated. Then, by way of showing it does not believe its own assertions it put up an argument against that which is "beyond belief." To those who are capable of understanding it is well known the problem for the Orphans to solve is whether they will resume their natural alliance with the Republican party or discredit themselves by support of the notorious Citizens ring in the coming campaign.

No Pittsburgher needs to be told how the Orphans came to be a factor in local politics. They allied themselves with the original Citizens party movement to wrest control of the city government from a clique that was abusing power derived from possession of the Republican party organization. When that object had been gained they found control of the city government in the hands of a new ring, heedless of the reform pledges which were the basis of the movement. They became Orphans—men without a party.

No argument is needed to prove the Republican party has exchanged places with the Citizens movement. It has rid itself of dictation and pledged itself to the reforms in government demanded in the original Citizens campaign. In it lies the only hope the Orphans may have for the triumph of their political principles. It is "beyond belief" they should ally themselves with any ring, so their natural action will be to lend support to the party that offers good local government, and that is the party to which they adhere in national and state compaigns.

Lawson and Lowell.

Life has its little compensations for its little ironies. While Henry James in the North American Review is telling how he discovered New England, another manipulator of his majesty's English, the redoubtable Tom Lawson, has been interviewed by Alfred Henry Lewis. Mr. Lewis has interviewed persons and personages of all degrees of probity, from Richard Croker to Theodore Roosevelt, but he never found a rarer subject than the valiant exponent of Frenzied Finance, whom he interviewed for "Human Life." After telling that Lawson's lair was in such a chaotic state that Lawson could lay his hands upon anything he wanted in the dark as well as in the daytime, Mr. Lewis delved into his subject's literary preferences.

"I've not read a book," said Lawson, "since I began to write 'Frenzied Finance.' I was afraid to look at a page of Lowell or of Emerson. I should have been sure to find there some thought or some simile to wring my soul with envy, and the temptation to help myself might have proven too strong. I have never read five hundred words of Lowell without feeling my own weak poverty, or coming across a thought or an expression to be the author of which I would trade a year of my life."

The confession that he is afraid temptation might make him a literary kleptomaniac will be seized with avidity by Norman Hapgood and other gentlemen who have unkindly suspected Honest Tom of such tendencies, but for the rest of the world, who are spectators, there is far more interest in the suggestion that Emerson and Lowell are Lawson's literary models. Doubtless the essay on "Circles" gave him the inspiration for his attack on Rings, and "The Vision of Sir Launfal" started Tom to seeing things. In the logical continuity of his rhetoric we discern the ultimate flower of Emerson's style, and his literary allusions are evidently an attempt to outshine Lowell's learning. The matter may now be left to students of comparative philology, after they have solved the problem of John L. Sullivan's indebtedness to Plato.

England has promised to leave out the bomb throwing accompaniment to her welcoming ceremonies in honor of Alfonso.

According to the Philadelphia papers Mayor Weaver is a pastmaster in the business of "striking terror."

Patti is about to make another farewell. This time to her Welsh castle for financial considerations.

The work of locating Admiral Rojestvensky seems quite as difficult now as before the naval battle.

According to Dr. Holland the diplodocus did nearly every stunt in England but go into vaudeville.

Still, we think Dr. Patton is a little hard on the $40,000,000 grade of Sunday school teacher.

Philadelphia's dissipation continues unabated. She is deep in the throes of a horse show.

The Princess Cecilia seems to have made quite a hit with the friends of papa-in-law.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS

By ERASMUS WILSON.

He figured on the distance
Of the stars up in the sky;
He figured on our planet's age
And when this earth will die;
He figured on the railways
And the trusts with patient skill—
But he never found the errors
In his monthly grocery bill.
—Washington Star.

He was a mathematician, one of those chaps who will not except any proposition or theory that is not susceptible of being mathematically demonstrated.

Great mathematicians are usually very funny, although the most serious of fellows, judging from appearances. They don't mean to be funny, and are stronkly inclined to hold humor in contempt, probably because it is not a matter that calls for mathematical skill in demonstrating it.

It is the other fellow who gets the fun out of the mathematician.

You may have heard the story, a true story, told of a famous Oxford professor of mathematics, who had been induced to accept a chair in Johns Hopkins some years ago.

It was on the occasion of a reception given in one of the fine homes in the Carroll district. The professor was there as one of the social lions. Being a bachelor he was petted a good deal by the ladies, and particularly by the hostess.

About the time the reception broke up a heavy rain set in, and the professor was invited to remain all night as a house guest, and not risk getting drenched.

After having accepted this invitation the hosts busied themselves in speeding departing guests as comfortably as possible, and thought no more of the professor, supposing he was in his room.

But lo and behold! just as the last carriage was leaving amidst a heavy downpour, who should come walking in but the professor, wet to the hide and dripping as though he had been ducked in a rain-water barrel.

"Why professor!" exclaimed the hostess in great surprise and no little alarm. "Why, where in the world have you been?"

"Ah, don't mention it! I only ran over to my apartments to get my night shirt, you know."

The professor, one of the finest mathematicians of the times, didn't know that he was being exceedingly funny, or even humorous. But he was both.

Next to the fellow who is prepared to demonstrate things mathematically is the fellow who thinks he knows it all.

It has fallen to the lot of a Chicago versifier to do this fellow up, and he has done his work well, as you will see.

THOUGHT HE KNEW IT ALL.

I knew a man who thought he knew it all.
He knew how earth became a rolling ball.
He knew the source and secret of all life.
He also knew how Adam came to fall.
He knew the causes of the glacial age
And what it was that made the deluge rage.
He knew—in fact, he knew just everything.
In his own mind he was the earth's greatest sage.
His knowledge was of such stupendous girth
It took in everything upon the earth
And in the heavens; but most strange of all,
He didn't know a thing of real worth.
He knew where people go when they are dead.
He knew all wonders ever sung or said.
He knew the past and future; but for all
He didn't know enough to earn his bread.
He was a marvel of omniscience.
He knew the secret of the hence and whence.
He was a bundle of great theories.
The only thing he lacked was common sense.
—Chicago Journal.

This type of crank may be said to be laudable, for he is rarely offensive and never mendacious. He talks a good deal whenever chance offers, and wearies you some when telling you how to make money, and hasn't a dollar in his own pocket.

It is to the credit of the fellow who thinks he knows about everything that he does know some things. This is more than can be said of the fellow who deliberately sets to work to talk your leg or arm off, and when done hasn't uttered a sentence worth remembering.

One of the weaknesses of the know-it-all type of man is that he is apt to butt in where he doesn't belong, and is not wanted. He sometimes crowds in and takes your place in an argument, or interrupts a conversation by flashing up his own peculiar views on the subject.

But all that can be borne with much better grace than the inane gibberish of the fellow who has a flow of words without the proper seasoning of sense. He not only provokes you, but he makes you weary unto yawning. And to cap it all he really thinks, or really seems to, that he has been entertaining you, if not enlightening your mind.

And yet this same fellow will rip other fellows up the back for their much talking, and sharply criticise those who butt in when another fellow has the floor.

Consistency is a jewel, don't you think?

But then, we all have our odd-come-shorts, you know, so that it doesn't become the best of us to complain. As some clever fellow has said:

"There is so much good in the worst of us,
And so much bad in the best of us,
That it ill becomes any of us
To find fault with the rest of us."

There is the woman of few words. And as a rule she is master of only a few, but, lord! what endless variations she can play on them. And to impress you all the more profoundly she interrupts herself occasionally to call attention to the fact that she is a woman of few words.

What think you would happen if a woman of few words marry a man of the loquacious type, or one of the know-it-all type?

Such a combination calls to mind that old sock-dolager, "What would happen if an irresistible body should come in contact with an immovable body?"

The cases are not exactly similar, nor would the results be exactly the same, but—well the possibilities are inconceivable.

However, very unusual things are happening every day, and the end is not yet in sight.

For instance, Mrs. John J. Astor actually kept King Edward waiting the other day until she got her red velvet train adjusted to suit her. And in spite of the fact that the offense of keeping the king waiting is held to be well nigh unpardonable, he bowed most graciously as she courtesied low, and the queen even turned and whispered something complimentary in the kingly ear.

New Clothes.

O all ye meadows fair,
And soft sunshiny banks,
Where daisies without number—where
Pale cowslips range their comely ranks
And buttercups with prouder yellow
Think each himself the finest fellow;
Since I put on new clothes today
Call, call me forth to you;
For I would bear myself the way
Your trimmest blossoms do.

Ye nobly peopled woods,
And stately thronged dells,
Moods of grand oak and beech tree—
moods
Of lofty pines whose music swells
To the hale wind's repeated pleasure,
When all their tops keep time and measure,
Are moods that I would learn to share.
Then call me forth, ye trees;
Teach me grave boughs and curtseys fair
As those ye give the breeze.
—The Academy.

TALKED OF IN GOTHAM

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 5.—Being a poet, it was not to be supposed when Richard Le Gallienne decided to sell his books (the sale began at Anderson's auction rooms in West Twenty-ninth street this afternoon), that he would announce his intention in ordinary fashion, and he didn't. Instead of "owing to change of residence," or "by order of the executor," or any of these other hackneyed phrases that commonplace mortals use on such occasions, Mr. Le Gallienne explains himself in verse. This is how the prosaic fact that his books and MSS., which have been stored in Chiddingford, Eng., where the storage charges have been eating them up, have been brought to this country for sale, shapes itself in the loom of Mr. Le Gallienne's poetic workshop:

Homeless, 'tis meet I find my books a home
Coffined in crates and cases long they lay,
Distant from me three thousand miles of foam,
Dungeoned in cellars cold and nailed away,
As in a sepulchre, till judgment day.
Lost to their gentle uses in the tomb;
Cobwebbed companions of the spidered gloom.
At last they rise again to live once more,
Dread resurrection of the auction room.

In the main the 500 odd lots that are spread out on the auctioneer's shelves today are of the present day first edition of books whose first publication was recent, and reprints of those that no self-respecting library can afford to be without. But, besides, there are a few gems, including one associated with the sainted name of old Sir Thomas Browne, and another with Izaak Walton's marginal corrections on his own biography as presented by a friend. The Browne is a first edition (1646) of the "Pzudodoxia Epidemica, or Enquiries into Many Receeved Tenets and Commonly Presumed Truths," and still another and later edition of the same, the fifth. The Izaak Walton, a presentation copy of his life by Dr. Sanderson, given by Izaak himself to Mistress Ann King, has autograph corrections.

New Safety Device for Steamships.

By means of submarine transmission of sound the dangers of ocean traveling in foggy weather are destined to become minimized. The North German Lloyd steamers Kaiser Wilhelm II., Kronprinz Wilhelm and Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse are the first to be fitted with the apparatus, which consists of a small tank filled with a special solution of a density greater than water, containing a microphone, which is attached to the liner's hull. From the microphone a wire leads to the lookout on the bridge, where, by means of an ordinary telephone receiver, he is enabled plainly to hear the sounds of distant bell buoys or the beating of the machinery of vessels within the range of the new device. The officers of the vessels declare that the new device is a decided success and that navigation in misty weather is greatly aided by it.

Jobs to Pay for Votes.

Five hundred men started to work in various parts of Manhattan and the Bronx today on various jobs in the streets, as the result of a distribution of tickets among the district leaders of Tammany hall. Each leader got his pro rata of the tickets, and in turn distributed theb among his henchmen. In consequence 500 men are rejoicing today in jobs which will pay them $2 a day. This is only the beginning of the public work which Tammany will have done this summer. In advance of the primaries and the next city election thousands of men will be employed throughout the city, and if the men are kept at work till election Tammany will get their votes.

Big Irish Exposition Planned.

Forty thousand dollars have been subscribed for the preliminary expenses, and a company has been incorporated for the presentation in Madison Square garden, of a great Irish exposition. The revival spirit that is making such remarkable history in Ireland has induced thinking Irishmen in New York to seize upon the present as a favorable time to place on display in America specimens of the handicraft of the toilers in Erin. It is their hope by this means to stimulate a demand in this country for Irish products, and by encouraging industry at home to stem the tide of emigration.

Preacher Endorses Sunday Baseball.

Believing that baseball is a healthful recreation and keeps youth away from evil ways, the Rev. Dr. Frank M. Clendennin, rector of St. Peter's Episcopal church of West Chester, son-in-law of Horace Greeley, has offered the Greeley baseball club the use of part of the Greeley farm at Chappaqua at any time except Sunday morning. Dr. Clendennin holds that playing baseball on Sunday afternoon is not injurious to morals, nor a violation of either the moral or civil law. The stipulation for no play on Sunday mornings is because Dr. Clendennin thinks members of the club should not stay away from church on account of the game.

New Low Death Rate Record.

The lowest death rate for the season on the records of the department of health was that for the week ending last Saturday at noon, June 3, when the remarkably low rate of 16.11 per thousand was recorded. The lowest record previously was recorded in May, 1900, when it was 16.74. Spinal meningitis cases showed 60 deaths in the past week, the same total as the week previous. Pneumonia deaths numbered 172.

A large crowd listened today to the talks at the service conducted by the Greater New York Evangelical committee in front of the stock exchange in Broad street and opposite the office of J. P. Morgan & Co. At the same time another meeting, also under the direction of the committee, was being conducted from the steps of the custom house.

C. J. BONAPARTE

Romance in His Descent from French Royalty.

An interesting feature in regard to the appointment of Charles J. Bonaparte, says the New York Sun, is that it will place a collateral descendant of the great Napoleon at the head of the United States navy. Mr. Bonaparte is a grandson of Jerome Bonaparte, king of Westphalia, a brother of Napoleon I. The alliance between Jerome and the grandmother of Charles J. Bonaparte, who was Miss Elizabeth Patterson of Baltimore, was surrounded by many romantic features, in which international politics and the establishment of the Bonaparte dynasty played a part. Jerome Bonaparte was a French naval officer, and during a visit to Baltimore in 1803, when he was 19 and she a year younger, he married Miss Patterson without the consent of his brother the emperor. Miss Patterson was the daughter of a prominent Irishman of Baltimore, who owned a line of clipper ships and was the wealthiest citizen of the Maryland port. Jerome met Miss Patterson at a ball in Baltimore in the fall of 1803. They fell in love at first sight, but the young lady's father foresaw trouble in a marriage, and sent his daughter to Virginia. But Jerome was persistent; an engagement was entered into through correspondence and Miss Patterson's father finally relented. The marriage, a brilliant affair, was celebrated in Baltimore on December 24, 1803. Napoleon sent word to Jerome that if he left his bride his disobedience would be overlooked, but if he adhered to her she would not be allowed to land in France.

His Grandmother Excluded from France.

Jerome and his wife remained in America until March, 1805, when they sailed for Lisbon on one of Mme. Bonaparte's father's ships. A French vessel prevented their landing. Jerome went to Paris to plead with Napoleon, and his wife started for Amsterdam in her father's clipper, but was prevented from landing by two men-of-war and compelled to go to England. At Dover a great crowd gathered to witness her landing, and the ministry at London sent a regiment to prevent trouble. On July 7, 1805, just after she landed in England, Mme. Bonaparte gave birth to a son. She remained in England, receiving while there many messages of affection from Jerome. After making vain efforts to have Pope Pius VII. dissolve the marriage, Napoleon had the imperial council of state pass a decree of divorce. Mme. Bonaparte returned to America and Jerome was married to Princess Catherine Frederica of Wurtemburg, by whom he had three children. In the year of his marriage, 1807, he was crowned king of Westphalia and reigned until 1813, when the Germans conquered the territory. Mme. Bonaparte made repeated efforts to secure a recognition of her son's legitimacy. In the '60s, under Napoleon III., the French government granted her a formal trial. Jerome Bonaparte appealed to the council of state to forbid "his son ot assume the name of Bonaparte," but the council granted Mme. Bonaparte's petition. Mme. Bonaparte died in Baltimore in 1879.

His Life in Baltimore.

Mr. Bonaparte likes the practice of law. Many another young lawyer would have plodded along patiently for years to finally, when long past middle age, secure sufficient practice to insure a comfortable income, but such was not the case with young Charles Bonaparte. His rise in the legal profession was both rapid and substantial. Never in the history of the old city had the people listened to such speeches, such cross-examining. Tireless and ever active, Bonaparte proved a fighter from the start. Barely a year had passed after his entry in the profession before he earned for himself the name of "the Witnesses' Nightmare," and those who know him and who have been in court and taken note of the manner in which he conducts a case are predicting a soothing investigation. Bonaparte is nothing if not honest and terribly in earnest, and there lays the secret of his success. Unless satisfied that his client is in the right he will not take a case. In private life Mr. Bonaparte is a delightful neighbor and an entertaining companion. He lives in elegant style at his handsome residence on Park avenue and Center streets, and is as famous as an entertainer as he is as a reformer. Like all true patriots, he has no ambition to shine as a literary light or writer. He is a prolific contributor to reform publications, but beyond what is really necessary he writes but little. The personality of Mr. Bonaparte is in keeping with his character. People try at times to flatter him by telling him that he resembles his great uncle, Napoleon I., a thing he utterly detests. As a matter of fact, he is much taller than the "Little Corporal," but, for all that, he bears the stamp of the Bonapartes, or, rather, the Romolinos, both in feature and expression. Most men of his wealth would abandon themselves to a life of luxury and pleasure, relegating patriotism to a back seat, but with his tireless energy and unfailing enthusiasm for the right, no more terrible punishment could be devised than a life of pleasurable inaction.—Baltimore American.

Turning to National Control.

The revelations concerning the management of the surplus and funds held in trust for the policy-holders of at least one great company, the sordid struggle for the control of these trust funds and the apparent inefficiency of state supervision, must inevitably turn the thoughts of millions of the insured—the citizens most concerned—in the direction pointed out by Mr. Roosevelt.

HUMAN NATURE

Did Not Recognize Limitations.

Some time in the 30s there lived in the town of D., in Albany county, N. Y., two men, A and O, who were prominent in the Methodist church. O purchased a cow from A on credit, and after some years, without having paid for the cow, removed to another town in the same county. Although frequently urged to pay the debt, he neglected to do so for more than 20 years, when A, accompanied by another Methodist brother, who, while a good man, yet was of that branch of intellectual lawyers known as pettifoggers, repaired to the town where O resided, and, after an ineffectual attempt to induce payment of the old outlawed claim, they proceeded to the house of the minister in charge and laid their case before him. The pastor thereupon assembled the official board of the church. He presided, and summoned brother O, who was very prominent in that church, also, before them. The facts being uncontroverted, brother O was directed to pay the debt with the accumulated interest. Thereafter when the pettifogger was asked how in the world he managed to get that debt, it had been so long outlawed, he said: "My dear sir, we had him before a court that does not recognize the statute of limitations."—Care and Comment.

Sage Was Suspicious.

"Russell Sage has a perspicuous mind," said a New York broker. "He can see through nearly everything. I doubt if he was ever duped on an investment yet.

"They say that two promoters once called on Mr. Sage to try to interest him in a certain scheme of theirs. They talked to the great financier for about an hour. Then they took their leave, having been told that Mr. Sage's decision would be mailed to them in a few days.

"'I believe we've got him,' said the first promoter, hopefully, on the way uptown.

"'I don't know,' rejoined the other. 'He seems suspicious.'

"'Suspicious?' said the first. 'What makes you think he was suspicious?'

"'Didn't you notice,' was the reply, 'how he counted his fingers after I had shaken hands with him?'"—New Orleans States.

Wanted to Say His Prayers.

An indulgent father, wishing to please his youngest hopeful, brought him to Columbus the other day and they stopped at one of the large hotels for the night. The youngster was undressed and put to bed and the father went down into the lobby to talk business.

Then there came a jingling of bells indicating that the push button in the room occupied by the young man who had been left quiet in bed must have been worked to the limit. There was a rush of feet as the bellboy scurried to the room, only to be met at the door by a diminutive, but indignant youth, who said severely:

"Man, I want you to send me some one I can say my prayers to, and send them quick. I want to go to sleep."—Columbus Dispatch.

A Vegetarian Diet.

A vegetarian had an amusing experience the other morning while at breakfast. His family was out of town and he went to a restaurant and took a seat next to a stranger.

The vegetarian took occasion to advertise his creed by telling that all meat was injurious and that the human diet should be strictly vegetarian.

"But," replied the stranger, "I seldom eat meat."

"You just ordered eggs," said the vegetarian. "An egg is practically meat, because it eventually becomes a bird."

"The kind of eggs I eat can never become birds," answered the stranger quietly.

"Good heavens!" cried the vegetarian, "what kind of eggs do you eat?"

"Principally boiled eggs," said the stranger.—New Haven Register.

The Wrong Medicine.

You probably remember the schoolboy who, in a composition on pins, said, "Pins have saved the lives of many people."

His teacher was astonished at this statement and asked him to explain it.

He replied: "By people swallowing them."

That was not the case with the man in the following incident:

"My dear," Mr. Finnicky said to his wife, "I don't think those pills I have been taking have done me much good."

"Why, you haven't taken any for three weeks."

"Yes, I have. I've swallowed one three times a day as directed."

"You have? Then why is it that there are as many left in the box as there were three weeks ago? What box have you been taking them from?"

"This one—marked for me."

"Dear me, John! That is my shoe-button box."—Birmingham Herald.

Railroad Speed.

A Vermont man traveling in England boarded one of the fastest express trains of that country and seated himself in a compartment opposite an Englishman.

When the train had gained full speed the American seemed to be getting nervous. He looked out of the window, then crossed his legs, then got up and looked out of the other window.

The Englishman, who had been watching him, said: "It seems to me, my American friend, that you are not used to riding so fast in your country."

"Oh, durn it; yes I be," said the Yankee, "but I'm afraid they'd run off the durn little island."—New York News.

Reminded Him of Home.

The recent tornadoes in Kansas recall the story of the Kansas man who crossed the Atlantic while the weather was extremely boisterous. One morning when it was blowing a perfect gale the Kansan appeared on deck. Nobody was in sight except the captain.

Before the captain could offer any objections a big green wave came curling over the place where the passenger stood, and the next thing he knew he was swept off his feet and carried aft over the ropes and boats and all the paraphernalia of a ship's deck and landed in a heap in one corner, where he was saved from being washed overboard. When they got him out he had a broken leg, a twisted shoulder, a sprained wrist, his face looked as if it had been dragged backward through a briar patch and he was unconscious. They carried him to the captain's room and after much effort restored him to consciousness. He gazed around a minute in bewilderment and his eyes fell on the captain.

"By gravy, cap," he said, feebly, "that reminded me of home, only it was a dern sight wetter."—Kansas City Journal.

CITY TO COLLECT TWO OLD DEBTS

ACCOUNTS IN OBEYANCE

Two old debts which Councilman A. G. Roenigk claims can be collected from the street car companies, were placed in the hands of City Auditor Kimball yesterday afternoon for collection, by the special council committee on revenues, of which Mr. Roenigk is chairman. One is for $150 for cleaning Sarah street from South Tenth to South Thirteenth street, at the rate of $150 a year, from 1895, which the Pittsburgh & Birmingham Traction Company agreed to pay the city.

It is stated that $300 has been paid by the company, leaving an unpaid balance of $1,500. The other bill is for the cleaning of snow from the tracks of the entire system of the Pittsburgh Railways Company in Pittsburgh, under a general ordinance passed by councils in 1890. That ordinance requires the street railway companies to clean and keep in perpetual repair the street between and one foot on each side of the tracks.

The city has been cleaning the snow from the tracks every winter at its own expense, and Chairman Roenigk says he wants the Pittsburgh Railways Company to reimburse the city.

Ask Bigelow for Data.

The committee adopted a motion to ask the director of public works to furnish the data of cost of cleaning at the next meeting, and this data is to be turned over to the city auditor, who is to be charged with the collections. This action, however, is dependent on the apoption of a resolution by councils authorizing the employment of the city auditor to do this work at an increased compensation of $1.50 0a year.

This was the total of the business transacted yesterday by the committee, three members of which were present in the mayor's office. The members present were Chairman Roenigk, John Costello and John Taylor. Mayor Hays and Controller Larkin were also present and participated in the proceedings.

There were no "fireworks" between the administration and the controller, in spite of criticisms made by Mr. Roenigk previous to the meeting, in which he accused the controller of endeavoring to obtain the credit for the collection of any revenues by insisting that the city auditor, in this special work, shall be under the jurisdiction of the controller instead of the mayor. Chairman Roenigk said the credit should go to Mayor Hays as the head of the Citizens-Democratic organization.

Controller Has Doubts.

The controller's object in securing jurisdiction in the matter, however, is based on his belief that the administration is not sincere in its intentions to make the corporations pay their debts. As the matter stands, the collection of any revenues from the corporations is wholly in the hands of the mayor because the city auditor is instructed under the resolution to make his reports to the mayor as the mayor requires. This resolution comes up in the finance committee today.

The other matters were discussed informally at the meeting of Chairman Roenigk's committee, but no action was taken on either. Mr. Roenigk claimed that under the Mellon law, enacted by the legislature in 1870, the city could force the Pittsburgh and East Liberty Passenger Railway Company, whose line extends out Fifth avenue to the East End, to pay the city for repairing the streets from curb to curb. Mr. Roenigk said that the act of assembly required the company to keep the streets in which its tracks were located, in perpetual good repair from curb to curb, but this has always been done at the expense of the city.

Claims City Can Get Revenue.

He cited a supplementary act of 1862, which specifies the company shall maintain only the portion of the street between the tracks providing the city councils give its consent to this arrangement but Mr. Roenigk said he had been unable to find any ordinance by which councils granted the company this release.

He said this act of assembly also affected the lines out Wylie avenue and Atwood street. He also declared that under the Mellon act the city could collect 5 per cent of the gross receipts from the Penn and Frankstown avenue lines, the Fifth avenue line, the Pittsburgh & Birmingham line and the Manchester line.

Action on these matters he asked to be postponed until he could consult the city solicitor. He said there was some legal doubt as to whether the city could collect on debts so long overdue. The committee adjourned to meet again next Tuesday morning.

CONTRIBUTIONS START.

Loyal Sons of Two Cities Send Substantial Checks to Aid Fourth of July Celebrations.

Contributions to the Fourth of July fireworks display were received by the mayor yesterday from the following:

Columbia National bank, $250; James I. Buchanan, $100; Pittsburgh Bank for Savings, $25; Western Savings and Deposit bank, $25. It is the intention this year to have a fireworks display only. There will be no speeches, reading of the Declaration of Independence, children's sports, games, races or other sports. There will be no solicitors for subscriptions, and all checks must be sent to the mayor. He hopes to raise about $5,000.

Contributions for the Allegheny fund have also commenced to come in to Director Thomas B. Scandrett's office. The fund at 5 p. m. yesterday aggregated $412 91. The contributions follow: Balance from last year's fund, $60 41; J. and H. Phillips, $20; Charles G. Lowe, $10; Kate A. Jamison, $25; A. T. Thornton, $10; Star Enameling and Stamping Company, $5; C. Merker, $10; H. J. Heinz Company, $25; Duncan Potter Company, $15; W. P. Trimble & Sons, $20; A. Gueckenheimer & Bro., $25; John M. Tarpy, $5; August Loch, $10; T. J. Davis, $5; J. Walter Hay, $10; May Lumber Company, $10; W. Harris & Son, $5; D. Hollander & Sons, $10; Cash, $132 50. Total, $412 91.

Epworth League Will Meet.

The 15th annual convention of the Allegheny district of the Epworth league will be held on Thursday and Friday in the Buena Vista Methodist Episcopal church, Allegheny. Sessions will be held morning, afternoon and evening, during which department work will be discussed, reports heard and officers elected for the coming year.

Machinists Are Given Advance.

Beginning today the machinists in all the shops in the Pittsburgh district will receive a general advance of 10 per cent, as announced by the officers of the Manufacturers' association a month ago. The advances are voluntary and are made without the signing of any scale.

THE HOUSEWIVES' CONGRESS.

A New Feature of the Home Journal Section of The Sunday Gazette.

All women interested in housekeeping are invited to contribute to the "Housewives' Congress," a new department which will be inaugurated in the Home Journal Section June 25. The subject for discussion is, "How Do You Use Left-Overs?" This is something which every housewife has pondered over, for it is a great factor in the economic running of the house, and requires something more than the usual amount of thought and attention. Waste is abhorrent to the prudent woman, and the successful utilization of left-overs stops one of the greatest leaks in household expenses.

The best letters will receive a prize of $3, the next best $2 and the third $1. These are offered merely to show our appreciation of the great interest which our contributors have taken in our practical departments.

All letters must be written in ink, on one side of the paper only, and, if possible, typewritten, and must contain no more than 400 words.

All letters must be signed with the writer's full name and address, which will not, however, be published unless the letter wins a prize. No letters on this subject will be considered after June 10, 1905.

PITTSBURGH CLUB IS CONQUERED BY SQUASH

Its Members Will Spend $44,000 to Give Penn Avenue Club House the Necessary Facilities.

The game of squash, which affords all the strenuosity of lawn tennis and which soon will enjoy all the popularity of ping-pong, has been given the official seal of Pittsburgh's 400. It will be played on the fourth floor of the Pittsburgh club, and the directors of that organization are ready to spend the best part of $44,000 in erecting three squash courts. Incidentally other improvements are to be made in the Penn avenue clubhouse, but squash will get the lion's share.

Squash is comparatively a new game. It is popular in women's colleges and goes well with the latest styles in skirts and cutaway coats. It is smarter than golf and combines all the meritorious features of ping-pong and tennis. It is uncommon enough to be fashionable and as yet is not played in the vacant lots in the suburbs.

Squash made such inroads on the members of the Pittsburgh club that a meeting of the directors a few days ago resulted in an imperative demand being made for facilities for the playing of squash. The directors declared they were from Missouri and asked why. The athletically inclined contingent immediately was heard, with the result that $44,000 was appropriated and Alden & Harlow, architects, were commissioned to prepare plans for the building of the squash courts aforesaid upon the fourth floor of the clubhouse.

Vaudeville at Southern Park.

The vaudeville season at Southern park opened last night to a big audience. The attraction is Bryant & Saville's minstrels. The show is a good one. From the opening chorus to the finale of the first part it is one round of laughter. The olio opens with Robin F. Heath, the boy monologist. The Novelty Comedy Four render a budget of comic and sentimental songs. Bryant and Saville present a laughable musical skit and McGregory and Marshall do a refined singing and dancing act. Performances will be given at the park every afternoon this week at 3:30 and evenings at 8:30.

ROUGH RIDER STATUETTE PRESENTED TO PRESIDENT

Mr. Roosevelt Receives a Figure of Himself "Done" by the Eminent Sculptor MacMonnies.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 5.—President Roosevelt was the recipient today of a beautiful equestrian statuette of himself as colonel of the Rough Riders, which is the latest of the works of the sculptor, MacMonnies.

The presentation was made at the White House by Miss Janet Scudder of New York, a pupil of MacMonnies. Besides the president and Miss Scudder, those present at the ceremony, which was quite informal, were Mrs. Roosevelt, Admiral and Mrs. Dewey and Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Bonaparte.

The president expressed his unfeigned pleasure. "I now feel myself," said he, laughingly, "a really great man. The distinction "being done" by either St. Gaudens or MacMonnies might flatter anybody. I had always hoped to have something in my possession by MacMonnies, but it never occurred to me that I should have something by MacMonnies of me. The statuette is exactly as I should like to have it—the cavalry horse, the Rough Rider clothes and the emblematic support to the whole."

When attention was called to the inscription on the shield, which supports the horse, "Vi Virtute Vir," meaning a man of physical and moral force, the president expressed his pleasure.

"Buffalo Limited" a Big Success—Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Adding New Equipment.

The 10 o'clock limited for Buffalo over Pittsburgh & Lake Erie road has demonstrated, by volume of travel handled, it has come to stay. The management is arranging for additional cars to accommodate the business. It's the popular train for Canadian resorts, arriving there same day. Excursion tickets are now on sale at low fares to all tourist points.

THIEF RETURNS ONCE TOO OFTEN

ROBS PLACE THREE TIMES

On being detected in the act of robbing the money drawer in the junk shop of Houseman & Wimmer, in Greenough street, near Second avenue, Frank Dunin, aged 16, grabbed as much cash as possible yesterday afternoon, and ran from the place, pursued by both members of the firm. Young Dunin was fleet of foot and led his pursuers a long and exciting chase through the Baltimore & Ohio railroad yards to Try street, up which he ran to Second avenue.

Both members of the firm held closely to the trail of the youth and he was being hard pressed, when he reached the Panhandle railroad crossing in Second avenue. He reached the crossing ahead of his pursuers just as a passenger train was pulling slowly over the crossing to the Panhandle railroad bridge over the Monongahela river. With a bound the boy jumped upon the front platform of a car at the head of the train and ran inside a coach. Both Houseman and Wimmer saw the boy board the train and they also jumped aboard, just as the train was getting up speed.

The men then walked through the train and finally came upon young Dunin in a coach crowded with people. The men guarded him till the Birmingham station on the South Side was reached, where the men took Dunin off and led him across the bridge and turned him over to Policeman William McCreedy, who sent Dunin to Central police station. At the police station the boy gave his name and said he lives in Carnegie. The police found $112 80 on Dunin when he was searched. The proprietors of the shop said Dunin took 109 50 from the drawer.

The capture of Dunin clears up a mystery which has baffled the police and the proprietors of the shop for some months. During March the money drawer in the junk shop was robbed of $70, and again in May it was robbed of $85. Dunin is said to have confessed that he robbed the shop on both occasions. Dunin told the police he attends school in the vicinity of the shop and while passing the place he noticed the door was open and nobody about. He opened the money drawer and helped himself to the cash, and, seeing how easy it was, returned to the place for more money. Each time the shop was robbed the proprietors happened to be engaged in the yard in the rear of the shop, and did not see the thief.

JEALOUS LOVER SHOOTS GIRL AND HER ESCORT

ROCKFORD, ILL., June 5.—A double murder was attempted here last night. Miss Belle Harrison, returning from church at Hebron, in company with Charles Peet, last night, met Deli Dasso, a farm hand whose attentions she had declined to accept. Dasso drew a revolver and ordered the young woman to get out of Peet's buggy. She refused and Dasso shot her in the mouth, and then fired a bullet into Peet's breast. Peet will probably die, and the girl also is in a critical condition. Dasso escaped.

WOMAN IN WHITE FIGURES IN CASE

SUGGESTION OF POISON MADE

Thornton Cook, a negro janitor, died last night under strange circumstances. A mysterious white woman, good looking and dressed in white, figures in the case. Who she is nobody knew last night, but as the physician who was called to attend the negro three minutes before he died said that he showed symptoms of being poisoned, the police are trying to find her.

Cook was a well-known character. For some years he had been janitor of several office buildings which extend along Grant street. He weighed about 275 pounds. In summer, every night, he sat on the steps of the office building he lived in, 401 Grant street, and in winter he stood every night on the steps or walked up and down on the sidewalk. Police Captain McCabe, who once had a beat in that neighborhood, said he saw Cook hundreds of times and only once found him more than 20 feet away from the steps, and on that occasion Cook was sweeping the sidewalk in Fourth avenue at 4 a. m.

The building, 401 Grant street, is at the corner of Fourth avenue, extending from Grant to an unnamed alley in the rear. A gate opens from the alley into the little back yard. Last night James Tomtroy, a negro living at 1816 Wylie avenue, was helping Cook clean out the building.

Mysterious Woman in White.

About 9:10 Tomtroy was startled by the appearance of a good looking white woman dressed in white, coming from the rear into the room on the ground floor in which he was working. She was much excited. She told Tomtroy that Cook was in the back yard and was very sick. Tomtroy said he would go for a doctor, and the woman told him to stay with Cook and she would go. Tomtroy ran back to the yard where he found Cook, who was vomiting. Presently Dr. R. E. Mercer of 308 Grant street appeared. He and Tomtroy tried to help Cook into the house but the janitor dropped dead three minutes after the doctor came.

Deputy Coroner Hugh Dempsey took the body to the morgue. Dr. Mercer told Dempsey that he was unable to determine what Cook died of, but the symptoms might indicate poisoning.

Dr. Mercer said that he was in his office when a white woman, rather young and dressed in white, came in and told him that a man was very sick in the back yard of 401 Grant street. The woman then ran out of the office and the doctor supposed she was going to the place whither she had sent him. He was much surprised on arrival to find nobody there but Tomtroy, supporting Cook.

From the fact that the woman went direct to the physician's office, it is supposed that she is familiar with the neighborhood. Police Inspector Robinson after learning the facts in the case sent out some plain clothes men to search for the woman. Cook was 58 years old. So far as known he leaves no family.

Insurance Man Killed by Car.

A man supposed to be J. O. Smith of 207 Walker street, Allegheny, was killed by a street car at Second avenue and the Glenwood bridge at 9 o'clock last night. His body was sent to the morgue by the traction company with no information except that he had been struck by a street car. At the morgue it was found his head had been crushed. A number of papers found in his pockets indicated that he was a life and accident insurance agent, and an addressed envelope contained the name and address stated. He was about 35 years old.

The body of Frederick Straubinger, aged 59, who was killed by a train on the Pittsburgh & Western at Wildwood station Saturday, was identified by a son, Charles Straubinger of 101 Broad street, Salamanca, N. Y. The dead man was a bricklayer and came to Pittsburgh in search of work. His identity was established through a union card found in his pocket.

A verdict of suicide was rendered by a coroner's jury in the death of George Colleen of 317 Brown avenue, McKeesport. Henry Voekel found Colleen lying on a bed in his room Sunday, with his throat cut. A knife and razor covered with blood lay on a shelf nearby. Domestic troubles are assigned as the motive.

The body of the Italian woman who was struck and killed by a freight train at Bessemer on Saturday was identified at the morgue yesterday as Josephine Napoli of North Braddock. The woman will be buried by her friends.

May O'Mara, aged 7, of Braddock, who was injured while rescuing her twin sister on May 23, died on Sunday night at the Homeopathic hospital.

MALTOSE AND HEALTH.

Physicians Say Its Use In The Human System Is of Great Value.

The great value of Maltose as a nutritive substance cannot be exaggerated. In the living organism it is transformed into assimilable sugar more rapidly than saccharose or cane sugar. It is very easy to digest, and having not so sweet a taste as cane sugar, it can be taken in much greater quantities than the latter.

"Malta-Vita" is no meaningless coined word; it stands for its literal translation from the Latin and means exactly what it says—"Malt Life." The original phrase, "For the blood is the life" is the starting point and final winning post of Malta-Vita, which contains a considerable percentage of Maltose, a natural sweetening agent, easily digestible and readily assimilated by the human economy, forming rich healthy blood.

Now for many years the medical profession have prescribed semi-solid Malt Extracts which contain a large percentage of "Maltose," but which costs from fifty cents to seventy-five cents per pound. "Malta-Vita" contains from eight to ten per cent of this wonderful blood-maker and costs but ten cents per package.

The malt extracts are also valuable on account of their containing the great digestive ferment—"Diastase." In the manufacture of Malta-Vita a malt extract is used, one that has been prepared in all its original purity in our own factory, which has a diastasic equivalent of over seventy degrees by the Lintner method of analysis. This diastaste acts upon the wheat and converts part of the already gelatinized starch into "Maltose"—the blood-making and therefore life-giving Malt Sugar. Malta-Vita is now 10 cents per package, the same big package you used to buy for 15 cents.

BRITISH RULER AT STATION

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, June 5.—The king of Spain arrived in London this afternoon. He was welcomed at the railroad station by King Edward. Their majesties arrived at Buckingham palace at 4:38 p. m. The royal visitor was accorded the heartiest reception the whole length of the route. No untoward incident marked the event. The king had previously landed at Portsmouth, being conveyed from Cherbourg on the royal yacht Victoria and Albert and conveyed by British war vessels. He was met by the prince of Wales. On the way from Portsmouth the royal train was brought to a standstill by an obstruction on the line at Farlington. It was at first thought it had been placed there purposely, but it developed that a piece of the Farlington station roof had fallen on the track.

The crowds were somewhat disappointed. In the first place the police precautions were so strict that few persons could get close enough to see the royal visitor. Besides the wet weather made it necessary for the two monarchs to drive to the place in a closed carriage, so that only a passing glimpse was obtained of the Spanish king's boyish face, as he leaned towards the window to acknowledge the cheers of the people. He appeared greatly pleased at his reception, smiling in a natural manner and lifting his cap continually. The carriage was driven at a lively trot and although a roundabout route was followed the drive occupied but a short time.

Besides the two kings the duke of Connaught and prince of Wales were in the carriage. Had anyone desired to injure the Spanish ruler it would have been impossible. The route was lined with troops for show purposes, but the soldiers were backed by a force of the Metropolitan police two deep and at congested points the outer line of infantry was several paces behind the mounted troops, mounted police and foot police four deep, and police and plain clothes men were scattered through the crowd along the line. Close inquiries were made at the hotels, clubs and grandstands to prevent suspicious characters from gaining access to these places of vantage.

CHERBOURG, June 5.—The royal train bringing King Alfonso from Paris arrived here at an early hour this morning. The king proceeded on board the British royal yacht Victoria and Albert, where the British greetings and French farewells were exchanged. The yacht then sailed for England, escorted by the British squadron and French torpedo boat flotilla.

LUNA PARK OPEN TO MULTITUDES

Vast Crowds Throng Pittsburgh's Latest Amusement Center, Looking for Fun.

MUCH WORK YET TO BE DONE

Unless one visited Luna park last night one has not seen Pittsburgh's latest and greatest wonder. For Luna park is more than a place of amusement. It is a wonderland, the like of which Pittsburgh has never seen before.

Luna park opened last night, and if the attendance on the opening night is any augury of what the future will be, the management can dismiss all its fears, if it ever had any. Every part of the great resort was crowded. Thousands were going and coming all the time, while other thousands were staying behind, seeming never to tire of the beauties and wonders of this new amusement place.

To describe Luna park as it is would be impossible. To one who read the "Arabian Nights" when a child and pictured to oneself some of those magnificent enchanted palaces, all built of precious stones, there can come some idea of what Luna park looks like. Only this palace is built of white painted stucco work and is etched out with thousands upon thousands of incandescent electric bulbs. They are everywhere, by the thousands, and not a spot in the park but is as light as day.

The doors were no sooner open last evening than the crowd began to pour in. The manifold attractions of the resort soon found their devotees, or rather the devotees found the attractions. The mystic river, and the roller coaster, and the scenic theater, and the Japanese village, and all the other things which one forgets just on the spur of the moment. Only to get into any of them or onto any of them, was almost an impossibility. If the crowd keeps up as it was last night Luna park is only about one-fourth large enough. It was a case of stand in line and wait your turn to get at any of them. And when the line is 200 feet long, standing gets tiresome after a while.

Was a Magnificent Opening.

But it was a magnificent opening. The weather was so very warm it was driving people out from the city and they were crowding the streets in search of a breath of fresh air. Luna park offered something new, thither they surged by the carload. They went in carriages, in automobiles, in buggies, in all manner of equipages. And they paid their way in and paid their way around and had an elegant time. Overhead fair Luna herself, just a pale, thin crescent, looked down upon the crowd and quickly settled to rest below the western horizon, seemingly well pleased with the fun these Earth people were having in her namesake.

Any person who goes to Luna park to enjoy himself cannot fail to do so. Any person who goes to find fault—well, if Milton is to be believed, Satan found fault in heaven and started a rebellion there. So it is certain faults can be discovered anywhere. But nevertheless it is a wonderful place and a wonderful amount of work has been done. There is still a vast amount to be done. Not a moment is being lost and men went to work last midnight, after the last of the visitors had left the grounds. They will work today until the crowd again assembles and then give way to the merry makers for a few hours. Work will be pushed every minute of the time until the whole is completed. What has already been done has changed a piece of waste ground into a beautiful wonderland.

The "Shoot the Shutes" is not yet ready for shuting. The "Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe" cannot yet entertain any company. Several other attractions are still to be completed, but yet there is plenty to see. The Mystic river is well worth the price. The Japanese tea house looks like one seen on a Japanese fan. Then there is the Japanese curio house and a Japanese game, something like bagetelle, by which you win articles on the shelves, if you are lucky enough. Then "Darkness and Dawn" appeals to the imagination from the outside and more than satisfies those who venture in.

Thousands Like the Dizzy Rush.

The roller coaster is old, of course, but there were plenty there last night who like the tremendous rush around the dizzy circles and the alternate dips and rises. The Japanese heater was patronized to such an extent that it was impossible to get in the door. The scenic theater, where the latest moving pictures were shown, was filled at every performance. Those who went for fun and were willing to put up their money to have it, had plenty of it.

One nice thing about Luna park is that there is not a vulgar display in the entire outfit. There is nothing there to offend the senses of even a prude. Every act is clean and wholesome, and a man can spend an evening there and go away feeling better for having been there. It is restful and it is a change from anything Pittsburgh has had before. Luna park is a success.

Last night's crowd was one of Pittsburgh's best. The hoodlum element was not present, or if present was so outnumbered it had nothing to say. The loud talkers and the noisy silly ones, were not there. It was as nice a crowd as one could expect to meet anywhere. It was a typical American crowd, made up of the common people of a great city.

All went away satisfied last evening, and it is certain they will be back. It is too pleasant a place to stay away from.

The street railway companies gave excellent service last evening and this evening, it is believed, this will be even better.

THE HOUSEWIVES' CONGRESS.

A New Feature of the Home Journal Section of The Sunday Gazette.

All women interested in housekeeping are invited to contribute to the "Housewives' Congress," a new department which will be inaugurated in the Home Journal Section June 25. The subject for discussion is, "How Do You Use Left-Overs?" This is something which every housewife has pondered over, for it is a great factor in the economic running of the house, and requires something more than the usual amount of thought and attention. Waste is abhorrent to the prudent woman, and the successful utilization of left-overs stops one of the greatest leaks in household expenses.

The best letters will receive a prize of $3, the next best $2 and the third $1. These are offered merely to show our appreciation of the great interest which our contributors have taken in our practical departments.

All letters must be written in ink, on one side of the paper only, and, if possible, typewritten, and must contain no more than 400 words.

All letters must be signed with the writer's full name and address, which will not, however, be published unless the letter wins a prize. Letters on this subject will be received after June 10.

W. J. ZAHNISER NAMED FOR COMMISSIONER

Orphans Indorse Former Select Councilman to Succeed J. Carson Mercer.

W. J. Zahniser, a former Pittsburgh select councilman from the Seventeenth ward, but now living in Oakmont, was yesterday indorsed for appointment as county commissioner by the Orphans. The Orphans central committee held a meeting somewhere, but just where the members of the committee would not disclose.

W. H. Stevenson, chairman of the committee, gave out the news after the meeting. He said the committee had been called to meet to discuss the vacancy in the county commissioners' office. The judges of the common pleas courts of the county will appoint Mr. Mercer's successor, and it has been believed that they would indorse the candidate suggested by the Republican organization, Mr. Mercer having been a Republican.

"It was the sense of the meeting," said Mr. Stevenson, "that the apointment of W. J. Zahniser of Oakmont would meet with the approval of the Orphans, on the ground that while in the Pittsburgh councils Mr. Zahniser made a good, clean record and is thoroughly qualified to perform the duties of county commissioner. All the members of the committee but Mr. Larkin, Thomas O'Brien and Charles S. Crawford were present. Mr. Crawford is out of town and Mr. Larkin had a previous engagement."

W. W. Murray, former county commissioner, is hopeful that the lightning will strike him. Mr. Murray said he knew that at least one of the Republican leaders was against him, but he felt confident that the judges would appoint him.

The Citizens party leaders have not yet appointed the committee which is to discuss with a Democratic committee the project of fusion for the coming county campaign. W. J. Brennen, who is authorized to appoint the Democratic committee on fusion, said last night that there was no need of haste, and that he probably would not appoint his committee until the Citizens had named theirs.

The sub-committee which is to draft uniform rules for the government of the Republican organization in Pittsburgh, Allegheny, McKeesport and the county, met yesterday afternoon, but nothing definite was agreed upon.

BOROUGH BOARDS ORGANIZE.

School Directors Meet and Elect Officers in Homestead and Elsewhere.

The Homestead school board met and reorganized last night. In opening bids on the furnishing of coal to the public schools it developed that the Homestead Lumber Company, of which School Director George Wickerham is president, made the lowest bid. The legality of the bid was referred to the board solicitor.

Sheraden school directors met last night and organized. Officers were elected as follows: President, Thomas W. Crotzer; secretary, George F. Smith. The new board follows: First ward, George Hulick; second ward, Dr. Herman Haupt; third ward, W. A. Clark, A. C. Hill; fourth ward, Thomas W. Crotzer, George F. Smith; fifth ward, H. H. Stegall, Samuel Work and John Bardsley. The school directors of Ingram organized last night by electing G. D. McClure president, and Amos Ohl secretary.

LINCOLN WOULD NOT HEAD THE EQUITABLE

CHICAGO, June 5.—(Special.)—Robert T. Lincoln said today: "I have had no notification of any proposed meeting of the committee on nominations of the Equitable society. I suppose no such action as selecting me as chairman of the board will be taken as indicated."

By friends of Mr. Lincoln it was said he would under no circumstances accept such a place.

ROJESTVENSKY ON WAY TO RECOVERY

TOKYO, June 5.—The chief surgeon of the Sasebo naval hospital reports Admiral Rojestvensky's condition as favorable. There is no sign of brain complication. On the inside of the right thigh there is a bruise as large as the palm of the hand and also a pierced wound in the left foot.

KING RECEIVES U. S. AMBASSADOR

Mr. Reid Presents Credentials to British Ruler—Queen Entertains Wife.

WILL ATTEND FESTIVITIES

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, June 5.—Whitelaw Reid, the new American ambassador, had an audience of King Edward at Buckingham palace at noon today and presented his credentials.

Three royal carriages were sent to Dorchester house to convey the ambassador and the members of the embassy to the palace. The first was occupied by Mr. Reid and Col. Douglass Dawson, the king's master of ceremonies. Secretary Carter, Capt. Stockton, the naval attache; Maj. Beacon, the military attache; Second Secretary Craig Wadsworth and Third Secretary Einstein occupied the other carriages.

At the palace Mr. Reid was received by the great officer of state. Foreign Secretary Lansdowne drove up to the palace at about the same time as the ambassador, whom he introduced to the king. The latter wore a field marshal's uniform and was surrounded by his suite. His majesty's reception of the ambassador was most cordial.

While the ambassador was presenting the king with his credentials, Queen Alexandra was receiving Mrs. Reid and Miss Reid. Her majesty showed them the interesting objects in the palace.

The conversation between the king and the ambassador was quite lengthy, his majesty recalling Mr. Reid's previous visits to London and expressing the greatest pleasure at the good relations between the United States and Great Britain. The king also spoke a few words to each member of the embassy.

After the official reception Mr. Reid was ushered upstairs, where his wife and daughter were with the queen, and the ambassador was presented to her majesty. King Edward also came and Mrs. and Miss Reid were presented to him. The king and the ambassador thereupon re-engaged in further conversation. The visit altogether lasted 40 minutes, after which the ambassador and his party returned to Dorchester house in the state carriages, with coachmen and footmen garbed in long scarlet cloaks.

Mr. Reid had already called at Lansdowne house, the foreign secretary having waived a formal call at the foreign office and requested the ambassador instead to call at his private residence.

The ambassador this afternoon called on all the ambassadors and ministers accredited to the Court of St. James. Already a number of English visitors have called at Dorchester house. The ambassador has a busy week ahead. On Tuesday he will be present at the reception of the king of Spain at Buckingham palace, and he will attend with Mrs. Reid the state banquet at the palace the same evening. Wednesday Mr. Reid will be one of the guests at Lord Lansdowne's banquet to the Spanish king. On Thursday, with Mrs. Reid and Miss Reid, the ambassador will attend the review of troops at Aldershot. They will be present at the gala opera performance in the evening, and Friday will attend the court ball.

DESERTERS ARRESTED.

Caught at Shippensburg and Taken to Columbus for Court-Martial.

Sergt. Lewis C. Byeer of Company I, Second United States infantry, stationed at Fort Logan, passed through the city last night over the Pennsylvania railroad for Columbus. With him were two deserters who are to be court-martialed.

The deserters are Robert Alexander and H. Clough. They deserted from Fort Logan on May 11 and were later caught at Shippensburg, their former home. Neither of the soldiers would state why he deserted other than he was tired of such close confinement.

MONUMENT HILL TO BE RETAINED

Finance Committee by Unanimous Vote Decides Against the Seminary.

After a long discussion the committee on finance of Allegheny councils last night recommended negatively the ordinance to return 17 acres, comprising Monument hill, to the trustees of the Allegheny Western Theological seminary of the Presbyterian church of the United States for $1. The ordinance as presented to the committee authorized the mayor and director of public works of Allegheny to enter into a contract with the trustees of the seminary, for the consideration of $1, to annul the lease of that portion of the 17 acres the trustees deeded to the city in 1849, not occupied by tenants, who have sub-let lots from the city.

Edward J. McIlvain, director of public works, explained to the finance committee how the city came by the property and gave a history of the ground in question. He said when the property was given to the city the trustees of the seminary were granted a perpetual loan of $55,000, and the city pays the interest on the loan, which amounts to $2,100 a year. The director said he was opposed to giving parks away to any corporation, firm or individual, and that if the city retains the ground he intends to build driveways and otherwise beautify Monument hill.

Maj. A. P. Burchfield and Deputy Factory Inspector George I. Rudolph, members of the committee of the Allegheny County Grand Army of the Republic association, attended the meeting to look after the interests of the soldiers' monument on Monument hill. Maj. Burchfield said that the county commissioners will not have authority to select Monument hill as the site for the proposed memorial to be erected for the soldiers and sailors of the civil war, unless Allegheny should become a part of Pittsburgh, as the act of assembly specifically states that the memorial hall must be erected at the county seat, which is the city of Pittsburgh.

The trustees of the seminary had no representative present to explain their claims, and the ordinance was sent to councils with a negative recommendation by an unanimous vote. Director McIlvain expressed himself as greatly pleased with the action taken by the committee after the meeting adjourned.

A resolution to pay H. J. Heinz $1,475 for labor and material furnished for the erection of an addition to the municipal hospital in 1903 was also defeated. The resolution was defeated by the last committee on finance of councils.

The resolution fixing the salary of the superintendents of the bureaus of building inspection and markets and the plumbing inspector at $1,800 a year each, and creating the position of page of select council at a salary of $75 a year was recommended favorably.

TO TRY CAPTAIN WILSON.

Allegheny Graft Cases Will Be Called Today in Criminal Court.

Attorneys John C. Haymaker and John Marron, who are assisting the district attorney in the prosecution of the Allegheny graft cases, have planned to take up one of the cases, probably that against Capt. James Wilson, this morning. District Attorney Stewart has not signified which case he will call; he will go over all the cases with his assistants before the trials proceed.

It is expected that the murder case at present engaging the district attorney's attention will be finished in time to permit him to take up the Allegheny work, but if he cannot attend to the graft trial personally, the assistants will take charge of the matter. Attorney Haymaker, who was out of the city yesterday, returned last night in anticipation that one of the cases will be placed on trial this morning.

BOOTH CALLS HIS ARMY TO PRAYERS FOR PEACE

NEW YORK, June 5.—A call to prayer for the restoration of peace between Russia and Japan was received today at the Salvation army headquarters from W. Bramwell Booth, chief of the international staff in London. The call was made by direction of Gen. Booth, who is now in Australia, and appoints the week from June 10 to June 17 as a time for special intercession.

AUTO CLUB READY FOR ORPHANS DAY

TO SPEND DAY AT LUNA PARK

Dr. John A. Hawkins, chairman of the transportation committee; T. R. Hartley, chairman of the route committee, and George L. Hallman, chairman of the entertainment committee, appointed by the Automobile club of Pittsburgh for "Orphans' Automobile Day," met last night at the club house to make final arrangements. The orphans of the institutions of Pittsburgh and Allegheny will be given an automobile outing tomorrow if the day is a good one, and if not then on the first good day.

Something like 85 cars have been offered by owners for the purpose. Many cars were offered if drivers could be procured, as the owners are to be away or will be otherwise engaged. Many electries were offered, but only a few are available on account of the long run. There were a number of offers at the last moment to provide funds to hire cars. In fact, the disposition shown as the event comes near is most generous.

The cars will be at the several institutions at exactly 9 o'clock. Each orphanage will be provided with badges for the children, and each car will have a pennant, separate colors for each one.

Route of the Parade.

The route will be down Federal street, across the Sixth street bridge, up Fifth avenue to Wood and through Seventh avenue to Grant boulevard. At Bellefield avenue the Allegheny division will be joined by the Pittsburgh section. The route will then be through Schenley park and over Beechwood boulevard and Fifth avenue to Highland park, out of it by Stanton avenue, down North Highland avenue to Baum street, to Center avenue, to Luna park, arriving there about 11:30. Where luncheon will be served. The children will be gathered up at 4 p. m. and taken back to their institutions. There is one disappointment in that the children at the Episcopal Church home are deprived of the trip, as a slight showing of measles has just appeared there.

The expense of the outing and all the arrangements devolve upon the Automobile club. The assignment of the cars to the various institutions was made last night and is as follows:

Assignment of Cars.

A Number of Pittsburgh Families Are Spending Their Vacations at Lake Erie Resort.

NORTH EAST, June 5.—(Special.)—During the last few years a number of Pittsburgh families have established themselves here for the summer months, and they are all delighted with the natural advantages of the locality. Driving hereabouts is a delight, the roads being level for the most part, and traversing some of the most picturesque scenery in a state noted for its scenic beauty. Then there is the lake, which always is a source of interest, whether one cares for fishing and boating or not. Bathing in Lake Erie is one of the chief diversions during the mid-summer season, when the hotels and cottages in the neighborhood of the lake front are well filled with guests.

North East is within easy reach of more places of importance than any other summer residence community of this part of the country. Niagara Falls, Cambridge Springs, Buffalo, Erie, Cleveland, Ashtabula Harbor and Conneaut are quickly reached from this point.

Among those who own farms in this vicinity are Dr. William Jones of Allegheny, ex-Prothonotary McQuitty and Mansfield Brown of Sewickley and James C. Bennett, auditor of the Westinghouse industries at East Pittsburgh. Mr. Bennett's farm is known as Rosemere, and is situated on the lake front 2½ miles from the town proper, in one of the most delightful spots along the shore. Mr. Bennett's family will remain all summer, he visiting them every week or two. They recently have been entertaining a number of Pittsburgh friends. Mrs. Bennett is an expert horsewoman, and goes riding or driving daily.

Why Your Feet Burn and Ache

THE smarting, stinging pains in the bottoms of your feet are not caused by standing or walking, as you suppose, but by chemicals left in the sole leather after tanning.

When your feet perspire, these tanning chemicals are dissolved and absorbed, and the bottoms of your feet begin to tan. It makes them ache and smart and swell.

The only way these irritating chemicals can be entirely removed from the hide is by laborious hand scouring. The hides must be kept drenched with water and gone over again and again by hand with a wooden scraper. It takes days and adds dollars to the cost of the hide.

Hanan shoes are soled with scoured leather.

Other manufacturers use unscoured leather for soles, because it is far cheaper, and looks almost the same after the shoes are made up. But it is not the same, because after the tanning is complete the chemicals left in the leather weaken it—make it brittle and unelastic.

Scoured leather—Hanan leather—is tough and firm, yet so perfectly flexible that walking becomes a pleasure.

If you wish relief from aching feet, and appreciate a perfect custom fit in a shoe, stop in at the Hanan store and try on a pair. All styles. The price is $5.00 to $7.00 and the shoe is worth it.

NEWS OF THE NEARBY TOWNS AND SURROUNDING COUNTRY

TICKET IS NAMED BY REPUBLICANS

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]
WASHINGTON, PA., June 5.—The Republicans of Washington county today nominated a full list of candidates for county offices as follows: Additional law judge, the Hon. J. F. Taylor, Washington; prothonotary, H. F. Ward, Washington; clerk of courts, David L. Williams, McDonald; register of wills, Cyrus Morrow, Donegal township; director of the poor, William Courson, Amwell township; coroner, W. H. Sipe, Canonsburg; treasurer, J. C. Moran, Canonsburg; county commissioners, Robert D. Wylie, South Strabane township, and D. W. Myers, West Bethlehem township; auditors, R. P. Stevenson, Burgettstown, and W. A. Kennedy, Courtney. The candidates were nominated by acclamation. The chairman of the convention was Dr. J. E. K. Donaldson of Canonsburg. Strong resolutions indorsing the administrations of President Roosevelt and Gov. Pennypacker were adopted.

The first step in a movement to defeat the Republican candidates was taken today when papers were filed in court giving notice that a Citizens party had been formed and would place candidates in the field. The signers of the affidavit accompanying the papers are: Col. John R. Kuntz, a retired capitalist; R. C. McConnell, former district attorney; Attorneys Harry L. Williams, B. B. McCracken, B. E. Tombaugh, G. F. Baker and O. S. Chalfant, and C. M. Cameron and H. F. Rasel. Three of these are Democrats and the remainder Republicans and all have been active before in leading contests against the Acheson organization. It is intended to fuse with the Democrats.

At the recent Democratic convention the only candidates named were for commissioners, judge and auditors. The Citizens will fill out the remainder of the ticket. The intention is, according to a leading member of the new party, to enlist the support of the Democrats and all the dissatisfied Republicans in the county. They believe that the organization can be defeated.

UNIONTOWN, June 5.—The Democratic convention met in Uniontown today and canvassed the vote of the primaries of Saturday, the following being declared the nominees: Kell Long, New Haven, prothonotary; R. C. Acklin, Luzerne township, treasurer; J. M. Rhoades, High House, and John S. Ritenour, Uniontown, auditors; Albert G. McMullen, Uniontown, poorhouse director; C. H. Storey and J. S. Graham, commissioners. No candidates announced themselves for the nomination for register and recorder and the county committee will make the nomination.

Double Murder, Then Suicide.

HILLSBORO, O., June 5.—Developments today in the investigation into the killing of Madge Dines, aged 14 years, and Nellie Hart, aged 16 years, the former the daughter and the latter the servant of Edward Dines, a farmer living a mile from here, led the authorities to believe that the girls were killed by David Baldwin, a farm hand, aged 19 years, who then blew off his head with a shotgun. There was evidence of a desperate struggle.

Democratic Delegates Named.

COSHOCTON, O., June 5.—(Special.)—The Cassingham faction won in the Democratic mass convention here today and named the following delegates to the state convention: L. D. Schott, J. P. Callahan, J. W. Cassingham, J. L. McDowell, J. Lee Still, L. I. McCammant, Stanley Sharpless, R. L. McKee and W. F. Darling.

KILLING OF JOHN PETE IS STILL UNEXPLAINED

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]
NEW CASTLE, June 5.—(Special.)—The killing of John Pete, who was shot at his home at Hillsville early yesterday morning by an unknown person firing through a window, is still unexplained.

Pete's two great watchdogs were both inside the house and were later found lying quietly near the gate. They usually make a disturbance at the approach of strangers, so it is supposed that the assassin must have been a pretended friend of Pete, and the dogs knew him.

It is said Pete received a message recently warning him to leave the country or meet death. It is difficult to secure accurate information. The Italians are afraid to discuss a report that Pete was a victim of the Black Hand society.

NO TRIAL IS NEEDED.

Judge Wilson Says Motion for Nolle Prosse Would Clear McKendry of Charge of Murder.

BEAVER, June 5.—(Special.)—At the opening session of the June term of court before Judge J. Sharp Wilson, Attorney John M. Buchanan said that he understood District Attorney J. B. McClure would ask for a nolle prosse in the case of the commonwealth vs. William McKendry, for shooting Arthur S. Harris at the Lance place in Independence township last February.

Attorney Buchanan asked the court not to grant a nolle prosse, insisting that the case be tried in order that McKendry be vindicated before the public. Judge Wilson said the court could hardly take evidence in the case merely to acquit the man when the commonwealth said they had no case against him, and by entering the nolle prosse admitted he is innocent.

SALE IS REOPENED.

Beaver Falls Firm to Get Claysville Plant If No Bids Exceed $20,000.

WASHINGTON, PA., June 5.—(Special.)—A hearing in the sale of the defunct South Pittsburgh Iron works at Claysville was taken up this morning on petition of the firm of William A. Reade & Co. of Pittsburgh. The plant was sold at auction to the Penn Bridge Company of Beaver Falls for $18,400. Before the sale was confirmed, the Pittsburgh firm submitted a bid of $20,000 and asked that the sale be not confirmed until their bid was considered. The court today ordered that sealed bids be turned in by all competitors and that if none exceeded $20,000, the original sale to the Beaver Falls concern be confirmed, the firm agreeing to raise its bid to $20,000.

Hotel Rider Sale Confirmed.

MEADVILLE, June 5.—(Special.)—The Hon. Frank J. Thomas, in court this morning, dismissed exceptions filed in the case of O. G. Benson et al. vs. Cambridge Springs Company, to the confirmation of the receivers' sale of the Hotel Rider at Cambridge Springs. He confirmed the sale and Receiver W. D. Rider was directed to deliver to the purchaser, T. M. Nagle of Erie, a deed conveying the property, upon the latter's compliance with the terms of sale.

New Plant for Beaver Falls.

BEAVER FALLS, June 5.—(Special.)—This morning the Union Specialty Manufacturing Company broke ground for a plant for the manufacture of blind stitch sewing machines and typewriters. It is expected the factory will be in operation in 90 days and will give employment to 700 skilled men.

COLUMBUS, O., June 5.—Announcement was made at the governor's office today that A. I. Voorys of Lancaster, had been reappointed state superintendent of insurance. This makes a third term for Supt. Voorys.

FOUR SERIOUSLY HURT IN AN AUTO ACCIDENT

Machine Plunges Over Embankment While Running at High Rate of Speed.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]
COSHOCTON, PA., June 5.—While their automobile was speeding at the rate of 40 miles an hour, four Millersburg men were dashed over a 20-foot embankment near here tonight, as a result of a front axle of the machine breaking. All were seriously injured, two perhaps fatally.

THE INJURED:

JOHN P. THOMAS, owner of the machine; both legs broken; seriously cut and bruised; condition critical.

DAVID WOLGAMUTH, two ribs broken; internal injuries feared; condition serious.

CHARLES LOHOUSE, arm broken; bruised about the body.

JOHN D. DEETZ, arm broken; cut and bruised.

The four had ridden from Millersburg, arriving in Coshocton this afternoon. After spending several hours here they started for Mt. Vernon. They had gone but a short distance when the axle broke. As it plunged over the embankment the machine was completely overturned, and Mr. Thomas was caught under it. While he was thus pinned under the machine the wreckage caught fire. Mr. Lohouse, despite his broken arm and intense pain, saw that Mr. Thomas would be burned to death unless he was promptly rescued, and he heroically worked at the wreckage with his uninjured arm until he had extricated his companion.

The four men were brought to Coshocton in a farm wagon and are receiving medical care here.

COUNCIL REFUSES REPORT.

Claims Connellsville Burgess Has Not Charged Circuses Large Enough License Fees.

CONNELLSVILLE, June 5.—(Special.)—The strained relations between the Democratic town council and Connellsville's Republican burgess, Charles W. Patterson, reached a climax this afternoon, when the council refused to accept the monthly report of the latter on the grounds that the licenses paid by the Pawnee Bill and Wallace circuses in May were not up to the limit required by law. The borough ordinance requires that shows charging an admission of 25 cents pay a license of $25 and 50-cent circuses double that amount. The report showed $15 had been collected from one and $25 from the other. Burgess Patterson declares he followed custom when he charged less than $50 license for the 50-cent circus and is not going to pay the difference out of his own pocket.

The trouble between the executive and the council started when the burgess discharged a policeman a month ago and he was reinstated by the council police committee.

Doesn't Like Him Around.

UNIONTOWN, June 5.—(Special.)—Alleging that she fears bodily harm, Mrs. Lola Engle, who received a shoe containing dynamite recently, caused an information to be made against Harry Artis of Uniontown, who has given bail for a hearing. The arrest does not connect Artis with the shoe incident, but Mrs. Engle alleges that Artis is in the habit of walking about her premises.

BREWERS ARE INDICTED MORE THAN 6,000 TIMES

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]
MOUNDSVILLE, W. VA., June 5.—The grand jury of Marshall county broke all records today when it presented 6,101 indictments against brewers for selling beer here without retailers' licenses.

The indictments are based upon a decision of the state supreme court that a license to brew does not carry with it the right to sell. The brewers took out licenses to sell at wholesale, but refused to accept the compromise offer of Tax Commissioner C. W. Dillon to settle with the state for two years back. The brewers involved are the Schmulbach and Reyman companies of Wheeling, the Uneeda and Balzer of this city, and the Bellaire and Martins Ferry breweries.

They will fight this matter through all the courts, and in the meantime similar action against them will be taken in other counties.

JUDGE KOOSER REVERSED.

Superior Court Decides That Bondsmen's Names Need Not Appear on Petitions for Licenses.

SOMERSET, June 5.—(Special.)—Judge Francis J. Kooser this evening granted 11 liquor licenses, which he held several weeks ago to be defective, inasmuch as the petitions did not contain the names of the bondsmen. They were appealed to the superior court, where Judge Kooser's decision was reversed.

Judge Kooser, in his opinion when he refused to allow the petitions to be amended, said: "We would allow the amendments and grant the licenses if we thought we had the power to do so." Apparently he granted the licenses on the strength of the superior court's opinion.

NEW PRESIDENT FOR REPUBLIC

A. W. Thompson Will Resign to Become Chairman of the Executive Committee.

WIRE MILL IS TO BE BUILT

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]
YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 5.—According to information given out here the Republic Iron and Steel Company will be completely reorganized at the meeting of the company in October. President A. W. Thompson, it is understood, will not again be re-elected, but will be made chairman of the executive committee, succeeding Col. C. Watson French. The name of the new president, although already decided on, has not been given out. It is possible that Col. French may remain on the directorate.

There is no doubt of the removal of the general offices to Youngstown. The president and the greater part of the officers will make their headquarters here. Mr. Thompson as the head of the executive committee, though, will be in New York, while a sales agency will be established in Calcago.

The fact that the company will go into the wire business has been surmised for some time. Now there is no question of it. A wire mill will be built in a very short time and other vast improvements made.

The men who are back of these changes and improvements will be able to carry them through. They are experienced in the iron and steel business and are not going into the matter without seeing the successful outcome of their plans.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains the linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it, or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, and a book that tells all about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing be sure to mention that you read this generous offer in The Pittsburgh Daily Gazette. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

UNION NAVY VETERAN RECALLS BIG FIGHT

Today Marks 43d Anniversary of Sanguinary Engagement Between Rams and Gunboats.

Thrilling accounts of the recent encounter between the two modern war fleets in the far east, lends special interest to those who participated and can recall the engagements between the crude navies of the north and south during the civil war.

Today marks the 43d anniversary of the naval battle off Memphis. Among those who participated was W. F. Weible of Allegheny, at that time second master of the ram Lioness of the Mississippi river ram fleet. Mr. Weible has in his possession a duplicate copy of the original letter sent by Commander C. H. Davis of the union navy, to Secretary of the Navy Gideon Wells, immediately after the engagement, giving an account of the fight. The letter in part, is as follows:

Off Memphis, June 6, 1862.

Hon. Gideon Wells, Secretary of the Navy.

Dear sir: I arrived here last night accompanied by the mortar fleet and Eliot's rams. We anchored a mile and one-half above the city. This morning I discovered the rebel fleet, which had been re-inforced and now consisting of eight rams and gunboats, lying at the levee. The engagement, which commenced at 5:30 a. m. and ended at 7 o'clock, terminated in a running fight. I was ably supported by the ram fleet under command of Col. Eliot, who was conspicuous for his gallantry and who is seriously wounded. The result of the action was the capture, or destruction, of vessels of the rebel fleet as follows: Gen. Beauregard, blown up and burned; Gen. Price, one wheel carried away; Jeff Thompson, set on fire by a shell and blown up; Sumpter, badly cut up by shot, but will be repaired; Little Rebel, boiler exploded by a shot, but will be repaired.

Besides these, one of the rebel boats was sunk in the beginning of the action, but its name is not known. A boat supposed to be the Vandorn, escaped from the fleet by her superior speed. Two rams are in pursuit. The officers and crews of the rebel boats endeavored to make the shore, but many of their wounded and men are now prisoners in our hands. The mayor surrendered the city after the engagement.

Flag Officer Commanding.

INCREASED DEMAND FOR RURAL MAIL DELIVERY

Routes Are Being Established at the Rate of Six Hundred a Month.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]
WASHINGTON, June 5.—According to a report made to the postmaster general by the fourth assistant, there is no abatement in the demand for free rural delivery routes in all parts of the country. Free rural delivery is proving a great success and it has long since passed the experimental stage.

At present there are 4,708 petitions pending for the establishment of routes, while a year ago there were but 3,470. Rural routes are now being established at the rate of 600 a month, and with the beginning of the next fiscal year, on July 1, a large number will be established, effective August 1.

There are now 1,737 routes in operation in Pennsylvania, an increase during the year of 340, and there are 183 petitions for routes pending before the department. The first route established in Pennsylvania was at Ruffsdale, January 21, 1896. L. W. STRAYER.

NO ARREST MADE.

Injustice to Milton Baird in Connection With Shooting Is Gladly Righted.

In a report in The Gazette of yesterday morning, telling of the shooting of Charles Smith, a negro, by James Riley, another negro, at Glenfield on Sunday, it was stated that "J. K. Scandrett of Allegheny was riding with Mr. and Mrs. Milton Baird through that section of the country and they were informed of the shooting by a woman. Scandrett went to the scene of the accident and placed Baird under arrest, taking him to Glenfield station."

As a matter of course it was an error, self-evident to any intelligent reader, to state that Mr. Baird was arrested by his friend, Mr. Scandrett, with whom he was riding, especially as there was nothing in the report to indicate that they were near the scene of the shooting at the time it occurred. Mr. Baird and his wife were riding with Mr. Scandrett when informed of the shooting. They were requested to go for a physician and this they did. That was the only connection these gentlemen had with the affair.

NATIONAL GAMES TODAY.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, June 5.—Followers of Frank Selee's band of young hopefuls had a chance to do some cheering at the West Side park this afternoon when the aforesaid got back at the vicious Pittsburgh Pirates and trimmed them to the tune of 4 to 3. The joy that pervaded the sizzling bleachers in the eighth inning was so intense that the loyal fans almost succeeded in forgetting yesterday's humiliation. Clarke's huskies took an early lead and the spectators settled down to watch the final obsequies when the fireworks began. When the battle smoke cleared three white ghosts had scooted around the corners and they broke up the game.

From the local standpoint there was nothing to the game except that single inning. Up to that time Pittsburgh had an apparently safe lead and Schoolmaster Leever was putting them over with clock-like regularity. The Cubs themselves submitted to the slaughter in a spiritless kind of way. The long string of defeats weighed heavily on them, as possibly did also the 90-degree heat that blistered the bats. So it was until the eighth. Possibly Dr. Selee received a consignment of dope just then and administered it to the nature of his weary pie. They came forth with bold mein and cavorted about the bases like real champions and slashed at the ball with vigor.

The Giant Pfeffer was sent in to hold Leever, and aside from the third inning, he kept the hits fairly well scattered. Leever, too, was going some and held the Cubs under his thumb until the eighth. Then they forfook him and landed on him for three singles and a double, winning the game by the margin of one run.

Hans Wagner was the bright particular star of the game. Hans succeeded in getting on the bases every time he came to bat. Three times he walloped the ball into safe territory and the other time he sent a grounder to Evers which fumbled and Wagner was there with the stick, but his base running was remarkable.

In the second inning Wagner made the circuit for the first run. He led off with a single and after being advanced to second by a nice sacrifice on the part of Clancy, he was brought in with a single by Leach. In the third Howard scored on his single followed by a two-bagger by Clarke, who was then sent to third on Beaumont's out and crossed the plate when Evers fumbled Wagner's grounder. The rest of the game was a blank for the Pirates.

In the fifth Evers went around on his single followed by Casey's out and Leach's wild throw to first of O'Neil's grounder. Three singles and a two-base hit put three of the Cubs around in the eighth, giving them the victory. The score:

M'KEESPORT HARD RUN BY THE FAIRMONT TEAM

McKeesport won from Fairmont (W. Va.) yesterday, 5 to 4. Glassburner was responsible for two runs by poor throwing to bases. He pitched great ball, however, not a man reaching first during the first six innings, and allowing but two hits, one of which came in the sixth and the other in the ninth. Capt. "Hump" Soffel left the grounds before the game was over. Fairmont came near snatching the game in the ninth. Score:

Warm Evening in Theaters

Vaudeville at the Alvin.

The Alvin seems to take quite kindly to vaudeville, and through the skill of Manager Davis the "continuous" thread was taken up where the Avenue fire burned it off and tied gracefully and effectively to the historic old Alvin stage. The bill this week is not distinguished and there are spots in it that drag heavily. At the same time there are some bright numbers that indicate how well vaudeville will stand hot weather. The Bovier opera company is a distinct and painful disappointment. But for the charming voice of Miss Myrtle Holmes in some of the vocal passages, the act would be almost ridiculous, both vocally and dramatically. Herr De Bovier, who sings Othello in a badly lacerated version of the last act of Verdi's famous opera, has a thin tenor voice of neither quality nor range. Dramatically he chases the fair Desdemona around the room in frantic fashion, uttering staccato sounds and jerking his arms nervously. After dispatching his spouse Othello stabs himself in the neck in a way that would dissolve any suicide club in the world. In the tender invocation song Miss Holmes sings with fine expression and her voice throughout is quite the best thing in the sketch.

Olive May and John W. Albaugh, Jr., do a little sketch which is a rather inconsequential farce, the chief charm of which is Miss May's comedy. Her Kansas stump speech in support of protection was admirably and humorously delivered. Besides these the bill contains the astonishing Valdares in a sensational bicycle act, a decided novelty in Valvevo's panoramic bombardment scene of the battle of Port Arthur; Ward Baker, who won applause for some fine violin playing; Aurie Dagwell, who is popular here; Willie and Edith Hart and Quinlan and Mack, were some of the other entertainers who deserve special mention.

Bijou—"The Convict's Daughter."

This melodrama is familiar to Bijou audiences and there was a good audience to welcome its return yesterday at that theater, despite the warm weather. The tramp of Frank Russell, who plays the role of the unwilling villain, is well done, and the characters generally get about as much sense and dramatic coherency out of the play as the lines and situations will permit. The story is melodramatic rot, but it pleases those who love melodrama, and to see virtue triumph over vice. The mechanical effects are excellent and the escape from Sing Sing is accomplished by Weary Willie with a finesse that exacts loud applause.

Nixon—"Checkers."

The second and last week of "Checkers" began last evening at the Nixon, and despite the sudden plunge into warm weather a fair-sized audience followed the fortunes of the resourceful Checkers. Mr. Ross and his associates play their parts with fine intelligence, and as an entertainment, even for June weather, we could hardly imagine a more interesting one than this play of American spirit and atmosphere.

Yiddish Drama at Duquesne.

The terrors of the sudden heat did not prevent a large audience of admirers of the Yiddish play from assembling at the Duquesne theater last night. David Kessler, with some members of the Thalia theater company of New York, presented Jacob Gordon's drama, "Kreutzer Sonata." The company, with the exception possibly of Mme. Epstein and Mme. Nadolsky, was uniformly inferior in the support given the star. Mr. Kessler is an actor of somewhat rugged mold, but of great natural force. His Raphael was sometimes wrought on high emotional lines, but always with admirable knowledge of the character. In this role the student of the drama had his chief if not only sincere pleasure. The audience, which was a large one, gave loyal and enthusiastic attention, despite the dramatic defects here and there. It was a strangely conglomerate audience, but evidenced the love of the drama among a race that has never had a national drama. The order went forth at the door that no babes in arms would be admitted, but too late to bar out several, who, fortunately, seemed to understand that they were under the ban of exclusion, and behaved accordingly.

THE HOUSEWIVES' CONGRESS.

A New Feature of the Home Journal Section of The Sunday Gazette.

All women interested in housekeeping are invited to contribute to the "Housewives' Congress," a new department which will be inaugurated in the Home Journal Section June 25. The subject for discussion is, "How Do You Use Left-Overs?" This is something which every housewife has pondered over, for it is a great factor in the economic running of the house, and requires something more than the usual amount of thought and attention. Waste is abhorrent to the prudent woman, and the successful utilization of left-overs stops one of the greatest leaks in household expenses.

The best letters will receive a prize of $3, the next best $2 and the third $1. These are offered merely to show our appreciation of the great interest which our contributors have taken in our practical departments.

All letters must be written in ink, on one side of the paper only, and, if possible, typewritten, and must contain no more than 400 words.

All letters must be signed with the writer's full name and address, which will not, however, be published unless the letter wins a prize. No letters on this subject will be considered after June 15.

Address the Housewives' Congress, Home Journal Section, The Pittsburgh Gazette.

The interior work will be finished by that time, the sub-station of the Carnegie library will be installed, and the reception will afford friends of the work an opportunity to see the house and meet the women who are establishing this new philanthropic institution. The musical program will be presented by Mrs. J. D. Arnold and Mrs. C. P. Nachod. Refreshments will be served by a number of young women. The committees appointed include the following: Music, Mrs. Arnold and Mrs. Nachod; library, Mrs. Lucien Swissman; invitations, Mrs. Dallas Albert and Mrs. J. C. Dick; flowers, Mrs. Jesse A. Hall; refreshments, Mrs. Livingston and Mrs. Stopford; house committee, Mrs. Rufus Martin.

Make Application for Art Gallery.

The Duquesne Ceramic club yesterday decided to make application for the Carnegie Art Galleries in which to hold the next annual spring exhibition. The club yesterday arranged to receive the traveling exhibit of the League of Mineral Painters, which will reach Pittsburgh next November. The exhibit was shown in Chicago at the same time the club was holding the local exhibition, and for this reason the work of the Pittsburgh painters who received prizes for the same class of work this spring will not appear in the traveling exhibit unless they be included when it reaches Pittsburgh. The exhibit is now making a tour of the cities which have clubs which are also members of the league.

Business Women Elect Officers.

The Business Women's club held its annual meeting last evening in the club house in Arch street, Allegheny. An address was delivered by Miss Florence Brown, general secretary of the Central Young Women's Christian association, and an exhibition of the work of the various classes during the past winter was conducted. The election resulted in the following being placed in office: President, Miss Kate C. McKnight; vice president, Mrs. John Cowley; secretary, Mrs. Robert Cleland; treasurer, Mrs. W. B. Epley, with the entire board of directors re-elected.

Senator Elkins' Railroad Bill Will Not Prevent Accidents

An official of the Pennsylvania railroad has the following to say regarding the hauling of explosives: "The danger connected with the transportation of dynamite and similar explosives has been shown not only by the recent accident near Harrisburg, but by numerous others in this and foreign countries. The prevailing ideas which are suggested as remedies for this menace to life and property in transportation are based on various safeguards surrounding the material, and on special cars in handling the explosives in transit. A bill prepared by Senator Elkins is intended to regulate the transportation of high explosives on railroads. He will present the bill at the next session of congress. It provides for greater care in placing cars containing such material in the train, requires them to be marked in some conspicuous way, and when not in transportation to be side-tracked outside of city limits. While such a law may be of some benefit in reducing the danger, it cannot prevent it. The middle of the train length would ordinarily be regarded as the safest place for a car of explosive material, but in the Harrisburg accident it proved to be the very worst place."

Passenger Travel Heavy.

The railroads leading into Pittsburgh are just now having large passenger travel. Although the summer season is barely opened, yet the patronage is far beyond what was expected by the officials. The agents have arranged for several big parties, not only for nearby resorts, but for long trips. The excursion business this season is expected to be above that of any previous year. Prosperous times and low rates, made possible by reason of increased operating facilities, is one reason why travel is so heavy.

Creates New Position.

The Reading railway has created the position of engineer of maintenance of way for the entire system, including the Atlantic City line, and appointed C. H. Ewing in charge. The company also announces the appointment of the following agents: H. M. Landis, Hillside; Davis G. Moyer, West Point; A. G. Jenkins, Mainville; M. L. Stahl, Clement; S. A. Kochenberger, Millway; J. E. Stump, East Petersburg; J. McAnally, Stratford; L. A. Krause, Sea Isle City.

Receives Large Order for Airbrakes.

The Westinghouse Airbrake Company has received an order from the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company to equip 5,000 cars with airbrakes. The shops of the company are rushed with orders for railroad safety appliances. Since the first of the year the company has received orders for the friction draft gear for those equipments of 150,000 cars from nearly all the larger railroads of the country.

Rushing Work on Freight Line.

Officers of the Pennsylvania railroad are making every effort to have the low grade freight line between Glen Loch and Marysville completed before the heavy traffic of winter begins. General Superintendent Creighton of Altoona left yesterday on an inspection of the freight line. When completed only fast freight and passenger trains will use the present main line.

Railroad Notes.

At the last meeting of the National Association of General Passenger and Ticket Agents, 80 railroads reported they were using safety paper for interchangeable tickets. This paper will not permit erasures, thus reducing scalping to a minimum.

The Indiana railroad commission has requested all railroad companies to furnish a list of the persons who are using passes.

PITTSBURGHERS ARE MINING GOLD

H. L. Stewart of Sumpter, Ore., Disposes of a Big Interest in Standard Consolidated.

TELLS OF COL. GUFFEY'S MINE

"Pittsburghers who have invested in the Cracker Creek, Red Boy, Bonanza and Quartzburg districts of Eastern Oregon need not fear that the Sumpter smelter will join the trust. The interest and honor of myself and associates are pledged to keep the smelter independent. It is a money-making proposition and we are perfectly satisfied with results."

This remark was made yesterday at the Hotel Henry by H. L. Stewart of Sumpter, Ore. Mr. Stewart arrived in Pittsburgh three days ago and will remain here several days more. A good deal of interest is felt in Pittsburgh in the possible fate of the Sumpter smelter, for Pittsburghers are investing every day in the districts, all contiguous, mentioned by Mr. Stewart. The smelter has a capacity of 200 tons daily. If the so-called "smelter trust" bought it and followed its probable tactics of shutting it down, producers of gold, copper and cobalt ore would have to do as they did before and pay $8 a ton to ship their ores and concentrates to Tacoma, Wash., whereas now the cost of sending ores to Sumpter, a central point for the districts, is merely nominal compared with the cost of shipping it to Tacoma.

The Sumpter district is not far from the famous "Bonanza" mine, owned by Hays & Guffey, the latter being Pittsburgh's own Col. James M. Guffey. They bought the mine some years ago from the discoverer, Albert Geiser, for $500,000. The mine, which produces free milling ore, has been running 40 stamps some years. The shaft is down 1,200 feet, and while the owners keep their own counsel, experts calculate that the mine shows enormous profits. The owners of the Bonanza recently bought the Bailey-Elkhorn mine, it is understood, so Mr. Stewart says. It had been poorly managed for years, but for some time it has been shipping concentrates to the Sumpter smelter, and a 3,000-foot tunnel is being driven.

Mr. Stewart is a mining man. As a boy he worked in the mines at Virginia City, Nev., owned by Flood, Fair, Mackey and O'Brien, among them the "Big Bonanza," which produced many fortunes for its owners. He has shouldered for years the prospector's pack, pick and pan, and had his run of good and bad luck. He is enthusiastic, not only about the richness of Eastern Oregon ores, but also about the scenery, the fishing and hunting, and he believes that Pittsburghers who have made investments in mines in Eastern Oregon would enjoy a trip through the beautiful country surrounding Sumpter, full of bold creeks, precipitous mountains, giant Oregon pines and lovely lakes.

Mr. Stewart has sold to a party of Pittsburghers, whose names he is at their request not ready to disclose, a large interest in the Standard Consolidated mine in the Quartzburg district.

"As a smelter man I am interested in developing every mine in the districts surrounding Sumpter," said Mr. Stewart, "and for that reason my associates and I disposed of 150,000 shares in the Standard Consolidated mine. The money will be used to build a large milling and treating plant, and thus grist will be brought to the smelter, which is owned by the Oregon Smelting and Refining Company. Having disposed of all the stock in the Standard mine that is for sale, I can have no ulterior object in praising it, but the men of your city who have invested will not regret their move. It is a tunnel proposition; no expensive shaft work. The tunnels now driven show $2,000,000 of gold-cobalt-copper ore in sight; the mine owns 500 acres of land, title perfectly good; controls a water right of three miles on Dixie creek, and the entire surface of the tract is covered with a heavy growth of Oregon pine, assuring an inexhaustible supply of mine timbers. The only electric drills in that territory are being operated in the mine; a sawmill, owned by the mine, is turning out 10,000 feet of lumber a day, and the mill, owned by the mine, has on hand 400,000 feet of logs all ready to saw. Samples of gold-cobal-copper ore from the Standard Consolidated took the first prize at the Paris, Buffalo and St. Louis exposition, and there is now on exhibition at the Portland exposition 5,000 tons of the ore.

TROUBLE IS PROMISED FOR BUTLER DEMOCRATS

BUTLER, June 5.—At the Democratic county convention this afternoon Edward A. McShane was elected county chairman and John H. Reiber and Harry T. Ratligan secretaries. Resolutions were adopted indorsing the state and national platforms and the ticket nominated. The official count was necessary to determine the nominees for county commissioner. William H. Grube of Jefferson township had a commanding lead and late returns gave George F. Easley of Buffalo a majority of 13 votes over John F. Eichart of Evans City for county commissioner. This evening it is understood Eichart is angry and his friends are claiming he was counted out and are talking of making a contest.

ALLOWS BUILDING OF NEW OPEN HEARTH PLANT

An amicable settlement has been effected between the Pennsylvania railroad and the officials of the Homestead Steel works in regard to crossing facilities at Homestead. The steel company will extend the present hot-metal bridge across the Pennsylvania tracks and run sidings to the site of the 50 new open-hearth furnaces it wishes to build. The construction of these furnaces will be rushed.

HAS HIS LITTLE JOKE IN AUGUSTA BRIDGE CASE

Secretary Taft Says He Finds That City's Contention Against a Railroad Would Also Apply to Municipal Structures.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Secretary Taft today issued an order postponing for three years the insertion of draws in four bridges spanning the Savannah river at Augusta, Ga. By this order the city of Augusta is partially extricated from a dilemma resulting from the effort made by certain prominent citizens of Augusta to get the best of the Southern railway, which owns two of the bridges.

The city council of Augusta, more than a year ago, claimed that the portion of the river spanned by the railway bridges was navigable, and the war department was asked to compel the Southern railway to insert at a considerable expense a draw in each of its bridges. In his order Secretary Taft has his little joke at Augusta's expense, saying:

"The situation now appears to be that the anxiety of the citizens of Augusta to require the Southern railway bridges to have draws inserted in them came not so much from the serious desire to facilitate river navigation as the desire to compel the railway company to furnish certain siding accommodation to the large manufacturing interests of the city of Augusta, which heretofore the railway company had not been inclined to do. Neither the applicants nor the city council had taken into consideration the fact that an order against the railway company was utterly futile for the purpose for which it must have been entered, namely, to remove unreasonable obstructions to navigation, unless it was accompanied by a similar order against the city, which must involve the city in an expense equal to that of the railway company in placing a draw in each of its two bridges."

DIES GIVES HIS OPINION OF FIRE

FURNISHES NO LESSONS

"The burning of the Avenue theater furnished no new lessons in the prevention of fires in show houses," said S. A. Dies, superintendent of the bureau of building inspection, yesterday, at the conclusion of his investigation as to the cause of Friday's conflagration. He has just communicated an informal report to Director Moore of the department of public safety, and was ready to discuss the mysteries of the big blaze.

"A mistaken idea has gone abroad that the fire broke out on the stage," said Superintendent Dies. "If such had been the case we would have an opportunity to discover if the automatic arrangements worked properly, and to profit by the experience. The fact is the fire started in front of the proscenium arch, and burned forward toward Fifth avenue and the back of the auditorium. The flames originated in a loft near the ushers' dressing rooms, and this gave the impression that they began their work of devastation in the files.

"A careful investigation by building inspectors and an examination of those who first saw the fire convinces me that the blaze burst out first in the ceiling of the auditorium. The building was doomed before the fire was discovered, and it is impossible to accurately reach the conclusion whether or not the automatic skylight, which allows the blaze on the stage to burn directly skyward, the automatic curtain and the fire doors worked properly. Inasmuch as the fire was in front of the proscenium arch it matters little how these arrangements were operated.

"If the building had been occupied by an audience and the usual attaches, there is no doubt that the fire would have been discovered early and the structure still would be standing. As to whether there would have been any fatalities is open to conjecture. Pittsburgh audiences are cool and they have been benefited by a number of drills in several incipient fires which have broken out in local theaters during the last year.

"This bureau makes regular inspections of all the theaters and insists upon the safety appliances which are required by law regarding the interior arrangements of the buildings. This fire will result in increased vigilance, but we have learned no lessons from it except that the best safeguard against a panic is a straight exit and a cool head."

Workmen were busy yesterday removing the damaged walls of the theater. Fifth avenue was blockaded and the tenants of isolated buildings complained bitterly of their ill luck. Trolley cars are not likely to be operated via Fifth avenue for several days. The insurance adjusters will be ready to make their report tomorrow. Plans for the erection of a new building on the site have not been made.

CASTORIA COMPANY WINS.

Charles H. Fletcher Secures Injunction Against Alleged Imitators.

DETROIT, MICH., June 5.—(Special.)—A permanent injunction has just been granted by Judge Swan of the United States circuit court against the Moxon Liniment Company of Mt Clemens, Mich., on complaint made by Charles H. Fletcher of New York City, charging the Mt. Clemens concern with imitating his Castoria. The decree orders the defendant company to turn over for destruction all wrappers, labels, electroplates, etc., and in addition to pay the Fletcher company $250 in lieu of damages.

FIVE YOUNG WOMEN ARE GIVEN THEIR DIPLOMAS

Commencement Exercises at Pennsylvania College for Women Last Night Attract Large Crowd.

The annual commencement exercises of the Pennsylvania College for Women were conducted last evening and a class of five young women received the degree of bachelor of arts. The exercises were held in Dilworth hall, which has been rebuilt and remodeled since the fire of less than a year ago, and looked more attractive than before in its new decorations. A handsome pipe organ has been installed and adds much to the effective equipment of the college.

The hall was crowded last evening with students and their friends. The address of the evening was delivered by Dr. George B. Carey of Lincoln university, who made a scholarly plea for a national literature.

Encouragement was given to the alumnae and friends of the college by the announcement from the board of trustees that it is expected the endowment of $100,000 needed will be raised by next January, but it will require the united efforts of all to bring this about.

The presentation of the diplomas, with the giving of the degree, was made by Dr. Samuel A. Martin, president of the college. The graduates are Miss Frances Fitzgibbon, Miss Harriet Bower Kerr, Miss Helen Moore, Miss Nancy Elizabeth Pew and Miss Florence Van Wagoner. The degree of masters of arts was conferred upon Miss Elizabeth M. Van Wagoner. The award of the gold medal and prize established in memory of Miss Annie Kearns was made to Miss Cora Boardman, who also was presented with the annual medal and prize given by the Pittsburgh School of Design, now combined with the art department of the Pennsylvania College for Women.

The commencement exercises in Dilworth hall were followed by the president's reception, which was conducted in the college drawing rooms. Palms were effectively grouped about the apartments and halls and flowers added to the charm of the occasion, the closing feature of the commencement season.

KNOCKS OUT "REDDY" MASON.

Chief of Police of Monongahela City Also Puts to Sleep Jack McClelland.

MONONGAHELA, June 5.—(Special.)—Chief of Police Leo Logan tonight knocked out Jack McClelland of Pittsburgh, who claims the lightweight championship of Pennsylvania, and "Reddy" Mason, promoter of prize fights of Pittsburgh, and placed McClelland in jail for a hearing tomorrow morning.

"Pop" Berringer and "Young" Zirlinger, 100-pounders, the latter Mason's protege, fought six rounds and Referee "Kid" Harris called it a draw. Immediately "Reddy" challenged the decision and struck Harris. Chief of Police Logan stepped across the ring and sent Mason sprawling. Jack McClelland tried to get close to Logan and received the same kind of swing to the jaw, which floored him. Then Logan took McClelland to the lockup, where he was revived. In the meantime Mason was revived, and together with Dick Cole of Philadelphia and Larry Temple of New York, who were to fight, left town.

STATE LETS CONTRACTS.

Awards Made for Supplies for Printing Department—Pittsburgh Firm Lowest Bidder on Several Items.

HARRISBURG, June 5.—The contract for furnishing cuts and plates to the state printing department for the next two years was today divided between C. H. Elliott and E. A. Wright of Philadelphia, who were the lowest of nine bidders. The contract for the state paper was divided between Johnson & Co. and M. H. Plank of Harrisburg, Wolf Bros., I. N. Megargee & Co., and Whiting Paper Company, Philadelphia.

Alling & Cory of Pittsburgh were the lowest bidder on several items, but until Attorney General Carson decides whether their bid is in proper form the contract for these items will not be awarded. The law requires that two bondsmen be furnished, but Alling & Cory submitted the name of only one—the Title Guaranty and Trust Company of Scranton. The Pittsburgh firm understood from the attorney general that one surety company upon a bond is of the same value as two individuals.

Award Number of Contracts.

Mayor James G. Wyman and Director E. J. McIlvain of Allegheny yesterday opened bids for the following contracts: Scrap iron; grading, paving and curbing Falck and McIntyre avenues; construction of sewers on Western and McClure avenues, Selbert, McDonald, Orleans, Peebles and Boundary streets, and Robinson road; one three-ton asphalt roller and 125 tons of asphalt.

GAZETTE FINDS MISSING HEIR

WILSON IS ONLY LIVING SON

"Through the good work of The Gazette, I have been enabled to locate the only living heir to the David Jamison, better known as David James, estate," said Attorney H. G. Walker yesterday. Mr. Walker is executor and trustee of an estate of about $15,000, left by David James of Wilkinsburg to his three sons, their heirs or representatives, whom he had not seen for 40 years.

Recently The Gazette printed exclusively the strange story embraced by the provisions of David James' will. The following day The Gazette printed a story to the effect that Wilson Jamison, a Brooklyn (N. Y.) fireman, who was at that time a patient in a hospital in that city, claimed to be one of the sons of James.

The provisions of the will as printed in The Gazette, and the story of the Brooklyn man claiming to be a son, created quite a sensation in Pittsburgh, where James was well known.

Story of a Double Life Disclosed.

Taken together they disclosed the story of the double life James had been living, he having deserted his first wife and three children, two of whose names he was not sure of, 40 years ago in Brooklyn. He had not seen nor heard from any of his family since that time. According to James' own story, as related in his last testament, after deserting his family in Brooklyn, he came to Pittsburgh, changed his name from Jamison to James, and married a second time. His second wife died about two years ago without knowing he had been married before and had children and a wife living in New York.

Since the location of the only living son, the fireman in the Brooklyn hospital, a still stranger portion of the story has come to light. The first wife lived and died without knowledge that she was a deserted woman. She struggled through life under the belief that her husband had been drowned in the North river. She died last August, over a year and a half after the second wife, believing to the end that she was going to meet a faithful husband in the great beyond.

David Jamison was a Reformed Presbyterian, always attended church and professed to be a Christian. His only living relative, backed by the statements of Alexander Ray, a life insurance agent and a brother-in-law of the testator, says he never had a cross word with his Brooklyn wife, seemed to be very much in love with her and his family, and when he disappeared all were positive he had been drowned in the North river. The wife wore crepe for several years and never, during her long life of supposed widowhood, had she other than loving words for the recreant husband.

Evidently Planned His Going Away.

Jamison, the testator, was employed in his younger days by the Pennsylvania railroad in Jersey City. He went to and from his work in a skiff, and when he kissed his wife and three children goodby one morning and failed to return that night, it was thought he was lost. No trace of the skiff was ever found and he evidently made way with it, so that the theory of drowning would be used. Jamison and Rachel Kenon were married in Ireland about 45 years ago, and the son will produce the record, if he can, to substantiate his claim to the property.

"There is no doubt, however, of his identity," said Mr. Walker yesterday. "I went to New York, visited his lawyer, J. B. Sabine, at 181 Broadway, N. Y., and when ushered into the room picked out young Jamison at once from a number of others, so closely did he resemble his father. In fact, if I did not know James or Jamison was dead, I would have believed he was standing before me. It is the best proof for me, and would convince anybody. However, I hunted up Alexander Ray, mentioned in the will as a brother-in-law, and found that his wife, who was the testator's sister, is dead. Ray knew all the facts. He is over 70 years of age and was astonished when a reporter for The Gazette first told him David Jamison had died in Pittsburgh, leaving this estate to his sons. He said it could not be so, and then told how Jamison had been drowned. He confirmed every other fact as we know it, however, and gave convincing proof that The Gazette had found the right man in Wilson Jamison.

Got His Children Mixed Up.

"When I talked with Wilson Jamison he told me that his father had got the names of the other brothers mixed up. In the will Jamison states he was not sure of two of the baptismal names, those of Wilson and Joseph. The living sons tells me that David John, mentioned first in the will, was the second son; Wilson was the third son, being only a few months old when his father disappeared, and the one the father called Joseph was baptized William, and was the eldest son. Both brothers are dead. William died in 1897 and David John in 1902. The testator's other sister, named in the will as Mrs. William Johnson, is also dead, although her husband is still living and confirms the stories of the rest of the family. Wilson will gather up and forward what proofs he has and will get the estate when it is settled up. He expects to visit Pittsburgh sometime this summer.

"The heir to the estate is a modest and retiring man of 40 years of age. He is married but has no children. He works for a modest salary and says his good fortune will make him assured of an income for the rest of his life. Both he and his wife are very happy over the fact that his father left the money, but are sorry to learn that he lived a double life all these years. Wilson was glad, however, that his mother did not learn the true state of affairs before she died."

W. & J. Seniors Present Play.

WASHINGTON, PA., June 5.—(Special.)—Commencement exercises at the Washington seminary began tonight with the annual class day exercises. Instead of the usual speeches and songs, the seniors presented Jane Austen's "Pride and Prejudice," all members of the class taking part. The commencement exercises proper will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, when the annual address will be made by the Hon. Joseph Buffington of Pittsburgh.

WHAT JOY THEY BRING TO EVERY HOME

as with joyous hearts and smiling faces they romp and play—when in health—and how conducive to health the games in which they indulge, the outdoor life they enjoy, the cleanly, regular habits they should be taught to form and the wholesome diet of which they should partake. How tenderly their health should be preserved, not by constant medication, but by careful avoidance of every medicine of an injurious or objectionable nature, and if at any time a remedial agent is required, to assist nature, only those of known excellence should be used; remedies which are pure and wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, like the pleasant laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. Syrup of Figs has come into general favor in many millions of well informed families, whose estimate of its quality and excellence is based upon personal knowledge and use.

Syrup of Figs has also met with the approval of physicians generally, because they know it is wholesome, simple and gentle in its action. We inform all reputable physicians as to the medicinal principles of Syrup of Figs, obtained, by an original method, from certain plants known to them to act most beneficially and presented in an agreeable syrup in which the wholesome Californian blue figs are used to promote the pleasant taste; therefore it is not a secret remedy and hence we are free to refer to all well informed physicians, who do not approve of patent medicines and never favor indiscriminate self-medication.

Please to remember and teach your children also that the genuine Syrup of Figs always has the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package and that it is for sale in bottles of one size only. If any dealer offers any other than the regular Fifty cent size, or having printed thereon the name of any other company, do not accept it. If you fail to get the genuine you will not get its beneficial effects. Every family should always have a bottle on hand, as it is equally beneficial for the parents and the children, whenever a laxative remedy is required.

Looks as If McBride's Gusher Has Drained the Butler Pool

Later reports from the Butler pool are not so encouraging as was hoped for. When the Phillips Oil and Gas Company's well on the Warrickman farm was drilled last Saturday it started to flow at the rate of 14 barrels an hour and was expected to improve when drilled deeper. Saturday evening it was drilled through the sand and showed no improvement, but on the other hand declined rapidly and last night was down to two barrels an hour and by yesterday morning had stopped flowing. It was stated the owners would give it a shot but if they did it was at a late hour and the result was not learned. Unless it improves wonderfully after given a dose of the high explosive the well shows one of two things, that the producing formation does not extend to the southwest for any considerable distance or that the Southern Oil company's gusher on the Waldron farm has drained the production.

The Rider & O'Brien test on the Hartung farm, 500 feet south of the gusher, is expected to get the sand on Monday time, and the Southern Oil company's test on the Waldron farm will be drilled in this morning. Both are important tests and will have an important bearing on the probable dimensions of the field. The Southern Company's test is 400 feet northeast of the gusher. Now that more is to be soon known of the prospects for the investors in territory, the inquiries for late information from Butler are as frequent as when the first well came in at gusher speed.

Light wells, with two exceptions, were the results of development work in the lower southwest. West of Mannington, Marion county, the Delmar Oil Company drilled its No. 8 on the J. L. and A. J. Hays farm into the 30-foot sand has a producer that looks good for 200 barrels a day. Near Elizabeth, Ritchie county, C. E. Gerwig has shot his No. 5 on the James McKay farm and it is producing 200 barrels a day. This is a Big Injun producer.

On Fish creek, Wetzel county, Brast & Cheney have drilled their test on the Mary Horan farm through the Gordon and the hole has filled up 450 feet with fluid. Unless a shot does it will make a very light pumper.

Near Sedalia, Doddridge county, the Logo Natural Gas Company has drilled its test wells on the Easter Davis and Mary Ritter farms through the Gordon and has two gassers. In the West Union district, same county, one-half mile southeast of the Smithburg pumping station, the Eastern Carbon Black Company has drilled its test on the Anna S. Jones farm through the Gordon and has a very strong gasser. In the Smithfield district, Wetzel county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 19 on the B. W. Paterson farm 10 feet into the stray and has developed no oil or gas.

In the Wick pool, Meade district, Tyler county, the Carter Oil Company has drilled its Nos. 3 and 4 on the W. G. Snodgrass farm through the Big Injun and has a show for two very light wells. The same company has completed No. 5 on the same farm and has a show for a 50-barrel producer in the Big Injun. In the Yellow creek district, Calhoun county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 8 on the Clark Camden farm through the Berea grit and has a show for a 35-barrel producer. In the same district the Carter Oil Company has drilled its test on the A. T. Fluharty farm through the Berea grit and has a show for a 75-barrel producer. This location is 800 feet northwest of the South Penn company's No. 2 on the Rose L. Norman farm. The South Penn Oil Company's No. 3 on the Rose L. Norman farm and the same company's No. 3 on the Reese Camden farm are holding up at 130 and 135 barrels, respectively.

On the Ohio side, in the Rays Run district, Washington county, the American Drilling Tool Company has completed its No. 3 on the Emily J. Miller farm and has a show for a 10-barrel pumper in the Big Injun sand. In the Hopedale district, Harrison county, the Ohio Standard Oil Company has drilled its test on the M. Crabb farm through the Berea grit and has a duster. In the Marietta district, Washington county, Victor Hammond has completed his No. 3 on the W. Y. Acres farm and has a duster in the Cow Run sand.

With the LaComte & Co. test a duster, west of the Wells Creek development, in Jefferson county, the drilling in of the Freudenberger & Co. test on the George Vaughn farm is awaited with a good deal of interest. The way the three producers on the Blake farm have been holding up has made it look as if a pool might be developed in that locality.

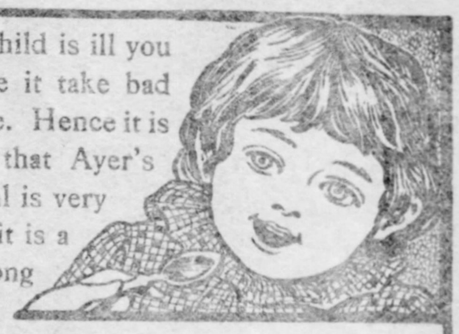
When your child is ill you dislike to make it take bad tasting medicine. Hence it is well to know that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is very pleasant. But it is a medicine, a strong medicine.



Time and time again we have published the formula of this cough medicine in the principal Medical Journals of this country and Europe, and have mailed it to nearly every physician in the United States.

So it follows that when your doctor orders it for coughs, colds, bronchitis, or consumption, he knows precisely what he is giving.

Physicians recommend their families to keep it on hand.

AMALGAMATED SOLD OFF ON THE ANNUAL REPORT

Strong Rally in the U. S. Steel Stocks—Small Net Changes in the Railroads—Local Stocks Very Dull, but Steady.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

Amalgamated Copper was the most prominent stock in the New York market yesterday, and it exerted a dominating influence upon the general list. The stock opened higher at 83½ and advanced to 84⅜ on expectations that the long talked-of annual report would be made public. When the figures were published, traders professed to be disappointed over the showing and began selling the stock. A rapid decline to 82¼ took place, followed by a recovery to 83½ on buying that was credited to insiders, but late in the session weakness again appeared and the price broke to and closed at 81⅜, a net loss for the day of 1½ per cent.

The report given out at the annual meeting of the Amalgamated yesterday was the first ever made public, and for that reason there is no opportunity to make comparisons. The rather meager balance sheet was of April 29 last, and it showed a surplus, after deducting the dividend payable May 29, of $8,942,712. One of the items in the list of assets was a loan of $7,350,000 to the Washoe Copper Company, which is owned by the Amalgamated. The accounts payable amounted to only $21,070. The total surplus reported is equivalent to about 6 per cent on the par value of the capital stock and to about 8 per cent on the market value. Rumor recently estimated the surplus at between 15 and 20 per cent of the total capital, and the official showing was therefore construed as a disappointment. The report, however, contained the statement that exclusive of its copper mines the assets of the company were estimated to be $50,000,000 in excess of all liabilities.

United States Steel stocks were among the strongest in the market, and while the gain did not retain all their gain, they closed ⅜ per cent higher for the common and 1¼ per cent higher for the preferred. The reports from the trade were more favorable than for several weeks past, and these reports were confirmed by local independents, who stated that there had been a very noticeable change in sentiment on the part of consumers within the past few days, probably because the reported dissolution of several pools had not been followed by any demoralization in prices, such as followed similar action nine years ago.

Union Pacific, Reading, Ontario & Western and Chesapeake & Ohio were leaders in the railroad list, and all scored large gains during the early dealings. London quotations were mixed, gains and losses being distributed among the American stocks, but foreigners were considerable buyers of Union Pacific. The same manipulative tactics noticeable in Reading for several days past were continued, but were apparently not convincing so far as attracting the public is concerned. The stock reached 96⅝, but subsequently reacted to 94⅞ and closed at 96, a net loss of ½ per cent. The upward movement in Reading is based upon expectations that the stock will be placed upon a 4 per cent basis, but the market value is already on a parity with preferred stocks like Baltimore & Ohio and Union Pacific, and from an investment standpoint it has already discounted an increase in the dividend rate.

During the afternoon the market became extremely dull and at times trading was stagnant, the sales for the day approximating 550,000 shares. With the 2-cent transfer tax now enacted on sales of stocks, professional traders are disposed to curtail operations in a narrow market.

Despite the shipments of funds to San Francisco, and the probability of additional shipments, call loans remained easy at 2¼ to 2½ per cent, the final loan being at 2½ per cent.

The sales on the Pittsburgh stock exchange were only 1,674 shares. In many of the leading stocks the dealings were so light as to furnish no true criterion of real market values, but the tone of the market was fairly steady. There were no sales of Pittsburgh Coal common, which was nominally quoted at 10 asked. Only 70 shares of the preferred changed hands at 76, unchanged from last week. United States Steel issues were strong in sympathy with the advance in New York, while Crucible common was a shade lower at 9⅞ and the preferred a fraction higher at 61½. Westinghouse Airbrake was firmer, selling at 144, and Electric closed a fraction higher. Pittsburgh Plate Glass sold at 120, a decline of 1½ per cent, and closed at 120 bid, 120½ asked. The remainder of the list was entirely featureless. There were no transactions in bonds and prices were unchanged.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

If the attendance in local brokers' offices is taken as a criterion, public interest in the New York stock market is at a low ebb, and this is the report that comes from Wall street, where it is said the bulk of the dealings is by professional traders. The latter are as a rule bearish, and it is probable that the short interest outstanding is large. Yesterday's buying of Union Pacific was credited largely to London and to Kuhn, Loeb & Co., brokers, and in United States Steel the buying was by brokers who often act for J. P. Morgan & Co. Local comment on the steel trade is more cheerful than for some days past. One independent steel man said the inquiries were again very encouraging. The greatest interest just now, however, concerns the crops, and for the next few weeks news from the agricultural belt will receive more attention than news from the Equitable Life or Japan. The government report for June will be due next Saturday. It will estimate the average condition of winter wheat and the acreage of spring wheat and corn. The wheat market yesterday sold off on reports of improvement of the crop and the preparations being made for harvesting, which has already begin in Southern Tennessee and will soon be under way in Oklahoma and Southeastern Kansas.

The taking up of the advance by the United States Steel stocks was regarded as of good augury for the whole market, as the persistent heaviness of these stocks has been a drag on the occasional tendencies to rally during the last few days. There were rumors of favorable earnings making for the current quarter in connection with the advance.

The subsidence of the violent storm in the Equitable Life controversy was a relief to sentiment, although that subject continued to be actively discussed in the financial world and to be regarded as fraught with possibilities of further harm.

Railroad traffic officials spoke in a cheerful tone of business prospects, the volume of offerings being held well above last year's level. A free movement of grain contributed to this result, which was stimulated by the closing up of May deals and was not expected to be fully maintained. Weather reports showed favorable conditions for the various crops. This tended to beget hopeful than has recently prevailed and contributed materially to the firmness of stocks.

Investments in stocks	$154,281,308
Office furniture	2,500
Loan to Washoe Copper Company for smelter construction	7,350,000
Cash and cash assets	2,756,756
Total	$164,390,562
Liabilities—
Capital	$155,887,900
Accounts payable	21,071
Surplus	10,481,591
Total	$168,390,562

The dividend payable May 29, amounting to $1,350,870, the equivalent of 1 per cent, leaving a net surplus of $8,942,712. The statement contains the following: "At the present time the status of the company and the position of the metal market are more satisfactory than at any other time since the early part of 1901. Exclusive of the copper mines, the assets of the company consisting of timber lands, coal mines, reduction works, sawmills, railways, real estate, buildings, copper and cash exceed, in the opinion of experts in whom the officers have entire confidence, $50,000,000 over all liabilities of the company."

The late decline in Amalgamated Copper was helped along by a report from Boston that Lawson was engaged in an analysis of the annual report and would give Europe and the United States the benefit of his efforts a little later in the week.

The Philadelphia News Bureau says: Coal dealers think they notice unusual efforts at economy on the part of coal consumers. In this vicinity a number of large users of coal are making changes in grates in order to use buckwheat coal instead of pea, and other consumers have made arrangements to use bituminous or anthracite coal, whichever is at the moment the cheapest. At this time bituminous coal can be bought very low, and some manufacturers who generally use anthracite have changed their fuel. These conditions," a leading coal operator said, "are signs of the times, and I do think they will influence the coal market greatly in the long run."

The St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad Company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1 per cent on its first preferred stock, payable July 1.

The Greene Consolidated Copper Company has declared a dividend of 4 per cent, payable June 20.

Ontario & Western was again in large request, and rumors were revived of the guarantee of a dividend by New York Central and New York, New Haven & Hartford.

The April gross earnings of the Pennsylvania lines east of Pittsburgh exceeded those of any previous month in its history, with the exception of July, 1903. They fell short of the latter month by only $14,823, so that making allowance for the one day less in April, the month just reported shows average daily earnings greater than anything heretofore reported by the system. The gross earnings of the lines lines have exceeded $10,000,000 only five times the months preceding April of this year, when such a level was reached being April, June, July and August, 1903.

The gross earnings of Brooklyn Rapid Transit gained more than $140,000 in May. The gross earnings for Decoration day were unprecedented in the history of the company, being above $71,000. The Sunday preceding Decoration day, May 27, was one of the largest in the history of the company, gross receipts amounting to $62,000.

Gross earnings of Louisville & Nashville for the last week in May increased $190,953, and for the month increased $252,108.

Gross earnings of Missouri, Kansas & Texas for May increased $335,878.

The money market retained its unruffled surface, notwithstanding the weakness of the Saturday bank statement and some further large money transactions, including a transfer through the sub-treasury of $2,000,000 to San Francisco.

The decline in United Gas Improvement to 96 in the Philadelphia market established the total loss of $35 a share from the recent high level. It is current gossip that a number of Pittsburgh politicians have been caught in the slump in this stock.

FINANCIAL AND TRADE NOTES.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—National bank notes received today for redemption, $1,666,000; government receipts from internal revenue, $1,180,565; customs, $1,125,78; miscellaneous, $246,825; expenditures, $1,230,909.

NEW YORK, June 5.—(Special.)—Manufacturers who have been considering sales of Tennessee to the United States Steel Corporation this month will be factored to Cincinnati. The corporation has notified the independent pig iron producers that it will require no iron this month. When the Steel Corporation ordered no iron from independent sources last month it was surprised that it would take a fair quantity in June.

OMEOPATHIC BUYS MORE LAND

ets Part of King Frontage in Adjoining Hospital Site for $36,000.

TWO LWRENCEVILLE DEALS

The Homeopathic Hospital association has added to its holdings in the Twentieth ward by the purchase of another section of the W. King frontage lying along the north side of the Pennsylvania railroad. The consideration is $36,000 and the deal will be finally closed July 1. This is the third purchase the hospital authorities have made, the total amount invested in property there being $106,000. The last lot, which was bought through James B. Lawler of the East End Savings and Trust Company, has a frontage of 154 feet to the Schmidt property, which the hospital board bought first. It adjoins 130x177 feet, also a part of the King property, which was bought a few weeks ago for $80,000. This lot contains 1.75 acres and is vacant. The J. Schmidt lot, for which $106,000 was paid, contains 3.94 acres, so that the whole site now includes over 5.5 acres. The King property forms a wide L to the Schmidt lot and makes the site regular in shape. It is stated positively the authorities now have all the property they want for a site and will consider no more propositions in this quarter. It is expected that definite plans for the building will be announced soon. The old hospital on Fifth avenue is not likely to be disposed of for some time.

Hotel Sold for $35,000

Through the Real Estate Trust Company the Hotel Loehig in Penn avenue, Ninth ward, has been sold for $35,000, the buyer being a leading Pittsburgh attorney. The property belonged to the estate of Philip Blattau and is at Nos. 1210-1212. The lot measures 25x100 feet and has erected on it a three-story brick hotel containing 20 rooms, a bar and restaurant. The property rents for $2,500 a year, and was bought for investment.

The 20 houses of G. P. McCandless in Lawrenceville have been sold for $35,000, the reputed buyers being Frank & Sanes. Twelve of the dwellings stand on 187 feet frontage, facing in Home street, between Plummer and Mattilda streets. Eleven occupy 137 feet at the other end of a 100-foot lot, and face on Forty-seventh street. The houses are five and six-room brick dwellings and rent for from $15 to $18 a month each.

Harry Davis is the reputed buyer of the O. M. Edwards property at Fourth avenue and Ross street, and the Murphy holdings in Fourth avenue adjoining, which were sold recently through the Samuel W. Black Company.

No Longer a Dairy Farm.

Joseph Link, who has been tenant on the old Schenley farm in Oakland for over 18 years, is vacating the premises in order that the Schenley Farms Company may have full sway in their operations there. For many years there has been a dairy of from 20 to 40 cows on the farm, and it has been pointed out to all sightseers as an anomaly in the heart of Pittsburgh. The present owners are now having a deep sewer trench dug for the street that is to run up from Fifth avenues between the First United Presbyterian church and Grant boulevard to Bigelow street. This sewer, like all those on the plan, will be placed under the sidewalks so that the pavements will never have to be torn up in case of repairs.

The Aspinwall-Delafield Company has decided to build two more $4,000 brick houses, one in Third street extension and one in Virginia avenue, making five that they have arranged for work is now progressing rapidly on the main sewer, which is 2,560 feet long, 17 feet deep and four feet wide. This sewer had to be dug extra deep to carry it under the line of the Allegheny water main. The lateral sewers will be placed between the sidewalks and the lot lines so as to obviate tearing up the pavements.

The residents of the Twenty-second and Twenty-third wards are trying with poor success to get Salide avenue paved from Monitor street to Beechwood boulevard. The distance is about 2,500 feet and the frontage alongside the street is valued at about $40 a foot. Thus far very few names have been signed to the petition which asks for an improvement that would greatly benefit a lot of good residence sites.

Work has been started on the Flinn macadamized road which will lead from Coraopolis five miles out to Moon postoffice. The contract has also been awarded for the new Flinn road to run from Stoops Ferry to Moon postoffice and connect with the Flinn road.

Faris & Co., who have now located at 301-302 Carl building, Wilkinsburg, have bought out the business, lease and fixtures of Harrison & Martin, who in turn were successors of the Wilkinsburg Realty Company, and will move about June 15 to the quarters of the latter at 725 Wood street. The firm sells a five-year lease on the building, which is one of the best real estate offices in the entire East End district. The firm of Faris & Co. was organized in the fall of 1900, and has been identified with some of the largest deals made in Wilkinsburg. It has the exclusive handling of the Swissheler allotment and has a large rent list, including the Carl office building. Robert S. Faris is head of the firm and Thomas W. Irwin is associated with him as a salesman. Two more salesmen will be added to the force soon.

Architects George S. Orth & Brothers have awarded the contract to the Henry Shenk Company for the foundation work on the 10-story fireproof office building which the Pittsburgh Coal Company will erect in Fifth avenue adjoining its present office home.

Architect Charles Bickel is getting preliminary estimates on the four-story brick office building which the Pittsburgh Terminal Warehouse and Transfer Company will erect in Carson street, between Third and Fourth streets. The steel work on the group of 38 warehouses to which this building will form an entrance, is nearly completed.

Architects Nindlinger & Simpson have awarded the contract to John Siebert Sons & Co. for a four-story brick and stone apartment house at Forbes and Craig streets for the M. S. Moreland estate.

Braddock Sale of $36,640.

Michael Andolina yesterday bought from the Schlerth heirs the property at 724-726 Braddock avenue, Braddock, for $36,640, or $916 a front foot. The lot is 40x150 feet, adjoining other property of the buyers, and the improved with two frame stores. These will be replaced this year with a three-story brick business block to cost $20,000. The deal is significant as it is generally regarded as a bargain at the price paid, for the Braddock National bank paid $1,200 a foot for property not a square away, and other lots near by are held at $1,000 a front foot.

A. Leo Wiles proves to be the buyer of the Fred W. McKee lot, 61x130 feet, at South Highland avenue and Howe street, which was sold a short time ago to George Brothers for $13,000.

Miles Rosenthal sold to Louis Goldsoll an improved lot 40x80 feet, in Elsinore square, near Craft avenue, Fourteenth ward, for $12,000. There are two eight-room brick houses on the lot.

Brownsville avenue: James A. Griffith sold for John Nickel to Elizabeth Schulte a nine-room frame house on 48x49 feet, in Brownsville avenue, Thirty-first ward, for $4,000.

Trafford City: The East Pittsburgh Improvement Company has sold these lots in its plan at Trafford City: No. 527, block 15, to J. Powers for $1,200; No. 805, block 17, to R. and L. Pope, for $300; No. 614, block 17, to J. W. Perrine for $550; Nos. 741, 743 and 745, block 20, to H. Reller for $1,500; No. 701, block 20, to M. Kenderes for $500; No. 511, block 3, with a frame house, to T. E. Murphy for $2,000.

Forbes street: Joseph S. Maxwell and the Thomas Maxwell estate sold to A. A. Fraunheim an improved lot 20.5x181 feet, on the south side of Forbes street, near Chestnut street, Sixth ward, for $8,000.

Colwell street: Sophie Schuster sold to Charles F. Smith an improved lot 20x90 feet, on the south side of Colwell street, Eleventh ward, for $4,500.

THE MONEY MARKET.

The local money market remains steady at 5@6 per cent on call and time loans. Clearing house comparisons:

	Exchanges.	Balances

Foreign Money Markets.

LONDON, June 5.—Money was plentiful in the market today and in fair demand for various calls, though there was less pressure than expected. Discounts were easy. Trading on the stock exchange was dull and uninteresting. There was just sufficient business to maintain values. Government bonds were easier. American issues opened steady and eased a fraction to under parity on New York selling. Several specialties hardened later. Local business was restricted by the uncertain position of Wall street. Foreigners had a better tone in sympathy with Paris. Japanese were a shade easier on profit taking. Imperial Japanese government 6s of 1904 were quoted at 100¾. Consols for money, 90⅞; consols for account, 90 7-16. Bar silver uncertain, 26 13-16d an ounce. Money, 1@1½ per cent. The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 2 11-16 per cent. The rate of discount in the open market for three months' bills is 2 1-16 per cent.

PARIS, June 5.—Prices on the bourse today were firm, owing to rumors of the intervention of President Roosevelt in favor of peace in the far east. Russian imperial 4s were quoted at 87.75 and Russian bonds of 1904 at 500. Three per cent rentes 99 francs 80 centimes for the account. Exchange on London, 25 francs 19 centimes for checks.

BERLIN, June 5.—Trading on the bourse today was inactive. Exchange on London, 20 marks 49½ pfgs, for checks. Discount rates—short bills, 2 per cent; three months' bills, 2¼ per cent.

Banks and the Treasury.

NEW YORK, June 5.—(Special.)—In redemption of checks drawn by depositors of gold at the San Francisco assay office, today's official records show that the sub-treasury paid out Saturday $7,418, against $7,010 the same period a week ago. Total payment by government to New York banks for the day, $2,928,000. Payment by banks to government, $3,841,000. Balance on the day's transactions, $613,000 paid by banks to government. Total net payment by government to banks since Friday, $202,000 ,against $428,000 paid by banks to government for the corresponding period a week ago, and $110,000 paid by government to banks a year ago.

Condition of the Treasury.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Today's statement of the treasury balances in the general fund, exclusive of the $150,000,000 gold reserve in the division of redemption, show available cash balances of $152,520,160, against $88,632,410; gold coin and bullion, $28,447,242; United States notes, $14,785,883; treasury notes of 1890, $34,576; national bank notes, $14,590,670; total receipts this day, $2,652,998; total receipts this month, $8,111,572; total receipts this year, $508,854,654; total expenditures this day, $2,820,000; total expenditures this month, $6,180,000; total expenditures this year, $538,802,762; deposits in national banks, $81,745,284.

FLOUR PRICE BEING SHADED FIVE CENTS

Market Is a Trifle Duller—Figures on Green Goods Remain Stationary.

Market lines were somewhat dull yesterday and there were few changes in quotations. Flour had weakened since Saturday and yesterday morning present quotations were shaded by some dealers 5c. Sugar showed no further tendency toward a drop. The drop of 10 points last Saturday was purely a local one and was not occasioned by the eastern quotations.

In the green goods, fruit and produce lines there is practically nothing new. Mexican cantaloupes arrived in the market yesterday and $5 00 a crate is being asked for them. The southern product is still selling at a dollar or two less. Watermelons have become cheap enough for everybody to buy, being down to $5 and 40c each.

Tomatoes are holding up firmly, chiefly due to the cooler weather which has been experienced here, and which has prevented anything but the Florida product getting into the market. Peaches are getting a little cheaper, but there is no heavy demand for them.

Butter suffered a cut of another half cent on the pound yesterday, which was not expected by local dealers, as the butter situation has been somewhat lax for the past week. Cheese is also weak and the several cuts which have taken place in that article may not be the last.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts yesterday were: Pennsylvania, 19 cars oats, 11 cars corn, 42 cars hay, 3 cars straw, 3 cars feed. Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 12 cars hay, 2 cars oats, 1 car corn. Baltimore & Ohio, 4 cars hay, 3 cars oats, 2 cars corn, 1 car feed.

The fact that the receipts of yesterday were for two days offset their heaviness and there was no surplus thrown on the market. Conditions are fairly good, but the local market is waiting a decided movement in the western field before much will be done here.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

A Bisbee letter says: The lower level of the Junction has been flooded. The mining captain and several subordinates have been dropped from the payroll and new men put in charge. The water came up 70 feet, which brought it to almost the precise level of the water in the Briggs shaft, 3,000 feet away.

Sinking continues at both Briggs and Bisbee shafts of the Pittsburgh and the fact that men are able to remain at work in the former is a most favorable indication. It is feared that the water will be forced out again as soon as they had gone down a few feet.

Reports of disaster at the United Verde at Jerome are grossly exaggerated. The damage has been partly remedied and mining is being resumed. There is danger, though, that this is but a premonition of what may come later. Many carloads of structural steel for the Copper Queen smelter and converters have arrived. Twelve immense steel piers for the extension have been erected, and the stanchions and roof trusses swung into place. In all 25 piers will be built, making the extension 250 feet long and 100 feet wide. The addition for engine and boiler house are completed.

All machinery for the proposed 500-ton smelter at Val Verde, Texas, recently, has been ordered, and machinery is to be shipped this month. It is proposed to have the plant ready in about two months, when the works will be taking ores from surrounding properties.

There are now 2,700 men on the Copper Queen payrolls at Bisbee and Douglas, all of them whites, and none of them drawing less than $2 50 a day, the aggregate daily wage being about $12,000.

All deals are off for the reopening of the old Stegina property on the top of the hill above the town. The company has abandoned all efforts to make a new deal. Mr. Higgins has gone back to Los Angeles, and says that nothing will be done for some time, and that those of you who have not had an opportunity to take up the prospect again. This company paid him $160,000 bonus before it started work.

The concessions given the American Smelting and Refining Company by the state of Chihuahua has been ripped. The state gives the company any advantage other concessionaire can have, and gives it freedom from taxation for 10 years, if they will build in it a smelter of a minimum capacity of 300 tons a day, to cost not less than $200,000 Mexican currency, and to have it done in five years.

A meeting of the Chihuahua Development Company is to be held shortly to double the capital stock from 20,000 shares of $10 each to 40,000, and to call for payment of the new stock in installments as needed. This is to continue developments underground. The company has one shaft down 475 feet, and it has been in copper and mineralized ground for some time. It has a second shaft 1,000 feet east, that is down nearly 400 feet and which has cut a very high grade copper. It has a tunnel 750 feet long at the level of the collar of the main shaft, and which was in time and ten formation most of its length. The two shafts are to be connected at about the 500-foot level.

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, June 5.—The London tin market has quite a little higher, closing at £136 15s for spot and £138 10s for futures. Locally the general situation is unchanged, dealers being right where holders are fairly steady in their views. Spot was quoted at $32.75@33c. Copper has not made a change, closing at 12½ to 12¾ for spot and 12½ to 12⅝ for future. Locally the market is unchanged with lake and electrolytic quoted at $13 and casting at $12 75. Lead was unchanged at $4.50@4.60 in the local market, but raised in the general improvement abroad. London closing at £12 12s 6d. Spelter was unchanged at £22 12s in London, and unimproved here at $5.20@5.25 in the local market. Iron is dull at 40s 11d in Glasgow and at 41s 6d in Middlesboro. Locally iron is said to be somewhat unsettled, with reports at slightly lower prices for southern, grades. No. 1 foundry northern is quoted at $16 75@17 00; No. 2 foundry northern at $16 25@16 75; No. 1 foundry southern, soft at $17 00@17 25; No. 2 foundry southern at $16 25@16 75.

BOSTON, June 5.—A very strong and irregular market for the first hour or so this morning, then calmness with a tendency to ease was the story of the market today. Amalgamated Copper issued the statement that had been looked for, but it appears that the market had fully discounted it and the stock closed at 81¾, ¼ above the low. Boston & Montana Mining, a regular dividend of $1, payable July 1. There was no market movement in any of the Boston stocks and things closed quiet with very little stock offered.

World Famed Pittsburgh Pickling and Preserving Products

Pittsburgh has in recent years become the recognized market of the world for pickling and preserving products. More of these goods are shipped out of Pittsburgh than any other city of the globe. The demand is enormous, and exceeds the production. This would not be true if the highest standard and best methods were not maintained.

In this business the Frank Vogel Company has been a prominent factor during its existence of almost 10 years.

The Pittsburgh Pickling and Preserving Company has taken over the Frank Vogel Company, the first chartered pickling and preserving company in the State of Pennsylvania. The new company will continue the business on a much larger scale, making many additions to the present plant and farms.

The company owns its property in Allegheny, which is valued at $160,000, in addition to extensive holdings in the State of Michigan where the soil is peculiarly adapted to the successful growth of vegetables. The soil of Michigan has been found to be the richest in the entire country for this purpose and the best products come from this territory.

For the past 10 years, or since the opening of the plants, the Company has never been able to meet the demand for its products, and is constantly running at least a week behind in filling orders.

Now, for a little insight into the profits of last year. The old company did a business last year aggregating $93,000, making a net profit of $18,000, or 20 per cent, on the business. If the business this year would not increase $1 over last year's, a good profit would be assured.

The cash capital invested is more than secured by the value of the property in Allegheny.

This is an opportunity that will come but once. It has never been made before and would not be at the present time, but the board of directors decided to adopt this plan of disposing of a small amount of the stock to enable them to make extensive enlargements—construct a mustard mill and secure more property in Michigan.

For a short time only a limited amount of the stock will be sold at $10 par value—full paid and non-assessable.

Subscriptions may be made as a whole or installments. This offer will be withdrawn shortly, as the first allotment was oversubscribed within a very short time after the offer became known.

This is positively the most legitimate proposition ever offered and will bear the most critical examination.

The factory is open daily for personal inspection, when you can investigate for yourself the earning power of capital invested in this business.

WEIKENING FACTORS AFFECTED THE MARKET

Chief Among Them Were Good Prospects for Fall-Sown Wheat.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, June 5.—Excellent maturing weather for fall sown wheat had a weakening effect on wheat today. Another bearish influence was a liberal increase in world's shipments. The market closed at almost the lowest point of the day, with July off 1@1¼c. July corn is up ¼c. Oats show a gain of ⅜c. Provisions are up 5@12½c.

Weakness in the wheat market was in evidence at the start, initial quotations on July being off ⅛@¼c to ⅜c at 87¼@88 to 88¼c. One cause for the opening decline was the bearish tenor of weekly statistics. The fact that world's shipments of wheat during last week were extremely liberal had an important influence, but the figures showing the total movement were apparently of less interest to traders in general than the figures giving the amount exported from Russia. According to the official statistics shipments of wheat from that country during the past week were double the total of the previous week. Furthermore, conditions in the United States were apparently regarded as increasingly favorable to an abundant harvest. Weather in the southwest was dry, and temperatures were much higher. Soon the start commission houses and shorts were free sellers. As trading progressed selling became more general. With almost nothing from the country but bearish news concerning the crop, weakness became more pronounced. One report from Kansas City stated that harvesting began today in some sections of Southern K

RAKES THE CLUBS OVER THE COALS

Time-Worn Excuse That They Are Chartered Does Not Go With the Court.

KUNDRACH MURDER CASE UP

All the judges of court of common pleas No. 2 were engaged in criminal court yesterday, three rooms being devoted to the business of quarter sessions, Judge Kennedy made it interesting for a number of constables, it being return day for the June sessions. John S. Robb, Sr., appeared for the commonwealth in place of his son, John S. Robb, Jr., who is sick. After the customary charge to the grand jury, of which Theodore Ihrig, a druggist, was made foreman, Judge Kennedy listened to the usual stories of the constables. Judge McClung held court in one of the No. 2 rooms, and Judge Evans went into the smaller criminal court room.

Judge Kennedy showed scant patience with the continual excuse for the so-called "chartered clubs" made by different constables. Finally he said: "This club business will have to be stopped. Constables must watch these clubs. There is not one of them that does not violate the law."

The most interesting hearing was that of Constable D. T. McGeary of the Second ward, Homestead. He did not answer when called in the morning, but was present in the afternoon. Attorney John F. Cox, who lives in that ward, had been waiting all day for this hearing, and did most of the examining. McGeary was asked about the Belvedere club and promptly answered that it was chartered. Mr. Cox asked if he did not know that it had a bar as long as the court room and sold liquor to the amount of $200 or $300 each Sunday. McGeary admitted it had a bar, but repeated that it was chartered. Asked about a number of speakeasies the constable said the police had raided them. Judge Kennedy promptly told him that did not end the responsibility, and that such places should be returned. He also told him, that if it were true that the Belvedere club had such a long bar and took in so much money it was not selling to members only, and that it was evident that McGeary did not know anything about the conditions in his ward. He was ordered to go back, investigate and make another report.

Ordered to Report Wholesalers.

Constable John W. White of Jefferson township reported that wholesalers of McKeesport and Duquesne were selling in his district on credit, and the court told him to return both dealers and agents. The constable of Rankin reported the St. Mary's Croatian Society as selling liquor and was sent back to investigate reports of liquor selling by Robert Scales and F. M. Hollander and the keeping of a gambling house by Sandy Wolf. The constable of the First ward, Duquesne, when asked about the Turners said the president had told him they had a charter. Judge Kennedy told him that would not do; that he must see the charter, and he handed him back his return. Constable Arthur Bennett of the Third ward, East Pittsburgh, was ordered to report on the Mutual Benefit association, the Millionaire's club and the East Pittsburgh Maennerchor.

The Hays borough constable was talked to very plainly. He said he had not heard of any violations of the law, and Judge Kennedy told him he should have his hearing improved. There was too much noise in that borough, the court said, and if not suitable was sent back to try and learn something.

The Allegheny constables had little trouble. Constable Joseph Harper of the Sixth ward was ordered to investigate the Musical club, the Washington club and the house of John Kelly, which was said to have a bar in the cellar. He said he had been in Kelly's house on the last three Sundays and found nothing wrong; he was told that any offense in the last two years should be returned.

The constable of the Eighth ward, Pittsburg, returned the Washington club on Fulton street for selling liquor and keeping a gambling house. The Twenty-seventh ward constable returned three clubs in his ward, but they are chartered. One is a camping club, and Judge Kennedy wanted to know when it camped. The constable was ordered to investigate. The Twenty-fourth ward man was told to investigate the Knights of St. George club. Several constables will make their returns later.

Kundrach on Trial for Murder.

John Kundrach, the young Hungarian who is charged with shooting to death his boarding boss, "Jim" Popp, in the yard of the latter's home in Vespucious street, Glenwood, last Christmas night, was placed on trial before Judge McClung on a charge of murder. The killing, it is claimed, arose from a fight between Popp and another man, a friend of Kundrach, and the latter, it is said, had told Popp that anyone who struck his friend invited death. Popp resented Kundrach's interference and the men started to fight. Popp was shot through the breast and Kundrach was stabbed in the abdomen. Frank Popp and John Kundrach also were cut. Popp died on his way to a hospital in the patrol wagon. The defendant is represented by Attorney T. Mercer Morton.

The presenting of evidence against the prisoner took up the entire day, and the prosecution had not rested when adjournment was taken. Most of the evidence had to be taken through an interpreter and was very conflicting. The principal witness against Kundrach was Mrs. Mary Popp, widow of the dead man, who was standing near her husband when he was shot. She cried almost continually while giving her testimony.

The Safe Deposit and Trust Company was appointed receiver for the J. M. Rumbaugh Brick Company. A petition was presented by J. M. Rumbaugh, president, and J. S. Rumbaugh, secretary, who set forth that the company owns land in Westmoreland county, consisting of 35 acres, and a patent for making brick, and a similar plant at Pitcairn, with eight acres, and one at Irwin, with 10 acres. The petition shows that the company is $100,000 in debt, $75,000 of which is secured by mortgages on the real estate, which are liable to be foreclosed. It is asserted that the concern is in good condition, if it is given time in which to straighten up its obligations, but that judgments of $25,000 have been entered against it. Plants destroying the plants is said to be responsible for the present conditions.

Segall and His Bank Account.

Before Judge Evans, Abraham Segall was placed on trial on a charge of false pretense. Segall was charged with securing $570 from the Washington National bank, which had been credited to his account by one of the bank clerks by mistake. Segall had a small account in the bank and went in to draw the money out. He asked the clerk what the balance was and was told it was $570. Segall lost no time in drawing the money and went to New York. He returned later to visit his wife and was arrested.

Harry H. Katz entered a plea of guilty to a charge of intoxicating liquor. He was charged with a more serious offense, but agreed to plead to the lesser charge when the case was called for trial. Katz was charged with having criminal relations with Emma Sachs, a 12-year-old Hebrew girl. The case was prosecuted by Isaac Sachs of New York, father of the girl, and the Humane society officials. Katz will be sentenced today.

The Steel Car Forge Company filed suit in the United States circuit court against the Pressed Steel Car Company, asking $50,000 for an alleged breach of contract. It is alleged a 10-year contract existed by which the defendant was to buy all the steel and iron castings used from the plaintiff, but that after two years the defendant purchased elsewhere.

Charging alienation of his wife's affections, Charles H. Imber of Franklin street entered suit against J. Frank McCoy, an insurance agent, asking for $10,000 damages. He alleges that while away at night attending to his duties as watchman, McCoy visited his wife at their home, even after he had found him there and had thrown him out of the house and warned him to stay away.

John W. Neff brings suit against O. A. Bortner asking $5,000 damages. He alleges he was managing a bowling alley at 318 Fifth avenue for Bortner, after he had got into a dispute with S. A. Carr as to the ownership, and that Bortner, in spite of an agreement, had offered the place for sale and made the assertion that it was badly managed.

Ingram Councilman Wants Damages.

M. J. McMahon, a councilman of Ingram, has filed suit for damages against Paul S. Whitman and Charles E. Lunt asking $5,000 from each for alleged defamation of character. It is alleged that the defendants caused to be published in the Ingram Bulletin and Chartiers Valley Mirror articles which stated he was attempting by urging the passage of an ordinance for the widening of Stanley street, to improve his own property at public expense.

The report of the commissioners in the divorce suit of William Zeigler against Anna Zeigler has been filed. Zeigler, who lives in McKeesport, alleged infidelity and claims that his wife left him and has since been living in houses of ill-fame.

An application was made for a charter for the Italian Beneficial union. The signers are prominent Italian residents who seek to organize to pay sick and death benefits to their countrymen. Attorney Fred W. Scott is the solicitor.

A bill in equity was filed by A. J. Pentecost against Elizabeth B. Caelner, Oliver Springer, Andrew Jackson and John Minor Davis. The action is for the partition of several pieces of property in the Nineteenth ward.

Common pleas court No. 1 adjourned until Wednesday morning on account of the death of the wife of President Judge F. H. Collier. On Wednesday the court will take up the equity and general argument lists.

Dr. John B. Clifford of McKeesport filed a petition in bankruptcy. His liabilities are $1,254.18 and his assets $454.75. A petition was also filed by Winfield Scott Riblet, a coal dealer, who has liabilities of $1,647.07, with no assets.

Presentments issued: Samuel P. Tenby vs. Augustus Trimm, $793.45; John G. Trimble et al. vs. Massmutts Bossetti, $1,350.56; J. A. Wakefield, trustee, vs. W. C. Wells, $3,574.84.

Emmett Shanley filed suit for $5,000 damages against Andy Hart, alleging that the defendant beat him at Federal, Pa., injuring one eye so that he has lost the use of it.

Grand Jury Returns.

ATTENDANCE IS GOOD.

Larger Gatherings Are the Rule at Weekly Ministerial Meetings.

Ministerial association weekly meetings were more largely attended yesterday than for several weeks, owing to the adjournment of the conventions of the various denominational governing bodies.

The Presbyterian clergy were addressed by the Rev. Leroy Warren on "St. Francis of Assisi." The Rev. Dr. T. N. Boyle addressed a large gathering at the Methodist Episcopal meeting on his recent travels through the Holy Land. United Presbyterian ministers held a general discussion on the recent meeting of the general assembly, while Lutheran pastors discussed plans for the coming convention of the general synod of the church, which convenes next week in Bethany church, East End.
